WORLD'S FAIR AT ARMORY

Great World's Exposition In Miniature That Will Be of Artistic Beauty.

Mid walls of splendor, in one short week, the world's exposition in miniature will open at the Armory.

It is unique and unparalleled in the way of local entertainment. Incidentally it is presented by the National Guardsmen with great enterprise and great expense.

Few can comprehend the true merit of artistic beauty of the exposition without having talked with one of the enthusiastic Guardsmen, or without having seen some of the miniature models, buildings or exhibits.

The preliminary arrangements for this exposition have required nine months of hard work, and an expenditure of $3000 will be represented when Governor Van Sant opens the doors to the public on the evening of March 31.

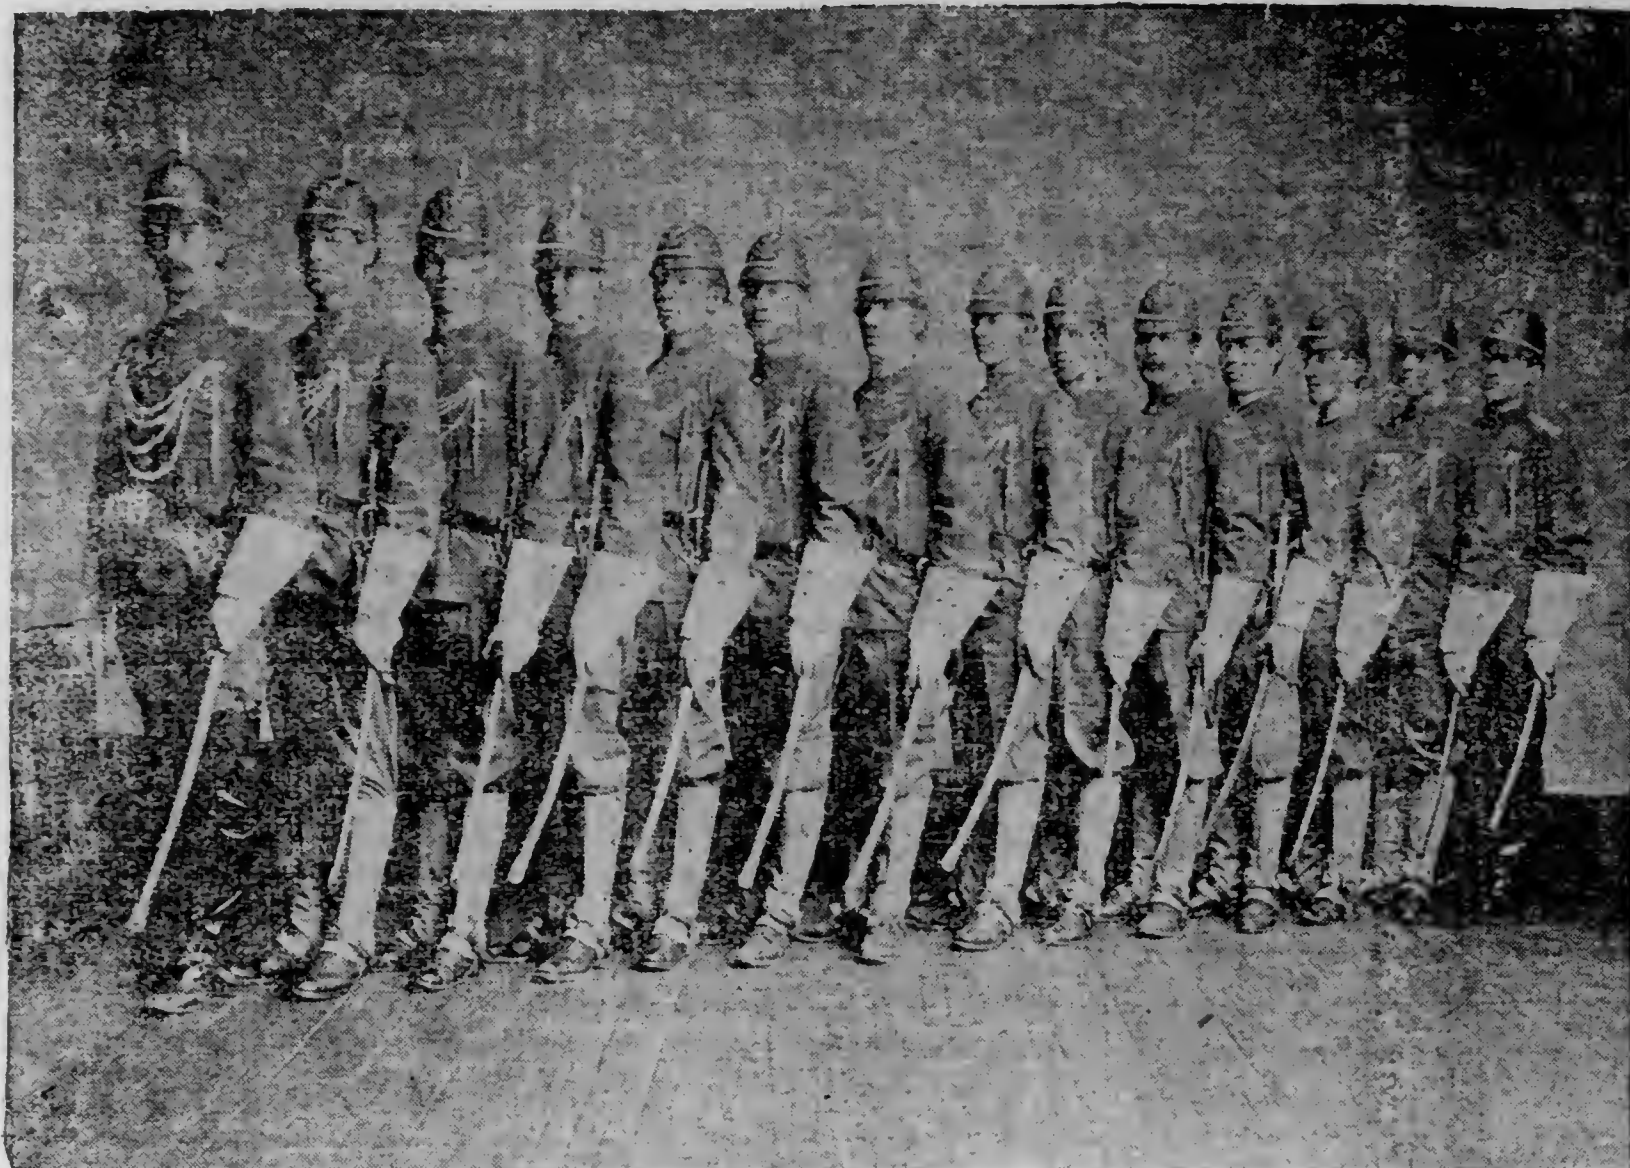

The exposition grounds, shown in the accompanying picture, are uniformed in red and white and present a remarkably striking, military appearance.

The theatrical troupes represented here are amateur performers who will entertain in the theater temporarily rigged up at great expense in the Armory left a part of the building to which the general public has never been admitted before.

Although they amateurs, the performance in every instance is of rare merit. There will be a professional vaudeville show every night in the Sheridan theater, which is located on the first floor.

Some of the exhibits of the fine arts building are very fine. Senator Clapp has forwarded very valuable pictures of civil war battles, and a number of Duluth people with art collections will have their finest pictures on exhibition.

The Duluth world's fair differs somewhat from the proposed St. Louis world's fair in that it will be ready for opening at the time originally announced, and also, while the St. Louis people are anxious to have it understood that there will be no Midway, the Duluth people desire it understood that there will be a well regulated Midway, and it is expected to be one of the

LOGGING ON NORTH SHORE

The driving of logs on the streams on the north shore of Lake Superior was until recently considered to be an impossibility. The streams are so full of rapids, and their descent to the lake is so great for the last three miles of the hill that it was believed for a long time that it would cost more to improve the rivers for driving purposes than all the pine timber that could be brought out would bring in the market. But that was when pine was not worth so nearly its weight in gold as it is now. Only the far-seeing ones at that time fully appreciated the coming value of north shore timber. Most lumbermen declared that there never would be any money in logging on the north shore, owing to the expensive methods that must be adopted. This was due to the heavy country and the remoteness of the timber from Duluth, where it must be brought to be sawed and whence supplies must be taken for the camps.

But a sudden change has come about. Logs on the north shore now are worth more than they used to be on the driving streams flowing into Lake Superior from the west and south. This is because the supplies are narrowing down to the territory to the west and north, or northeast of Duluth.

The Alger-Smith people were the first to improve a north shore stream for logging purposes. They blasted out and built dams on Pigeon river, which forms the international boundary. Then William Dolan, an old Chippewa river logger, took a contract for logging and delivering on the shore of Lake Superior the timber brought by the John Schroeder Lumber company from Senator Vilas and Col. John H. Knight.

He had to blast out all the rocks in Cross river, which flows into Lake Superior, below or east of Beaver bay. Then he had to build dams on the river to raise enough water to float the logs over these rapids.

MAIN LOGGING DAM ON CROSS RIVER, NORTH SHORE.

road up the hill along the river would be a pretty big job. So Dolan took things as he found them. He imported dynamite and drills for blasting, but he did not go outside of his forest limits for his timber for the dams. The approaches to the logs from either bank of the stream were formed of small trees piled closely one on top of the other, as cordwood would be piled. The heavy for the dams and gates were ground.

The picture shown herewith is of the main dam on Cross river. It illustrates in its highest stage and all the conveniences that go with it a logger is obliged to go back to this most primitive methods of dam building in order to get his timber out where it can be rafted. When it is known that Mr. Dolan expected to drive 12,000,000 feet of logs down this stream and through this dam this season, it will be realized that it was not because the importance of the undertaking did not require it that more modern ways of dam-building were not employed.

The Merrill & Ring interests also have a dam built at the mouth of Split Rock river, but this is used more largely for a reservoir to which logs may be dumped from their logging road and then sluiced through as rafts are made up. The historically picturesque Brule river will be the next north shore stream to be dammed for driving purposes.

Fables By George Ade

(Copyright, 1902, by R. H. Russell).

A Man and a Woman had three Sons. The first, named Abraham Lincoln Tibbets was born in 1850. His name was promptly abbreviated to Link.

The second, who arrived in 1872, was christened Ulysses Simpson Grant Tibbets. This was too long so people called him Chub.

The third was of the Vintage of 1893 and his name went into the Register as Chester A. Arthur Tibbets, but, in the interest of euphony he was dubbed Art, because Art is longer.

The Tibbets family lived in the City and Link, the first-born, enjoyed all the Advantages of Life in an Apartment Building. He went to a Grammar School and picked up so much knowledge that at the age of 12, he could set his Parents down in front of him and tell them things they did not know. At he was so far along that he knew how to lie in bed and have his Mother bring his Breakfast up to him. He went to Dancing School and learned to play all the Boys and made out as much as much Application as a used-up metat at Dan-

Mr. Tibbets gave him a Desk at the Office and called him Assistant Something. His Duties consisted of looking after the Clock and Writing Notes to the Gaselles he had met the Night before. If he had been set out on the Pavement and told to Root for himself, it would have broken him of the Habit of Loitering.

Link was whatever they called a Laster in 1880. Mr. Tibbets realized that City Life had an enervating Effect on Boys and made who superficial and Wise in their own Conceit.

Chub was 8 years old and not yet succumbed to the Matinee Habit, so his Parents decided to ship him to the Green Fields and keep him there until he had developed a Character. Mr. and Mrs. Tibbets knew that all the Men of Sterling Worth, mentioned in Political Biographies, had been raised on the Farm. They figured that if Chub could be left in the Country to run with the Live Stock, he would grow up to be a Sturdy and self-reliant Character, with no bunkering for Soda Water and the Military Schottische.

Therefore Chub was sent out to live with Uncle Jabez Quackenbush, an Agriculturist who owned 40 Acres and was still wearing the Army Overcoat that the Government had given him when the War broke out. Chub slept on a Feather Tick up in the Room where they had the Seed Corn hung on the Rafter. Uncle Jabez would yank him out at 4:30 P. M. and keep him in the Field until the early Candle-lighting, so that usually he had two Meals in the Dark. On Sunday he and the Hired Hand would sit in the Hay-Mow and read Almanacs. In the Winter he attended a District School and learned to bound Patagonia, but he did not go to any demoralizing Shows or learn to pick up flip slang.

When he was 18, he seemed to be past the Danger Period so Uncle Jabez took him to the Train and told the Conductor where to put him off. On the way back to the City he bought an oval Box of cigars. He had about as much as much Flims from the Train Boy and lost his Hat out of the Window when he arrived at Home and entered the House. It sounded like a Crowd coming in. His Mother took one Look and fell backward. There was a Neutral Zone between his Vest and Trousers. Also he had been raising Warts on himself.

For the two Months after he arrived home he kept him under Cover for fear the Neighbors would see him. He gave way at the Knees every time he stepped. If a member of the Opposite Sex spoke to him, he usually backed into something Breakable. At the Table he did a Sword-Swallowing Act and drank out of the Saucer.

"We made a mistake in leaving him so long in the Tall Grass," said Mr. Tibbets. "But now that we have tried the two Extremes, we know just what to do with Art. We will send him to a small town, where he may associate with bright Youth of his own age and yet be away from the distracting and corrupting influences of the Big City."

Accordingly Art was farmed out to a Cousin residing in a drowsy Corporation of about 1500 Souls, figuratively speaking. He went to the Grammar School and what he didn't learn at School he learned in Back Alleys and Box Cars. However, his parents were happy in the knowledge that he was beyond the influence of the gaudy Jay House, the glitzy Ballet and the seductive Dancing Academy. He was out where nothing happened unless the Boys started it themselves. So they started

When he was twenty he was sent to the City, an extra fine Specimen of what the Small Town can produce. He had his hair combed down into his Eyes. He wore a punky little Derby about two sizes too small. The turn-down Collar was four inches high and he wore a navy-blue Cravat with a copper Butterfly for a Scarf-Pin. Furthermore, he wore a Suit of Clothes that was intended for a gentle Brakeman. On his Lapel he had a Button Photograph of the Girl who "Gave him the Blues."

"Go away Back and Set Down," replied Art, for he knew his Village Reputation and was on to all of last year's Gags.

"What do you propose to do for yourself?" asked Mr. Tibbets.

"I want to travel with a Circus or Minstrel Troupe and I don't much care which," replied Art.

As the Boy appeared to be somewhat Lunny about the Focker, his Parents threw him down and searched him, finding on his Person, a $2 Revolver, a Package of Cigarrets, a 1-lb. Plug of Tobacco, a Deck of Playing Cards, a Copy of "Old Sluth" and a Pair of Brass Knuckles.

"We have underrated the Educational Facilities of the Jay Town," said Mr. Tibbets. "Link is door-keeper in a Dim Museum and Chub is putting in Coal for an old and well-known Firm, but I can see that you are going to outshine your Brothers. You are going to develop into a first-class Burglar."

New York's Bohemians

Driven From Another Old Time Haunt, the Famous Hotel Martin, Where Wits Congregated.

New York, March 22.—Bohemians are deplored the disappearance of one of their favorite rendezvous. The Hotel Martin is no more—for them. As a matter of fact the business represented by that name has merely gone a bit further uptown, but to the average Bohemian that is about the same as wiping it off the map. It is an odd thing that the last element of city life to join the trek northward is bohemia-ism. A man may live, that is to say sleep, as far north as Washington Heights and yet be a Bohemian, for the chief mark of the tribe is patronage of certain restaurants. It is more than a generation since trade pushed north of Fourteenth street, quite as long since the big hotels were established far uptown. A less time, but still a good many years, since the district south of Fourteenth street became bare of theaters. Even the artists, most of them, have found studios as far away as Fifty-seventh street. But the restaurants where artists, writers and the better type of Bohemians generally like to congregate, have clung to the old ground and held the patronage of persons who have had to go miles southward to eat in them. These are table d'hote restaurants everywhere. The tendency abounds in them, but none of those at the north have ever acquired quite the intimacy of association that has characterized far down town. It would be a bold crew that would venture to run several tables together in an uptown eating house, occupy them from 6 till midnight and crack the latter hours with boisterous song. Below Fourteenth street there is many a joint where such procedure is looked upon with tranquility by the proprietor, who not infrequently joins his patrons in their festivities and acts 'em up for a night cap with unaffected cordiality.

The Hotel Martin was hardly of such a type. It was the most pretentious and expensive of the eating places haunted by Bohemians, but they regarded it nevertheless as one of their own, and it is pretty safe to say that they will not follow it to its new locale. It won't be the same thing on Twenty-sixth street that it was on University place. There will probably be too much decoration, too much elegance, too much formality for comfort. Its steady-going French patrons will probably follow it, but the joyous crew will likely disperse itself among the basement joints of the old neighborhood, where something called wine is more plentiful than water, and cabbage soup inaugurates the evening dinner five days in every week. You may prate about the comforts of a home, and I do not deny them but there is an atmosphere in the basement table d'hote that prohibits care, thoughts of business, or anything else that worries, from entering. Perhaps it's the smoke which, along towards midnight is so dense that your friend's face at the other end of the long table is unrecognizable.

Now and again some industrious but inconsiderate newspaper man writes up the jovial scenes that occur in such a place. The Frank advertisement recently has its effect on the business. The proprietor finds his tables crowded, and has to buy another tub, but the people who made his prosperity turn sadly away. The thrush of curious strangers, most of them persons who would like to be Bohemians if they knew how, chills them, and they drift to other and less-known resorts. There is one place—I won't identify it by so much as the mention of the street even here—that has escaped the evil of too great popularity. Years ago it was discovered by a choice few who cautiously made its existence known to a few others. Presently a newspaperman, a first-rate, companionable "space grabber" made his appearance. We liked him and made his address, with all ostensible cordiality, but every heart sank dully, for we seemed to foresee the end. He would write about the place presently and kill it, for us, with a column story. Happily there was one who had the sense and courage to forebode any such calamity. He tackled the genial space grabber and sought earnestly to show him the error of his prospective ways. It was even suggested that a subscription might be taken up to reimburse him for his loss at column rates for letting the place alone.

It is hardly necessary to say that the space grabber repelled the suggestion with lofty scorn and entered into the spirit of the others with becoming zest. He let the place alone, and from that time every new patron who seemed to have the mark of a writer upon his brow was besought in the same public spirited way to the end that today the place is unknown to fame as it was a dozen years ago. I have not heard the proprietor complain. In fact, despite the months ago to live if he needs the rest of the same old satisfactory lines by his own, I presume it has never occurred to him that his faithful patrons deliberately prevented him from acquiring a competence some years earlier.

There is another form of Bohemian gathering that has its pleasures when the parties to it are of the right sort. That is the unpremeditated meeting in some fellow's room or studio, when everybody's wit is stimulated to the providing of impromptu entertainment. Such a gathering took place a few weeks ago that had an unusual sequel. It was in a Tenth street studio. Tenth street used to be the one great neighborhood for artists and there are enough of them left here to keep up the traditions. By the fondest accident more than twenty persons, men and women, met there one evening. That studio seemed to be a magnet, drawing parties from all directions. Most of us were acquaintances, but there were some strangers, and hence the story. There had been an opening of beer, a smoking of many pipes and a few cigarettes, for the representatives of the art sex, some of them shyly joined the ceremony to that extent and there had been a symposium of story-telling. Of course there was music also. The artist had an old piano and somebody came with a banjo. All the rest had voices they would hardly do to mention in print, perhaps, but they were voices, nevertheless, and they answered the purposes of the occasion very well.

Among the men was a musical chap, who, as his name is on the title page of certain songs and piano pieces, may be called a composer. Naturally, a good deal of the burden of entertainment Ambitions of Talented Grand-Children of Gen. Grant --- Algernon Sartoris A True American.

Washington, March 22.—Washington just now is much interested in the three Sartoris children—Vivian, Rosemary and Algernon. Lately cable and news dispatches have been telling of the ambitions of these grandchildren of Gen. Grant, and Washington, where the Grant and Sartoris families are so well known and so high in popular favor, has eagerly read of them.

Of the three children of Mrs. Nellie Sartoris the eldest and only son, Algernon, and his place in the family is well known. He is a young man with Washington in his veins. He responded to his country's call for troops in the staff of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and in war, young Sartoris is entirely American. The two sisters are decidedly British in their tastes and sympathies. They spend but little time here and are frankly saying that they prefer Great Britain. Algernon served throughout the war on the staff of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and at the conclusion an effort was made to get him a commission. He found that he was disappointed in military life and he left the army at the beginning of this year. Recently he entered the employ of the Westinghouses in Pittsburg to learn mechanical engineering. Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Sartoris were opposed to his leaving Washington and urged that he had sufficient to live upon without so great a sacrifice. The young man, however, was determined to seek fame and fortune and George F. Westinghouse gladly received him. The eminent inventor has since expressed his admiration of young Sartoris and his belief that the grandson of Gen. Grant would be heard from in the domain of science which he has chosen. Mr. Sartoris is devotedly attached to a young Washington girl and the marriage is dependent upon the success of his business venture. He is about 27 years of age, tall, earnest and bears a strong resemblance to his late father.

Miss Vivian and Miss Rosemary Sartoris received most of their education at Georgetown convent, in this city. Both made their debut in their grandmother's home and received the education due pretty and attractive maidens so highly considered. Mrs. Cleveland honored the debut party of Miss Vivian, while the late President and Mrs. McKinley gave a December storm to honor Miss Rosemary's coming-out tea. Miss Vivian possesses a powerful mentality and her girl friends predict that she will do something remarkable either in literature or art. She is a beautiful girl, about 27 now, with a slender, willowy figure and a wonderful complexion. Miss Vivian has recently announced that she will join the constantly increasing ranks of bachelor maids. She is now devoting all of her time to study and art. Nearly a year ago she went to visit relatives in London and in the city, where she is devoting twelve hours daily to the study of literature and art. She has not divulged her ultimate aim and her friends surmise that she is preparing to write a book. Miss Vivian is a cousin to the British statesman, Arthur Balfour, made gossip for society. Her wedding gown and many presents were on their way, when the news came that the wedding would take place. No such nation was ever made public. Miss Sartoris wrote her mother that she found that she did not care to marry and she would choose a career for herself in a different field. Miss Rosemary resembles her mother more than her elder sister. She is fond of music and at present is studying with Miss Fiske Fuller, daughter of the chief

Straw Will Be Used In Combination With Gossamers And As Trimming.

Undoubtedly Very Large Hats Will Be Worn, But Probably More Of A Small Size Will Be Sold.

New York, March 22.—The Paris correspondent of the Millinery Trade Review says: I am now in a position to enter more fully into the straw question than was possible last month, and I am glad to be able to tell you that the outlook for this line of trade looks more promising than it did then. This is principally due to the admirable way in which the latest productions are made to fulfill present requirements. What it seemed impossible to accomplish with other than the lightest materials may now be carried out partially or even entirely in straw.

As I predicted, straw will be often used in combination with gossamers, and as a trimming. One of the forms in which it is provided for this purpose is that of a piping made of burlap, split rice or other light straw, rolled upon itself in the same way as strips of paper are rolled into pipe lights. There-son, but only in small flat plateaux, with no interstices between the straws. They are now blocked into pipe lines and other shapes, some even with undulating brims. Large soft plateaux for making draped toques are also provided. These are woven of split straw, woven more or less loosely in checks or plaids, and are generally intended to be interwoven again with bands of material or ribbon. Some of these are in rather dark colors, reproducing, with the aid of plain taffetas, various class tartans. Others are in white, cream, palest beige or other light-colored straws, interwoven with folded bands of lisse or tulle, sometimes matching the straw, but more often than not white. Not only are checks and plaids obtained in this way, but also floral designs. The narrow band of gossamer being used in the same manner as chenille and Saxony wool for the execution of a simple broad pattern.

A great deal is done with narrow

A broad brimmed hat, lined in this way, is covered on the outer side with black velvet and bordered with black velvet. It rests on the left side on a cascade of black velvet, beneath which are secured two don't-Amazons—one white, which curls over the edge of the upturned brim, and the other black, the tip of which comes down behind the ear.

Another delicate operation is to tack the narrowest black velvet ribbon in puffings of white tulle shirred closely every half inch with which some pretty straw braids are interlaced. Likewise the making of pipelight rolls of lisse and sewing them between upright straw braids is no easy task, and can only be accomplished by an experienced hand, as also the covering of shapes with closely fluted gossamer, so that the fluted encircle the crown in a swirl, or with twisted rolls of tulle or lisse, banded round with black or white lace insertion.

Pujol's models include some admirable specimens of this work, much appreciated by American buyers. One, a large toque, has the crown covered with a spiral arrangement of rolled tulle (palest blue, encircled with very fine black chantilly and a puffed tulle brim, partly veiled by white chantilly trimmed with black agrette of upright form—alagrette colonel, very fashionable this season, and about the only trimming in vogue that is permitted to add height to a shape. Another of these models combines two of the arrangements described above. It is a medium-sized hat, with the brim turned up on both sides, and the back bent down into the nape of the neck. The outside is covered with a swirl of fluted white tulle, and the under side of the brim is striped across with narrow black chip braid, divided by pipelight rousaux of the tulle. This hat is also surmounted by an alagrette colonel.

In the same parlor I noted a charming application of the capote fringes creamy white, forming the brim of an elegant toque draped with white chantilly, and also a good example of the effect produced by laying on white rice straw piping on a shape made of colored chip braids, the tint chosen in this instance being a bright beige, and the shape that of a medium-sized hat,

A LITTLE LAWN FROCK.

The summer girl will revel during the coming warm months in sheer lawn frocks trimmed with black lace insertion. This model is a charming one and very simply constructed. Rows of narrow black velvet are set on the transparent lace slight convexity in the center. The very prettiest models of this sort have the edge of the brim undulated, not deeply, but like the edge of some rose petals. Sometimes the undulation ceases over the ears, and the rest of the crown is new, and deserves to have special attention paid to it. Other hats, on the contrary, have decided grooves, and the brim turned up in front, on one or both sides. Most of the enlarged toques also have regular crowns, and brims either rolled up turban fashion or made of several layers, so as to rise as high as the crown. It is this massiveness of the brim in front and at the side that differentiates these shapes from the identical, frequently bent down, side of the nape of the neck. When this bending down is combined with rolled sides the brim at the back assumes some-what the form of pigeon's tail. In this case it generally has a portion of the trimming placed upon it. The fashion of trimming such shapes with scarfs, the one of which fall down the back, or with a bow or coquille of lace, although fashioned by Mme. Tichoux and one or two other first-class milliners, does not promise to be very general, since it is inapplicable to everyday wear. No is the fashioning down of the brim behind by any means universal, as we have seen. Some shapes are frequently turned up at the back; arrangement sometimes combined with a slight turning up of the brim in front.

as in such brighter tints as sky-blue and crimson.

Mounds of breast plumage, with intermixture of short couteaux and wings, are asked for in moderation; the former are arranged so as to be easily adapted to any form of brim.

Milliners are making much use of lace. Different kinds of guipure hold their own for covering and shapes, but for draping and mixing with lisse and tulle chantilly carries the day. White chantilly is the novelty of the season as applied to millinery. Black is also in considerable request. There is likewise a third variety of this lace quite new, white, with the pattern outlined in black silk. A slight mixture of black, with white or colors, is much affected. Thus, some of the colored straw hats, not otherwise trimmed with black, have the brim lined with deep chantilly edging. For the same reason cabochons and pins made of clustered jet are much in vogue. In some instances I have seen white and light tinted hats and toques fashioned with black heads. American buyers will carry back with them numbers of models ornamented with pearl cabochons, but they have been so much worn this winter that fickle Paris has already begun to tire of them, and will probably halt the appearance of the new ornaments, made up of gray, or what is generally styled "black" pearls.

GENERAL WHEATON.

Gen. Lloyd Wheaton, whose frankness in expressing his opinions has stirred up a number of senatorial critics, will lack for defenders. Practically without exception the men who have served under him, whose they fondly call "Dad" Wheaton, would fight for him to the last ditch against any odds, says the Chicago Tribune.

Even among the general officers of the United States army, including so many men of dauntless courage and splendid character, there are few who rank with Wheaton in personal popularity among his enlisted men. In appearance he is the ideal soldier, tall and straight as a pine tree. His thick hair is jet black and the lower part of his face is covered with a black beard, set off by a pair of long and fiercely pointed black mustaches. On horseback especially he looks the part of a are to be had, of different thicknesses, varying between that of an ordinary piece of dressmaker's piping cord and that of a lady's finger. Straw trimming of this sort is available both as a trimming for hats, otherwise built up of tulle or gauze materials, and for shapes made of straw braids. Another trimming specially applicable to the former purpose is a narrow insertion woven of hair—white, black or colored—that may be gathered into a frill or drawn up in the middle or used flat, as required.

Straw hats intended for making the shapes of dressy hats and toques and the straw plateaux are so supple that they may be gathered into a frill or drawn up in the middle or used flat, as required. Inch-wide sofia braids are in much request. The method of sewing introduced last year is maintained this season; that is to say, one braid is placed on the other and the two are stitched together at the edges, so that when the piece so made is opened out form little ridges on the right side. Sometimes a narrow braid is introduced between the edges, so as to make a thick ridge.

Among the novelties are hat shapes made of rice straws in the rough, inserted end to end. Dozens and dozens of yards of this straw are required to make up a single plateau, twisted round and round, and tacked together on the wrong side, a slight space being left between each round. These made their appearance last season, but only in small flat plateaux, with no interstices between the straws. They are now blocked into pipe lines and other shapes, some even with undulating brims. Large soft plateaux for making draped toques are also provided. These are woven of split straw, woven more or less loosely in checks or plaids, and are generally intended to be interwoven again with bands of material or ribbon. Some of these are in rather dark colors, reproducing, with the aid of plain taffetas, various class tartans. Others are in white, cream, palest beige or other light-colored straws, interwoven with folded bands of lisse or tulle, sometimes matching the straw, but more often than not white. Not only are checks and plaids obtained in this way, but also floral designs. The narrow band of gossamer being used in the same manner as chenille and Saxony wool for the execution of a simple broad pattern.

A great deal is done with narrow chip braids, not sewn together in the ordinary way, but mounted on a net foundation. The braids in most request for this purpose are plain plaits, about one-third of an inch in width; they are sewn on by one edge, so as to stand more or less erect. Laid on alternately with double folds of lisse, ribbons, or pipings of tulle, or net, they have a very novel effect. Entire shapes will be covered in this way, or merely the under side of the brim. Looped chip or capeau fringes are also in demand. They are used to mix with other plain braids, but for forming the brims of some of the smaller hats and tentau toques, several rows of the fringe will be sewn together at the foot. I have also seen it sewn round, so as to form a rosette of loops to be inserted here and there among the folds of a draped straw toque. Large cabochons composed of a cluster of straw balls come under the same head, as also do some imitations of plumage rendered in fancy straw.

Much ingenuity is displayed in these various methods of treating straw, but still greater delicacy of hand is needed to accomplish the new styles of hat coverings and trimmings where lisse and tulle is concerned. It is a marvel how any fingers can be found to make up the Tom Thumb quillings of tulle that are used to line the brims of some of the hats. They are often not so much as half an inch in width, and yet arranged in double or triple pleats,

A YOUNG CHICAGO GIRL

Saved from Ruin and Despair by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lillie E. Sinclair's Letter and Portrait Here Published to Lead Other Sick Girls to Be Cured.

Is there anything more truly pathetic than the cry for health that springs from the anguished heart of a young girl,—a beautiful girl who sees ahead only suffering and uncertainty?

But O, what joy and gladness her young heart pours forth when she realizes that her deadly enemy is gone,—banished forever.

This sunshine and joy is now the happy portion of Miss Lillie Sinclair of Chicago, whose letter and portrait we herewith publish.

She often tells of her suffering and pain so excruciating,—the doctors instead of removing the cause of her ailments prescribed stimulants, and her letter which follows will tell her own story, and should be read by every young lady in the land, for it is a true and heartfelt statement from a young lady, who believes it to be her duty, not only to Mrs. Pinkham, but to all young girls, to tell what has been done for her so that some other poor sufferer may be induced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be restored to health as she was.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free.

MISS LILLIE E. SINCLAIR.

President Women's Century Bicycle Club, Chicago, Ill.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved and that all pains left me and I was my old self once more. I can ride fifty and one hundred miles on my wheel, can run, jump and enjoy outdoor life, as I am in perfect health, thanks to you. Yours very truly, LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago, Ill."

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure one woman—why not you—you cannot tell until you try it. If you are ill, and really want to get well, commence its use at once, and do not let any drug clerk persuade you that he has something of his own which is better, for that is absurd. Ask him to produce the evidence we do.

swell in their little boats. Finally the party landed, under a hot fire from the insurgents, and rushed the town. After pickets had been thrown out and arrangements made for guarding against a night attack, Gen. Wheaton started to turn in, with the idea of catching a few hours' sleep. He and his orderly went into a native house on the square and opened the door leading into the corner room. As they did so a couple of privates who had already laid down to sleep on the floor rose sleepily, came to attention, saluted, and started to leave the room.

"Hire, you!" roared "Old Dad!" in his terrifying voice, "you boys need sleep just as much as I do. Lie down again and go to sleep."

So the commanding general and a couple of privates went to sleep side by side on the floor. But early in the morning, before any one else was awake, Gen. Wheaton got up and went out alone on a reconnoitering tour. He closed the door and it locked behind him with a spring lock.

Several times during the night stragglers had come pounding on the door, and had been ordered away by the somewhat sultry orderly. It happened that the orderly had just got into a sound sleep when the general returned and knocked for admission. The orderly, who had no idea that Gen. Wheaton had gone out, woke up hot and angry.

With all the resources of his picturesque vocabulary he cursed the man who had disturbed him and ordered him to go away under awful penalties.

"Now, you clear out of here and let us sleep, or I'll come out and kick your head off!" he roared.

"All right, sergeant," roared the deep voice of "Old Dad." "All right, I'll clear out. But won't you please let me have my field glasses first?"

"Trace up, boys," the call will go across the scattered lines. "Here comes 'Old Dad,' and then rushes into the fight the big bay horse, topped by the big, fierce man, with his black beard, and all is over but the shouting.

Enlisted men returned from service in the islands tell all sorts of little stories of Gen. Wheaton. For instance, there was the night after the landing at San Fabian. Six gunboats had gone down the coast to cover the landing of a lot of men under Gen. Wheaton, who were loaded on a couple of army transports.

While the gunboats shelled the town Wheaton got his men into launches and other small boats and waited for the first chance to get ashore. Once or twice his eagerness led him to push ahead within range of the gunboats' fire, and each time he had to face about and retire, much to the amusement of the men, hobnobbing about on the plunge king, and his voice is a deep bass of tremendous power that can be heard at great distance.

It is a favorite joke with the soldiers in the islands that "Old Dad" needs no staff, because he can make himself heard half a mile without straining himself. Most endearing of all, from the standpoint of the common soldier, Gen. Wheaton never spares himself, and many a little outpost, hard pressed by an overwhelming force of the "niggers," has been inspired by the roaring command of "Old Dad," "Go in, boys! Go in!" while he himself, riding like a centaur, led the charge far in advance of the advancing column.

Even his presence is inspiring. In many a hot skirmish, when the men have become tired and scattered, his tremendous voice, bellying in the distance, has had the effect of a trumpet call or the arrival of a regiment of reinforcements.

"Trace up, boys," the call will go across the scattered lines. "Here comes 'Old Dad,' and then rushes into the fight the big bay horse, topped by the big, fierce man, with his black beard, and all is over but the shouting.

SHOTGUN EXPERTS

From Almost Every State Will Attend the Grand American Handicap.

Duluth Gun Club Takes Great Interest In the Event--Will Open at Kansas City on March 31.

Members of the Central Gun club are evincing great interest in the approaching grand American handicap, the blue ribbon trap shooting event of the year, which is to be held March 31 to April 5 in Kansas City. Shotgun experts from almost every state in the Union will gather in the Missouri city to strive for the handsome prizes offered and incidentally to wrest from E. C. Griffith, of Chicago, Illinois, the title of national champion, which he captured at Interstate Park, Long Island, a year ago.

Elmer E. Shauer, manager of the interstate association, the organization controlling the grand American handicap, has practically completed the arrangements and has announced the order of events as follows:

Monday, March 31, the first day of the shoot, there will be two events, one at eight and the other at twelve birds, all scratch. Tuesday, April 1, there will be a sixteen bird handicap event, handicaps to be the same as those fixed in the great American which was held at Interstate Park last year.

Monday, March 31, the first day of the shoot, there will be two events, one at eight and the other at twelve birds, all scratch. Tuesday, April 1, there will be a sixteen bird handicap event, handicaps to be the same as those fixed in the great American which was held at Interstate Park last year.

THE BOON OF FREE SUGAR

The Sugar Tax Discussed By Edward Atkinson.

In the discussion of the sugar tax three men have been forgotten; first, the American dairy farmer; second, the fruit grower; and third, the consumer. There are no classes in this community who have a greater interest as producers to secure sugar entirely free of taxation than the dairy farmers and fruit growers.

It will be observed that the island of Great Britain, which is a little less in area than the state of Georgia, each about fifty-five thousand (55,000) square miles, produces neither sugar nor fruit in any considerable quantity; yet it holds the paramount position in the manufacture of jellies, jams, preserves, coupled with an enormous export of these products.

Think of it, "Dundee marmalade," known the world over, made in Scotland from imported oranges and imported sugar! Again, Switzerland, with scarcely a pasture where cows can be left unattended, yet admitting sugar free, holds the paramount position in the manufacture of condensed milk, of which sugar constitutes one-third the weight.

Given free sugar, what would be our position, even in the state of Georgia only, in the export of peaches, nectarines, other fruits and berries of every kind? Extend the view over the whole of the country, who could compete in making jams and preserves?

If I am rightly informed, there is even today one establishment making condensed milk which buys about four hundred and fifty thousand (450,000) tons of more sugar than the larger sugar refiners of the world.

Compute the quantity of sugar factories, the best sugar factories claim to use, and for which they assume to pay four dollars ($4) to the farmers out of each ten bushels (400) themselves.

bear in mind the necessity of child and domestic labor, and that the very time when the children ought to be at school, divide the maximum sum that they have ever paid or not claimed as possible to be paid to the farmers by the average product of a farm, and you will appear that not one farmer in one thousand could ever be supported on such growing.

If it were to increase rapidly the women and the children to come from the west—the best—a sugar which cannot be done by machinery?

Mark again, that beet sugar is and can only be produced economically in Russia, in the poorest parts of Germany, in Belgium, in some parts of France, where there is a dense population, in the very verge of pauperism who can find nothing better to do than to weed beets.

As Webster said, "Can we afford to do what foreign producers can do no way for us?"

Again, what proportion can the beet growers ever bear to the dairy farmers, and what is the relative merit of opportunity offered in the two branches of industry—wedding beets or caring for cattle, or working the dairy? So much for two of the forgotten men.

Prices of the necessities of life have advanced more than thirty (30) per cent since the year 1898, while neither the wages of labor nor the salaries of the respectable number of Duluth's men in shops and factories, nor the fixed advances in anything like the same proportion.

Therefore it follows that anything that can be done by the removal of unnecessary taxes on articles of food would be most timely.

Disregarding small fractions, the consumer (70) pounds per head of the population, the average price five (5) cents a pound, should be paid for the sugar. WHIPPED THE MAYOR

Protege of Carrie Nation Creates Sensation.

Choked By the Executive and Thrown Out.

Topeka, Kas., March 24.—Miss Blanche Boise, a protege of Mrs. Nation, horsewhipped Mayor Parker in his office at the city hall this morning about 9 o'clock. Three times she slashed the mayor and then she sprang at her, gripped her by the throat, choked her, tore the rawhide out of her hand and pushed her into the hall. As Miss Boise was thrust out of the office by Mayor Parker, she exclaimed: "Thank God I've done it! I've horsewhipped you, and now I'm going to horsewhip the governor."

Before beginning her horsewhipping, Miss Boise gave the mayor a severe scolding, and accused him of being responsible for the fact that the joints are running openly in Topeka and for the murder which was recently committed in Roy Daniels' saloon. She then pulled the horsewhip from the folds of her dress and, before the mayor knew what had happened, she struck him three times across the head and shoulders.

Miss Boise is a nurse by profession. She is about 35 years of age and is quite a handsome woman.

WILL NOT BE PUT ASIDE

Friends of Anton Kachel Who Denied at St. Peter Insist That an Investigation of Cause Shall Be Made.

St. Paul, March 24.—The Dispatch says: The friends of Anton Kachel, at St. Peter, do not propose to have the plans for investigation of the cause of his death at the insane hospital lightly put aside.

A report of the coroner's inquest and autopsy, sent to the board of control, stated that no ribs were broken, but that the bone was separated from the cartilage. It was admitted that Kachel was very violent, both before his admission to the hospital and afterward. At the hospital it required the efforts of two nurses to restrain him.

A transcript of the testimony at the inquest and the report of Dr. Daniels, who conducted the autopsy, states that five ribs were broken. Dr. Daniels' report also reported that one lung had collapsed. Kachel's death is ascribed to inflammation of the brain and kidneys, but Kachel's friends claim that the broken ribs and collapsed lung show conclusively that Kachel must have been subjected to violent treatment. They also refer to the testimony of one of the hospital attendants, who found no ribs broken on Wednesday when he made the first examination, but that afterward he found five broken, as evidence that the violent treatment occurred in the hospital.

RAILROADS CONSENT

To Issuing of a Temporary Restraining Order Against Chicago Roads to Prevent Further Violation of Sherman Law.

Chicago, March 24.—With the consent of the defendants, Judge Grosscup, in the federal court today, issued the temporary restraining order asked for by the interstate commerce commission against six railways entering Chicago. The order holds good until June 1, or until further orders from the court.

The railways affected by the injunction are: The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, the Michigan Central, the Illinois Central and the Chicago & Northwestern. Before entering the order, Judge Grosscup said: But for the compliance of the defendants, I should have required the full and complete hearing. The matter is one of mighty importance and not to be decided without the most mature deliberation. It is believed that the railways named agreed not to contest the petition for an injunction at this time in order that other roads eventually might be brought into court, and compel the full and complete provisions of the Sherman law and the interstate commerce act.

IDENTITY UNREVEALED

Young Woman Who Was Killed By Train In St. Paul on March 12, Buried Without Knowledge of Who She Was.

St. Paul, March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With her identity sealed, the body of the young woman killed March 12, on the Milwaukee tracks, was given Christian burial in Oakland cemetery this afternoon.

A handsome white cloth covered casket enclosed the remains and beautiful offerings of flowers garnished it as it lay. On the casket were the simple words "At Rest," all that could be said of the unfortunate girl.

Funeral services were held in Dampler's undertaking establishment in the presence of a number of ladies, mainly from Merriam Park.

Rev. J. H. Sammis, of the Merriam Park Congregational church, conducted the services, which were simple and brief.

Signe Duhle, who started the movement for a Christian burial by offering a tribute of flowers, contributed a song and the services were closed.

Coroner Miller has received a contribution of $25 to make up any deficiency in the cost of the funeral. Nothing further is known of whom the young woman may have been.

HELPER ENGINE EXPLODES

Salt Lake, Utah, March 24.—A helper engine on the westbound freight train No. 256, blew up about 8 o'clock this morning while going up Lake Hill, seventy miles west of Ogden, William Wilton, engineer, of Ogden, E. A.

Uphoff, brakeman, and an unknown tramp were killed. Fireman Roy Munsey was terribly burned and probably died from his injuries. The engine was a new one and the cause of the explosion has not been ascertained. Traffic was blocked for about two hours.

WILL FIGHT ANYONE.

San Francisco, March 24.—Billy Delaney, acting as manager for Jeffries, made this statement when asked if he would accept the recent challenge issued by Corbett:

"As yet I have had no official information. Corbett's challenge, but should one be received from him in the event of a fight, I would not be averse to giving him a match, or any other good man for that matter. Our first choice, of course, is Fitz. In order to pull off a fight in Los Angeles it would have to be the previous to May 10, which date the fight cannot close."

ORDER IS VACATED. Washington, March 24.—Secretary Hay has been notified that owing to the protests of United States Minister Hart at Bogota and our consuls on the isthmus, the order looking to the censorship by the Colombian government of official dispatches of consuls has been vacated.

JAMES WILCOX FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Elizabeth City, N. J., March 24.—James Wilcox was on Saturday night found guilty of the murder of Nellie Cropsy. The jury, after hearing been out thirty hours, brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree. The prisoner heard the verdict without apparent emotion. When the verdict had been received, Judge Jones said: "It is sad for me than you, Mr. Wilcox. The jury and the facts I gave the law. You have had a fair trial. Part of the public were afraid to give to you. I am informed that the movement in the court house here Friday, when a crowd marched out, was pre-arranged. I hope such was not the case. If it was true and the offenders brought before me, I would send every man, woman and child to jail for contempt. "The judgment of the court is that the prisoner be removed to jail and be hanged, until dead, by the neck, on April 25. The verdict that young Wilcox was guilty of murder of Miss Nellie Cropsy seems to have met regular approval though it was not considered probable that the jury would so report."

District Attorney Ward said he never looked for any verdict other than murder in the second degree. Lawyer Aydtett, for the defense will enter an appeal on behalf of the prisoner. He will seek to set aside the verdict on the ground that it was not consistent with the evidence brought out at the trial. There is little prospect of the prisoner's paying the death penalty on the date set by Judge Jones. As the supreme court does not meet until next September it is more than probable that it will be twelve months before the case is disposed of finally.

TWENTIETH. A FORGER BREAKS JAIL

Two Battalions of Famous Regiment at Fort Sheridan.

Chicago, March 24.—The First and Third battalions of the Twentieth regiment, which recently arrived at San Francisco from Manila, have completed their journey of 2,000 miles and are now stationed at Fort Sheridan.

This is the first time that the Twentieth has ever been stationed east of the Mississippi. The regiment was organized in 1898, and has since that time been in the service of the United States. It was reorganized at the close of the civil war. The regiment saw service in Cuba and was at the battle of El Caney. The Twentieth was Gen. Otis' own regiment. Gen. Wharton was also colonel of the regiment. It was also colonel of the regiment. It was also colonel of the regiment. It was also colonel of the regiment.

Alfred Sanders Files Hole Through Floor of His Cell at Fargo and Easily Escapes to the Outside.

Fargo, N. D., March 24.—Fargo has had its first jail delivery in many years, and Alfred Sanders, who pleaded guilty last week to forgery and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, is a free man.

Sanders had been in jail since last September for forgery of a $400 note and getting it cashed at Casselton. His record is said to show that he escaped from jail in Kentucky two years ago on a forgery charge and was wanted for other crimes. Sanders, with two other prisoners, occupied a top tier of cells. No prisoners were in the lower tier and the door from the lower room to the corridor was unlocked. Sanders filed a 12 by 14-inch hole through the 4-inch iron floor in the bathroom, dropped into the bath room underneath and got around the corridor to a window, from which he escaped. It is thought he had a confederate, as the bars of the window had been removed, apparently from the outside.

A reward of $100 for his capture is offered.

Leach Lake Indians In a Sad Plight and the Secretary of Agriculture May Provide Them With Seed.

Washington, March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Quarles is interesting himself to secure seeds for the Leach Lake Indians. It appears that what practically amounted to an epidemic of smallpox struck this band of Indians last fall, and the weather conditions which ruined the crops left them in a sad plight. A delegation of Leach Lake Indians is here seeking relief. The case has been laid before the secretary of agriculture by Senator Quarles, and the secretary has promised to do all that he can to alleviate the condition which confronts the Leach Lake Indians. It is possible that if the department of agriculture cannot supply sufficient seeds from the surplus of last year, a special bill will be introduced to supply the needs of the Indians.

HELD CHILD TO SUFFOCATE

Chicago, March 24.—James Towns, his wife and their 8-year-old daughter were found dead in bed here today. They had been asphyxiated by gas from the kitchen range. A plug had been removed from the outside.

moved from the range, and the man's arm was thrown over the child, apparently holding her down. These circumstances are cited by the police as evidence of a double murder and suicide.

LYNCHED. GYMNASTICS PROVED FATAL

Alabama Negro Given Short Shift For Criminal Assault.

Troy, Ala., March 24.—Bill Zeigler, a negro, was lynched Saturday night about seven miles below this place. He was charged with an assault on a little white girl whose name is withheld. At a preliminary hearing the negro was bound over to the grand jury. Bridge sheriff started to town with the prisoner, but was overpowered by the mob. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the negro came to his death at the hands of unknown persons.

Milwaukee, March 24.—John Brown, 16 years old, living with his parents at 655 Thirtieth street, is a victim of bedroom gymnastics. Young Brown had read in the journals of the athletic advantages to be gained through the use of a pole hung in the closet and tried the scheme. When he did not appear at the usual time his parents investigated and found him dead in the closet. He was hanging by the neck to the ropes, which had become twisted, so that he was unable to free himself and choked to death.

BIRDIE WAS UNDER BLANKET

Fort Scott, Kan., March 24.—Four women prisoners broke jail here last night and were captured today. One, Birdie McCarty, charged with being a horse thief, was found hidden under a blanket in the bottom of a wagon being driven by Peter Shelley, twelve miles from here. The others were captured near Hammond after being chased for three miles. The women confessed that Shelley, Red Taylor and Charles Snyder, all of whom have been arrested, assisted them in picking the locks of the jail doors.

Freight Trains Come Together at High Speed.

Four Killed, Three Injured On Fort Wayne Road.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 24.—In a head-on collision between freight trains at 7:10 o'clock this morning on the Pittsburg, Youngstown & Ashtabula division of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago road, four were killed and three injured. The dead: NORMAN GRAHAM, fireman, lives near Newcastles, Pa. JAMES THOMAS, fireman, Ashtabula, Ohio. —, brakeman, name not yet known. CHARLES BLACKBURN, target tender on the Erie road, body can be seen in wreck. Injured: Carl Bishop, brakeman, Ashtabula, left leg scalded; Engineer George Weather, of Erie, Pa., and Frank Brown, of Ashtabula Harbor, received slight injuries. The trains crashed together in a heavy fog, completely wrecking both engines and piling the cars up so that traffic will be suspended for hours. The cause of the wreck is not yet determined, the engineers on both trains claiming they had orders to go ahead.

RELENTLESS PURSUIT

Postoffice Inspector Trained a Robber For Fourteen Months and Traveled Over Five Thousand Miles.

Wichita, Kan., March 24.—One of the most remarkable illustrations of the relentlessness with which the United States government pursues the man who violates its laws is shown in the hunt for George Irons, alleged to be the leader of a gang of Western postoffice robbers, by Inspector Peters, of the Kansas City division of postoffice inspectors. After trailing his man from the Mississippi to the Pacific coast, covering more than 5,500 miles in the pursuit and devoting his entire time to it for thirteen months, Peters captured him and brought him back to Kansas, where he was wanted on the specific charge of robbing the postoffice at Salina Feb. 15, 1901. A federal grand jury at Wichita has indicted Irons with Albert Gibbs, Ray Tassart and Albert Tassart on charges of postoffice robbery. The three last named men have all confessed that they were members of a gang which committed many postoffice robberies in Western Kansas under the leadership of Irons.

FALLS HEIR TO FORTUNE

St. Paul Man Hears That He Will Share In Division of $800,000 Through Death of Dutch Uncle.

St. Paul, March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles W. Kronk, a clerk in the freight department of the Chicago-Great Western road, is heir to a fortune of $800,000 through the death of an uncle, who conducted a big distillery in Holland. The information came to him through an aged aunt who lives in Chippewa Falls. Mr. Kronk expects to go to Holland within a few weeks to look after his interests.

Mr. Kronk's uncle, whose death has just been announced, was Timothy Kronk. He had conducted a liquor distilling establishment for many years, and amassed a fortune that was constantly added to through his business interests. His only brother made his home in New York, but died recently. Timothy Kronk had no children, so that his next of kin was Charles W. Kronk, of this city.

It is said that the St. Paul man's title to the estate can be established without difficulty, as the records of the family have been preserved with much care. A portion of the old Dutch name was dropped, however, by the younger generation, while the older members of the family retain it in its entirety.

Mr. Kronk has received the news with becoming modesty and has been congratulated by his friends, whom he took into his confidence. He is secretary of the Fourth ward Republican organization, and will remain here to assist in the municipal campaign.

SCOUT GORED BY BUFFALO

Butte, March 24.—News has been received here of the death of Richard Rock, an old-time and widely-known scout and frontiersman, at his ranch near Henry's Lake on Saturday. He was gored to death by a buffalo, which he had raised. He was one of the scouts with the ill-fated Custer expedition and is said to be the man who gave Custer information of the presence of the Indians under Sitting Bull in the valley where the crafty chief had encamped and who advised the general to await the coming of Reno, before attacking. A young son of his was sent into Yellowstone park to count the buffalo remaining there.

TRUSTS LIKE CHRISTIANS

New York, March 24.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in talking to the members of his Bible class in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church on "why should we join the church," spoke of the methods of trusts, and their benefits to those of the Christian allying himself with the church.

"To fight the battle alone," said Mr. Rockefeller, is to be lost. Association with others is an absolute necessity if we would be successful. In union there is strength and success. We can see this illustrated every day in the business world."

AMERICAN MONEY REFUSED

New York, March 24.—A dispute has arisen between the vicar of Penn church in Buckinghamshire and his parishioners, says the London correspondent of the American and Journal. The former collected $400 in Pennsylvania to keep up the church named after the famous Quaker, many of whose descendants are buried therein. The parishioners say they are surprised and humbled that the money should be raised in America. The vicar refused to produce his accounts, but promises to restore the money to the donors.

TO INVITE DIKE TO GET OUT

New York, March 24.—Charles Guden, clothed with the authority of Justice Gaynor's decision, will call on Norman S. Dike today to surrender to him the sheriff's office of Kings county. Guden announced, however, that there is to be no violence. He will politely ask Dike to get out, and if that gentleman is obstinate he will not do so as the latter did a week ago and kick down the doors. In making his demand he will present a copy of Justice Gaynor's decision. If Col. Dike does not surrender, Mr. Guden says he will wait until the court of appeals can pass on the controversy.

BETTING WINS.

Decision In Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Suit.

The district court at Minneapolis decided today that Edward A. James was not entitled to sue for the membership in the chamber of commerce in that city which William J. Bettingen claimed to own. This was a victory for the latter and he was given an injunction restraining Mr. James from using it.

The decision shows that the certificate was in the name of Mr. James, as representative of a grain firm.

He continues to use it, no matter after his connections with the firm had been severed.

The chamber held that Mr. James was still entitled to it, and an injunction was then issued.

James' lawyer, in deciding that Mr. James' former employer was entitled to the certificate, further held that the chamber of commerce was not a jurisdiction in matters of this kind.

The decision will be of interest to real estate brokers, who are not alone the cause of the fact that both are well known here, but because of the rumor that the board is to have jurisdiction of the board over memberships.

POKED HIM

Daniel Beaton Strangled By a Drink of Water.

A drink of water killed Daniel Beaton, Saturday night.

He took the drink and the water choked him, he enlarged tonsils. Before he could be carried into the next room he was dead.

Mr. Beaton was employed at the Columbia house located at 191 South Twenty-ninth avenue west. Last Tuesday he was taken ill with tonsillitis and though he suffered intensely he declined to give up his work.

At about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening when he tried to drink a glass of water and strangled to death in a few minutes. Dr. D. D. Smith, who was called to the room at the time and did everything possible to save the life in the short time he was given him.

BOWERY TRAGEDY

Dr. Long Details the Wreck of a Young Life.

Do Not Do Their Duty.

Should See That Better Conditions Are Thrown Around Woodsmen.

A large congregation at the First Methodist Church, New Orleans, heard the pastor, Dr. S. P. Long, preach on the topic, "A Tragedy of the Bowery." The story was graphically told, and made a deep impression on his hearers. It was the old, old story of happenings in the life of a poor, homeless man, a victim of this city, and of the bowery character and the things that befell him were not at all exaggerated.

The text was found in Jeremiah xlviii, 40, and Isaiah xxvii, 14, the verses reading as follows:

"Mozab is spoiled, and gone up out of his land, and his shepherds have scattered him, and his habitations are gone down to the slaughter, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts."

"When Platte saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult rose up against him, he turned and went on his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood."

"I am innocent that I shed the seed of," said Dr. Long, "is a composite man," said

The man of his story was a Scandinavian, and in selecting this nationality as a basis for a life's drama, excuse was necessary, for the reason that the time of immigration to Minnesota is comprised of people of all nationalities.

Condensed, in brief, the historic early history of the Scandinavian people in Europe, their conquests and great men, led up to a half-dozen, he urged of their loyalty to this their adopted country, and spoke of the services which they had rendered in the winning the civil war. He said that 1,500,000 Scandinavians have come to this continent since 1860, and that more than about 400,000, or of these 700,000 are settled in Minnesota.

He then turned to the name of the character of the story, and his birthplace was named as Swedenborg, a small town in Sweden, the site of his birthplace, his early home surroundings and Christian teaching, his father, and mother, and how he was the only child; his parents reined him up with all thoroughness. He had an arduous childhood, and at intervals sent back part of her earnings to her parents. His mother died when he was twenty, and finally became determined to join his sister in this country. Part of the money she had saved was spent to pay his passage across the ocean to New York. His journey across the water terminated at Duluth, Minn., where he met his sister, who was told.

an for a time, but his sister sickened and died, leaving him alone among strangers. He thought of going to a logging camp in the pine woods of Northern Minnesota.

He told of the young Scandinavian's amazement when he first saw the methods of logging employed by the Americans. He saw the men use the steam loaders, and many other labor-saving devices. He was anxious to learn and to work.

"He began to learn the English language and spent the evenings in studying when he had time," said the men and checkers with the other workmen.

His surroundings were not those of a young man in the way of his early teachings. The sleeping quarters of the men, though woodsmen and they were simply packed into the building. The language the men spoke was strange and their accent was so thick that Olaf, who became rather restless in his devotions and careless of his speech, was forced to work at $26 a month and his board. Olaf, when the camp broke up, had $50 coming, and he took the money to the office of the company's office in Duluth. He walked to the railroad station and took the train to Duluth. He was reflecting, memories of his old home in Sweden and of his parents came back to him. He remembered the old home behind a sweetheart. He decided that when he reached Duluth he would send half of the money to his mother and the other amount to his sweetheart, so that she could buy a present.

Olaf was a well-dressed man on the train, who seemed acquainted with him. The man, who was wearing a red cord around his neck, in fact he called him to know all of Olaf's old friends and neighbors. He told him that he had confidence, and suggested that when he came to a lodging place that the stranger he had located. This was agreed to, and the man returned to the logging company's office to get the money. He told the company that he had a friend who had a convenient place to get the cash checked, and took the money to the place. good to make trouble about it after he had left the building, and suggested that they drop into a quiet place and have a game of cards. They had played but a few minutes, when two men opened the door, appeared surprised to find the room occupied, apologized and were about to depart. Next he started for the postoffice and bought a money order, but instead of getting it, he was arrested and detained. He sent her but £20. He sent his sweetheart but $5. When his time came to become so alarmed at the way his money was disappearing that he decided to keep away from the saloons and wandered about the streets of the city looking for a place to go in and rest, but found there were no places but the saloons. He went in and had a drink and a meal, then resumed his tramp. He met a friend and was again urged to go to the saloons. He refused and demurred, but finally the invitation became so urgent that he yielded and went to the saloons. He was in the rooms that Dr. Long said the city council was protecting, where he was drugged, robbed of his money and new clothes.

Olaf had been in Duluth but twenty-four hours and was a beggar. He was a poor, thin, pale, and shivering man, and he talked with him in his plight and told Olaf to get off the Bowery as quick as he could. He said that he was a fisherman and that he had been in the woods. The young man did so and finally found work in one of the wholesale houses. He stayed there until navigation opened and then he went on board one of the boats until the following winter, when he went again to the woods. With back to the wall he fought off the crowd, but he was surrounded, overpowered, jumped on, beaten, and finally kicked into the street a senseless man. A crowd of people gathered around him and an ambulance took Olaf to the hospital.

Here he remained for weeks regaining his health, but came from the hospital a changed man. He no longer believed that everybody was his enemy. He was so sullen that he lost job after job. He was finally thrown out of one into a spree, and at last was locked up in the police station, where he had no friends. He was finally removed to the hospital, but his spirit was broken. He was locked and he died a miserable death.

"Who killed him?" asked Dr. Long. "The crowd," said the doctor. "A set of men, but who made them so? It is not the men, but the conditions, that make them so. It is the society. It is a bloody movie motif. He is going to spend

If the people of his own nationality had done something to help him, if Christians had lifted their hands, if men of wealth had done something to better the lot of the poor, if the world had brought to bear their influence.

"What is the remedy?"

"I would put men on the Töversöy to look after the wine worms, to warn them of the saloons. I would open coffee houses and reading rooms, with music. I would have the most able of the blessed influences I could.

"People of Duluth, may God help us to do our duty, to make the world a more noble condition of affairs that lies at our doors."

MINE WILL SHUT DOWN.
 Colorado Springs, Col., March 24.—James F. Burns, president of the Portland Gold Mining company, has announced that the mine will be closed down April 1, owing to a disagreement with the smelter trust. SIDEWALKS.

Council Finds Itself an Unpleasant Com- plication Over Them.

City officers are receiving many complaints because of uneven sidewalks in the business district.

In certain places on Superior street, pedestrians walk about fifty feet on a level, then they step up against a ledge two inches higher, to walk but twenty-five feet farther and hit a lower grade again.

A peculiar situation exists. There are no established grades for sidewalks and no charter provision by which grades may be established. Sometime ago, when the department of public works started to lower the sidewalks, the city engineer, John Wirth, building contractors, Dixon & Lowry, enjoyed them from so doing.

It is now up to the city officers to

There is also some talk of the committee on streets, alleys & sidewalks, and is likely to bring up definite settlement as well as stir up old fight between this particular lot of contractors and the city engineers.

That was one of the provisions of the resolution recently adopted to have the names of streets and avenues impressed in the cement walks that are to be laid during the coming season. Some of the contractors say that they have a perfect right to stamp their names in the walks, put down by them.

SILBERSTEIN & BONDY COMPANY

The Formal Opening of Millinery, Tailored Suits and Wraps for Women, Misses and Children's Wear.

THE OPENING CONTINUES TOMORROW. EASTER MILLINERY.

Styles are fixed. Paris and the Fashion centers have sent their latest words. You have seen the newest in Millinery if you were here today. There's every reason for making selection now. Nothing to be gained by delay.

The hats for Easter wear—the hats at S. & B. Co.—are first of all becoming. Gracefully sweeping curves, that never swerve from the natural lines of beauty, yet which vary this way or that, adapting themselves to every style of face. Be it a flare hat or one on the turban order—the two styles that are dominant—you have but to seek the style that most becomes you. Flowers, of course—what would Easter hats be without them? But the new brims are so pretty of themselves, that not a few hats need but just a touch of trimming. Styles are not haphazardly manifested. And not expensive. The day of extravagant prices for millinery is past. Its keel was sounded when S. & B. Co. millinery proved that absolutely correct style need not be alien to a moderate price. We have hats at $30, $40—what you will—but they are for occasions out of the usual. The styles at $6, $8, $10 and $12 and $15 will more readily commend themselves to most women.

Duluth's formal fashions in new spring wraps are ready, and these are exhibition days in the store that does most to set your fashions, and that sells more suits and wraps in the Northwest—barring perhaps one or two stores in the twin cities. Many of the handsomest wraps for the spring season arrived within the past few days and are now being displayed—some of them are taken from Paris styles—some from Berlin—all have been modified to suit your ideas of style, as we learn them, modified, perhaps, and incorporated with style lines abroad that seem to harmonize. All the styles have some reason for existence—beauty—some like the Gibson jacket, some the Gibson blouse, some like the coffee coat—some the Paletot—and many favor the "Monte Carlo"—and long wrap—of cloth or silk—these are formal opening days—come and see! A very hearty welcome is extended to the public to attend.

Beautiful Silk Waists For Easter.

The display in this department gives everyone an opportunity of seeing just what is up to date. It also tends to convince shoppers that separate waists are at the height of their popularity. They are such works of art that well-gowned women are first purchasing waists and then getting skirts to harmonize. Here they are—fresh point, ribbon, duchesse satin, crepe de chene, peau de cygne, Lorraine, liberty satin, moire velour and tulle cloth. At $36.00 Black Taffeta, tucked front and back—a waist regularly sold at $5, which we offer as a special at $3.95. $2.00—Very dressy Silk Waist, in Black and colors. Neatly trimmed and made in the newest Parisian style. A good $2.50 value. $4.00—In heavy Tulle and Peau De Soie, in Black and colors, made in the Gibson style and tucked yoke effects, trimmed with crocheted ruffles. A regular $8.50 value.

Fancy Evening Waists.

We are showing a large line of these suitable for party or theater wear and it will pay you to come in and look them over. $18.00—In Black and White Peau De Soie and lace insertion. Our White silk and rich, dressy waist, and could not be duplicated less than $25.00. $2.00—An extremely dressy Waist in white, made of tulle chiffon, made in blouse effect and trimmed with rich applique and blue panne velvet. A good $20.00 value. These are only two of the many things which we are showing in these dainty waists and we can give them to you $10 to $25.

Easter Veilings.

The newest thing is a Double Veil—white ground of rather closer net, with a black overveil in large and novel blocks, with here and there a dot. It produces a pleasing gray effect. But this gray effect is also produced in a Single Veiling by the combination of Black and White threads. These are in open and close patterns, showing single double and cluster threads, some with dots. "Horse-hair" Veils—so called on account of its wiry, lustrous nature—are in many odd designs. Veiling in all Black, all White combinations. Navy and Brown—see a yard. Chiffon Veilings in new designs of embroidered ruffles, dots and figures in self color—see and see a yard. Fancy Mesh Veils, Black, with all sized Chenille dots and plain—25c, 35c, 45c and up to see a yard.

Women's Belts.

A large, handsomely modeled gift or steel ornament in the back—two bands of stitched satin running to a common point in front and ending in the two halves of the buckle—this is the new Gordie Belt you are hearing about. But this is only one of the many effects in Belts and Girdles that have been brought out this spring. Black and white is a favorite combination; and jet and steel beads and ornaments are used profusely.

THE DIFFERENT KINDS—WITH HINTS OF PRICES.

We sell natty blouse suits of Venetian Cloth, collar and reverses faced with moire and edged with Persian braid, in blue and black, at $19.50 that women folks (who have looked around), tell us is equal to garments offered by other stores in this city at $25.

We sell beautiful tailored suits of splendid cloth, suit SILK LINED THROUGHOUT with excellent taffeta, at $25.00, the style and workmanship of which is first-class, and are quite safe in saying that the equal of this garment cannot be bought in this city for less than $30.00 to $32.50.

Or, if you care to pay more—say $30.00, $35.00 or $40.00—we sell beautiful suits, up to the top notch of style, in the various cloths and in the best spring shades, beautifully trimmed—from these prices on to $45.00, $50.00, $55.00, $65.00 and on up to $125.00.

We show magnificent costumes in very finest fabrics, and of high-class workmanship. Novelties of which we have but one of a kind and entirely exclusive to our firm.

IN JACKETS, LONG COATS OF CLOTH AND SILK, AND WRAPS OF EVERY SORT, press start at about $6.75 for a splendid short jacket, of good quality black worsted cloth or tan covert, in all sizes—then by one and two dollars, you can go as high as $100, according to your taste.

Then, in separate skirts, start at $6.75 for skirts made of good, heavy cheviot, with graduated flounce and band of moire.

Or, at $8.50, fine black cheviot, five-core skirt with graduated flounce, trimmed with rich braid and tucked at top.

Or, $15.00 for a rich tailor-made skirt, lined drop skirt, made in fine imported cheviot—a regular $20.00 value.

Or, $16.50 to $25.00 for skirts made in the finest sharkskin weave, Etamines and Granite Cloth—silk drop skirts and trimmed with narrow bands of taffeta and antique moire.

From these prices you can go by $1 and $2 to $75.00 for fine net skirts over drops of silk.

We also show some remarkably good values in misses' and children's suits and coats, such as the following:

Pretty tailor-made suits at $5.75 to $7.50, just like mamma's—in all the pretty colors suitable for the little ones.

Box Coats, Raglans, in cloth and silk—from $3.75 to $14.00.

$4.75—A jaunty Box Coat, double breasted, velvet collar and cuffs, made of broadcloth in red, blue, castor cadet and the golf red—regular $5.50 value, tomorrow $4.75.

These are but instances of what you can get of us, not to say a word about the BEAUTIFUL SILK WAISTS that we have received, especially for Easter and the hundreds of other things, throughout the store that are ready, such as—EASTER GLOVES—in the new spring shades.

THE BEAUTIFUL DRESS TRIMMINGS which are the talk of Duluth.

THE NEW RIBBONS, in fancy or plain effects.

THE NEW SPRING HOSIERY, in the fancy effects for spring or plain—for women and children.

THE NEW SPRING UNDERWEAR for women and children.

THE NEW NOVELTIES IN WOMEN'S NECKWEAR for Easter.

THE NEW MUSLIN UNDERWEAR; and spring models in CORSETS.

The new novelties in belts, of moire, silk or leather, or new belting—new belt buckles—brooches—sash pins—chatelaine bags—and a very large line of hand bags, the swiftest out. These, together with our line of high-class silks and dress goods, laces, embroideries, Oriental rugs, draperies, lace curtains, etc., makes the stock one of the choicest and most complete in the Northwest.

We welcome you to the store tomorrow, and come as early in the day as possible to avoid the extremely busy afternoons. The store, commencing Monday night, will close at 6, instead of 5:30 p. m., and will close at 10 p. m. Saturdays, instead of 9:30.

Misses' New Spring Suits and Coats.

Beautiful styles for Misses and Young Ladies are ready—Suits, Separate Skirts—Jackets, Raglans and Silk Coats—Most of the approved styles are the blouse or Eton effects—The impress of the "Gibson girl" is shown in adroitly broad to the shoulders of the smart tailored suits. Properly proportioned by an expert, the effect is not clumsy. But not every maker is successful in stopping short of top-heaviness. A well-approved sleeve has a silk puff from beneath elbow to the wrist—another variation of the bishop sleeve and a very pretty style.

Strappings of moire or taffeta are used in various designs on jackets and skirts, a trimming also much in vogue in older styles for which. Materials? First choice is among canvas weaves, etamines and the new sharkskin etamine. Colors most wanted are castor, blue and black. Will you look at these?

$15.00—A pretty Jaunty Blouse Suit in black Etamine, silk lined blouse—a good $25.00 value.

$17.50—Jaunty Eton Blouse Suit in black Etamines, French Cloth, Venetians, Cheviots, in blues, tans, grays, browns; jacket and skirt trimmed in the latest styles—a good $25.00 value.

$21.50—Natty Eton Suits in all the newest weaves and trimmed with Moire or Silk bands; jacket lined; skirt good full calico lining, in castors, browns, tans, grays, blacks.

Children's Wraps and Coats.

Novelties for the little folks as well as for the big are here in good numbers. Styles that are jaunty and girlish, designed by makers who make garments for children. These are hints.

LONG BLACK SILK WRAPS that envelop the dear little bodies completely; jacket and skirt trimmed with lace—from $5.50, $10.00 and $12.50.

The Foremost Millinery of the City.

Out of a score of millinery openings held today the styles shown here have taken precedence over them all—and this is not merely our "say-so"—it's simply the judgment of some hundreds of discriminating women who have been to all the places and have seen best to get their new hat here. And even if you are not quite ready to get your hat, you'll find it wise to come and see these best styles—then you'll know where to come when you are ready. The true touch to millinery elegance is here—as nowhere else.

The best ideas of the famous Parisian artists—such as Caroline Reboux, Miss Lewis, Camille Roger, Esther Meyer and Cartier—are here in the original Americanized or Duluthized form.

The feature of the DuBarry hats is the veil that serves both as a veil and as a trimming for the hat.

The Continental is an adaptation of the Tricorne. It's the most favored and will have the most popularity of them all.

Flowers will be lavishly used this season: loads of them. In fact one of the hats, the Dolly Varden, is a flower garden in miniature; and that same Dolly Varden shape is one of the most fetching ones of the entire show.

As for colors—It's a question of individual taste and becomingness—but among the leading favorites will be the soft shades of pink linen and much black and white—also pearl will be largely used.

Come tomorrow or any day thereafter. The imported hats range in price from $25 to $45—but we are showing some beautiful styles in New York and Freimuth makes at $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

Phipps & Atchison
Tailor Made Hats. This label is the hallmark of style and the guarantee of quality. We are showing many exclusive styles in the best make of ladies' hats.

Elegant Silk Waists and Fashionable Dress Skirts; Handsome Silk Paletots, Raglans, Jackets—also a sumptuous display of Rich Silken Fabrics and Dress Textiles—A beautiful array of Exquisite Laces, Appliques and Fancy Trimmings.

The Spirit of Easter and Spring pervades the store—on every hand—at every turn—from every shelf—on every counter. The store itself has taken on a new and gorgeous dress for the occasion. On the street and windows—those masterpieces of decorative art—are telling their convincing story of this Festival of Fashion—Within, the interior decorations present their pleasing spectacle. Yet the palms, the clinging vines and swinging festoons of green flowers are the only settings for the goods. And such goods. "In all the years that this house has been in business it never has had such a lavish array of magnificent Merchandise as at this time." The opening is general throughout the store—with special emphasis perhaps on Millinery and Costume departments. The invitation is broad and includes all, and the welcome is for all. RUSSIA'S TROUBLES

Attempt to Be Made to Open Educational Institutions.

If Not Successful They Will Remain Closed Until Fall.

Nineteen Ecclesiastical Seminaries Have Recently Been Closed.

St. Petersburg, March 21.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—An attempt will be made to reopen the St. Petersburg university and, it is supposed, other higher educational institutions, on Monday, March 10. If it proves a failure the university authorities say no further attempt will be made until the autumn, perhaps even longer. The matter was discussed between students to whom special invitations were sent and the representatives of the faculty. The students desiring admittance were required to sign a pledge that they would attend no illegal meetings or participate in any disorders. It is doubtful if the experiment will succeed, many students declared immediately after signing, that they regarded it as a promise under constraint and that they had no intention of keeping it.

The fermentation has entered the ecclesiastical seminaries and it is said that fifteen of them have been closed. It is understood that there is only a remote connection between the trouble in these institutions and the secular schools. The complaints of the future priests are purely domestic.

Several incidents have lately thrown doubt upon the wisdom of the government in sending its "politically and trustworthy" elements to the rural districts. It would appear that the latter are making rapid progress in assimilating the doctrines of the new residents. The following incident which occurred at Pskov, and which is related on the basis of two separate private letters, is perhaps characteristic: St. Petersburg exiles are living at Pskov, a town of about 50,000 inhabitants, in the agricultural south. Previous to their arrival it was regarded as a typical commonplace place, the population being mainly distinguished for illiteracy. During a representation in the local theater a few days ago, some one rose in the balcony and shouted: "Long live Count Tolstoy, the excommunicated!" The cry was taken up with other persons in different parts of the house and the play came to a standstill. The police finally cleared the balcony, and the same evening arrested all the exiles in their homes, and then lodged in a frail jail with common criminals. They demanded the reason of their arrest and an immediate hearing, but received no satisfaction. They thereupon determined to refuse food in order to force concessions, but finding famine monotonous after thirty-six hours, began a riot. How the affair ended seems uncertain. One account says all the common criminals who joined the political offenders, escaped. Great precautions against popular demonstrations on March 3, the anniversary of peasant emancipation, were made by the local authorities everywhere. Unusual tactics were employed at Moscow, where the head of the political police at Moscow, has made the working men of that city and of several adjacent provinces his special care for a year or more. He has gained the government's consent to a policy of constant surveillance. The workingmen's associations under police supervision. On the anniversary he arranged a monster demonstration of the workers in honor of the czar, emperor. There was an imposing parade dignitaries to the Alexander II monument and religious services for 500 workers were held in the numerous churches of the Kremlin. Delegates of the workers laid a silver and a floral wreath on the base of the monument.

THE DAKOTAS.

Jury Found Hill Guilty After Eighteen Hours Deliberation.

NORTH DAKOTA. Fargo—It required eighteen hours for the jury in the Hill case to reach a verdict. Hill is landlord of a hotel at Leonard in this county and was charged with violating the prohibition law. The jury finally returned a verdict of guilty. A stay of proceedings was granted for ten days and Hill is held without bail. The attorney will probably appeal the case to the supreme court.

The state supreme court begins the March term here Tuesday. Justice Young has just returned from a trip to the springs in Indiana and Justice Wallin and Morgan have been down in Florida since the close of the long term at Duluth. There will be an examination of young attorneys for admission to the bar and several important cases are to be considered.

For some months Wong Sing, a Chinese, has been nominally in the local jail pending a hearing on the charge of illegally entering the United States. He claimed to have resided in this country sixteen years, and to be on his way back from a trip to China. He spoke English fluently and was allowed unaided to go to the county jail, where United States prisoners are kept. He had a hearing before Judge Amidon, who was not convinced by Sing's story and ordered his deportation to jail, but seemed to have imbibed some of the methods of the Americans and went the other way. He has not yet been apprehended. The Chinaman had $50 on his person, and may succeed in reaching Chicago. It is thought he might have returned to Canada, preferring to live there to going back to China.

SOUTH DAKOTA. Deadwood—The office building at the Gilt Edge mine in Strawberry, which was entered recently and several hundred dollars' worth of material taken, including the assayer's supplies and appliances. The assayer's scales were demolished and other articles that could not well be carried away were also wrecked. The amount of the checks forged by John H. McLaughlin, late foreman of the Titanic Mining company, has been made good with the Titanic company. By McLaughlin and his friends, and the charge against him has been dismissed. He confessed the forgeries, and said he was under the influence of opium at the time and not responsible for his actions. The checks had been given by McLaughlin to the treasurer of the company to pay off the miners.

Aberdeen—News has been received here of the death by fire of Everett, a blacksmith residing here many years, but later living on an island between Nebraska and South Dakota, got drunk and crossed the Missouri river in a skiff after dark in a blizzard. He became wet through, lost his way after crossing and hunters, frozen stiff. Surgeons amputated both legs, one arm and part of the other hand.

IN MICHIGAN.

Marquette—The largest mass of native copper ever encountered in any mine in the Lake Superior district, or of the world, has been discovered in the ninth level of B shaft at the Michigan mine. The miners have not yet ascertained the dimensions of the gigantic piece of red metal, but the mass has already been found to be twenty-three feet in length, that being as far as the drift has been extended alongside it, ten feet in width and several feet in thickness. The mass is much larger than the last one which was found at the mine a few weeks ago. It will take some time to get the mass which will have to be cut into ten pieces, to be taken to the surface.

Champion—The Milwaukee company's round house here was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. One of the South Shore company's passenger locomotives was badly damaged. The estimated loss is $10,000.

Ingham—Ex-Mayor William Andrews had Dr. H. N. Melchow, who conducts a drug business here, arrested on the charge of slandering Melchow is a candidate for mayor on the labor ticket, and at a meeting of that party last Tuesday evening he attacked Andrews, charging him with crookedness during his administration. He said he had solicited bribes from the mayor and owners of slot machines operating in this city. Melchow has furnished bonds and a preliminary hearing will take place next Thursday.

Sault Ste. Marie—The city ordinance which provides for a license fee of $25 per day for persons who establish themselves in the street and hawk or try goods for sale has been declared invalid by Circuit Judge Storey. The court held that the regulation was unreasonable and void because of the heavy license charged. The case will be appealed.

One of the largest ice rinks in the country is to be built at the Soo this year by the curling club, at a cost of about $200.

Architects have already been asked for plans. The general scheme includes a truss roof, a central hockey arena, an outer skating course, galleries, a dining room and the usual dressing rooms and office. It is the intention of the club to install a heating plant in order that the water used in flooding the rink may be flowed on, not a new idea in rink making in the upper peninsula. Another new idea will be not ventilators, which will keep the air in the rink dry at all times. The central hockey arena will be 180 feet in length by sixty-eight feet in width. At either side will be dimensions of the skating place of red metal, but the mass has already been found to be twenty-three feet in length, that being as far as the drift has been extended alongside it, ten feet in width and several feet in thickness. The mass is much larger than the last one which was found at the mine a few weeks ago. It will take some time to get the mass which will have to be cut into ten pieces, to be taken to the surface.

Adelmer Snyder Finds Many Duluthians In the Far West.

Large Number In Timber Business on Upper Coast.

William McKinley Making a Good Thing In Gold Mining.

Adelmer Snyder has returned from a trip to the Pacific coast and to the Thunder Mountain region, where gold discoveries have created such a sensation. Mr. Snyder found a great many Duluth men in the Portland timber region, and some well in the flood of the Thunder Mountain boom.

"Out in Portland," said Mr. Snyder, "one meets so many Duluth men that he wonders for a moment if he hasn't been suddenly transported back to the Zenith City. Duluth lumbermen and lumbermen are getting interested in Oregon timber to a surprising extent. They are locating blocks of timber. They are estimating timber, and they are cutting timber and manufacturing it."

Since Chapman, who was a more familiar figure in Duluth a few years ago than he is now, is carrying on extensive logging operations in the Portland region, it is not surprising that he is well known in Duluth. Chapman, formerly of Duluth, is now in the Portland region, where he is well known. Chapman, formerly of Duluth, is now in the Portland region, where he is well known. MAKES A CHANGE Places of Analyzing Ore Changed By the Steel Trust.

Three Offices Now, Are Located at Hibbing, Eveleth and Ely.

Importance of Work of the Chemists Who Analyze Ore.

The United States Steel corporation has been making some very radical and important changes in the location of its laboratories, and now all the analyses of its ores are being made at Hibbing and Eveleth, on the Mesaba range, and at Ely on the Vermilion.

This has necessitated the closing of two of the testing stations, one at Duluth and the other at Two Harbors. B. B. Green, who for many years has been the chemist for the Minnesota Iron company, at Two Harbors, has been transferred to Eveleth, where he will make all the needed chemical determinations for the Fayal group of mines. This group includes the big Fayal mine, the Auburn, Adams, Spruce and Genoa mines, all operated by the steel corporation.

Hibbing has another laboratory at which the ores from the Pillsbury group are tested. Many of the largest proportions on the Mesaba range are included in this Pillsbury group, and this station is one of the most important of the three.

Ely is now the headquarters for assaying the ores of the Vermilion range. There all the product of the Chandler, Pioneer, Slaves, Shiley, Zenith and Minnesota mines is tested, and Chemist Most is kept on the jump. From this time on no more sampling and testing will be done at the shipping points, but every trainload—in fact every carload—will have its "character" sent with it to the docks.

Those who are not actively engaged in the iron ore business have, for the most part, but a faint idea of the tremendous importance of the chemical determination of the physical structure of the ores. It may be that upon this everything depends. In these days no furnace man used a "straight" ore. He knows better now and he blends the different grades of stuff with a view to obtaining the best possible results at a minimum cost. For instance, the magnificent hard ore from the Minnesota mines is too costly a product to be used alone. Its constituent properties make it valuable for a "mix." The exact percentage of this superior ore used varies with the grade of the stuff, and in different operations, but it is very generally used to bring inferior grades up to standard.

This being the case it may be easily seen how highly important it is for the ore producer to know exactly what his ore contains, as upon this not only depends the price, but the sale of the product itself.

So important is the chemical composition of iron and steel considered, that even foundry pig is sold subject to chemical analysis, and every ton of iron or steel that goes into structural work has to give certain results in the laboratory before it is allowed to be used.

These being the facts, it will be easily seen how vital to the business of the big corporation is the scientific work performed by its expert assayers at Ely, Hibbing and Eveleth.

PANTON WHITE COMPANY

THE BIG GLASS BLOCK STORE DULUTH, MINNESOTA

Grand Formal Easter Opening

Continues Tomorrow and Wednesday.

Fashion, secretly anticipating the coming of Spring, has been making wonderful preparations for this joyous event. Modiste and costume-maker have been busy for months past carrying out her orders to produce hats and gowns exceeding in beauty any previous effort and the best ideas from the court of reigning dame fashion are expressed through the beautiful hats, costumes, suits, separate garments, neckwear, shoes, gloves, hosiery, lingerie, silks, dress fabrics of all kinds that we are now exhibiting.

A tour of our store at this time affords an opportunity to acquire knowledge of the new styles, and the trend of fashion, and we again extend to everyone a cordial invitation to visit us. You are at liberty to look to your heart's content, and instructions are given to salespeople not to importune sales.

The millinery department is commanding no end of admiration and praise. We have faithfully interpreted the vagaries of fashion, and the versatility of ideas so bewitchingly expressed fascinates every visitor. The styles which will predominate are large toques on the Continental order, the variations of this tri-cornered effect in the popular Marquis shape, and the new "Santos Dumont," a stunning and extremely stylish trimmed turban. The effects are charming.

Black and white will be much the vogue, while blue will receive more than its share of prominence. The materials employed are braids, laces and thin materials, which are skillfully wrought into particularly light and airy confections to conform with the thin spring and summer dresses.

Fruits are the fad of the hour, and are much employed in trimmings. Paris gives preference to clusters of raisins, which are strikingly realistic with their shrunken surface veiled in a mist of whiteness.

The styles exhibited here are different in many respects from those to be found elsewhere, being exclusive, of our own originality, but always conforming strictly to certain basic ideas which Fashion lays down as correct. Our millinery is an exponent of dignified style and refined elegance, and this spring's exhibition is far in advance of any former season.

SUICIDE

Traceable to Poor Cooking, Says Mrs. Eve-line Cloak.

Versailles, Ky., March 24.—Mrs. Eve-line C. Cloak, Versailles, wants to lead a campaign for the education of all girls, rich and poor, in the art of cooking. "The cook question," she says, "is the most important one now, before the world."

"Bad cooking," said Mrs. Cloak, "is responsible for most of the suicides and much of the crime that is committed in this country. The mind and the stomach are so closely allied that a deranged stomach makes a deranged brain."

To become a helpmate in the true Bible sense, every young woman, when she marries, should thoroughly understand cooking. There should be more cooking and less progressive card parties. I am glad to see that the queen of Italy has taught all three of her daughters practical cookery. This is a trait of nobility that Americans would do well to imitate.

"Unless there is a change for the better I don't know what the country is coming to. I look for an increase of suicides among men. And I don't blame the poor men, either."

Mrs. Cloak is one of the most prominent women of this city, and, though 50 years of age, is still very active. She is a descendant of Raleigh Chiles, of Virginia, who married Esther Ball, the aunt of George Washington. She is the widow of Dr. Burkitt Cloak.

Mrs. Cloak regards Mrs. Potter Palmer as the greatest woman Kentucky has ever produced, and she says that Mrs. Governor Beckham, "on account of her courageous stand in handling the punch bowl from social functions at the executive mansion," is entitled to rank as one of the state's heroines.

WILL VOTE IT DOWN

Commissioners Certain to Do That With Court House Proposition.

Range Members Want the Building Located Down Town.

Commissioners Generally Also Against Holding Special Election.

When the board of county commissioners holds its April session in a court of law, it will vote on a proposition to build a new court house. The proposition will be voted down by a large majority. Enough members of the county board have gone on record to insure the defeat of the resolution beyond much question. The range members will all vote against it, because they do not want to see any steps taken towards getting a new county building until it is assured that it is going to be built down town. They are also against the expense of a special election, and so are some of the other commissioners. It is figured that the special election would cost from $200 to $300.

One could reason why some of the commissioners will vote against the proposition is that no levy was made for this purpose, and if a special election were held the expense would have to come out of the revenue fund. This would leave a deficiency for other purposes, as the county levies were shaved rather close.

by this year. The commissioners figure that if that much money were used for a purpose not contemplated in the levy there would be a shortage in the time before this year's levies become due. The estimate of the board is based on the proposition that a new court house is needed, and that arrangements should be made as early as practicable to build one. When it comes to a vote the majority of the board, from the way the members talk now, will be in favor of having the court house down town instead of on the present site. If the present location is abandoned, under the terms of the deed by which the property is held, the site would have to be returned to the property to the county only so long as it is occupied for court house purposes. If the court house was moved, the probability is that the county would not only lose the ground, but the buildings upon it, including the jail.

The suggestion that the legislature be asked to take some action giving the title to the property to the county will be looked into thoroughly, and it is found to be practicable, steps along that line will be taken. If the county can get the title to the half block on which the court house and jail is located, it would be able to sell it for a good price, and the money could go a long way towards purchasing a new site down town. It is not at all probable that when it comes to building a court house no bonds whatever will be issued. There is a strong sentiment among some of the county commissioners and others against issuing any more bonds, and it may be that the board will adopt County Auditor Hildner's idea of levying a certain amount each year for a short time to raise the money to build a court house. By starting in with a small levy of half a mill, $50,000 could be raised the first year on the present valuation of $10,000,000. If the levy is raised to $100,000, $100,000 could be raised on a levy of half a mill. This could be increased to 1 mill the second year, and it would take but a short time to raise the needed amount, and the taxpayers would hardly feel it.

RATE ON IRON ORE

Independent Vesselmen Are Striving to Form Another Pool.

Bad Faith Is Charged Against Cleveland Men.

Chartered Ore at Eighty Cents After Declaring For Ninety.

It begins to look as though the efforts that have been made to form a pool of the vessel tonnage outside of the steel trust was in vain. These efforts have not ceased, but the condition of mind of some independent owners who have been hoodwinked is such that there is little hope of the pool going through at this late date.

The collapse of the vesselmen's combination in its fight with the steel trust over freight rates on iron ore has been quickly followed by a proposition to unite in a pool the controlling part of the ships outside of the steel trust and other iron mining companies, with headquarters at Cleveland. Offers have been made to vessel owners around the lakes to charter their boats at an agreed price to the pool if one is formed. Most of the big vessel owners in Cleveland are in the deal, and will form the executive committee of the combination.

Just what the latest effort to combat successfully the steel trust will amount to cannot yet be determined. Every effort is now being made to keep ships out of service until May 1, in order to lessen the carrying capacity of the lake fleets for the season. Owing to the inability of vesselmen generally to hold together it is not believed that any great amount of tonnage will remain tied to the docks all through April, but the starting of a good many ships until after April 20, may be secured.

The collapse of the combination, it is charged, was directly due to the bad faith of a number of Cleveland vessel owners. Everybody representing tonnage was at a conference at Cleveland in February, when it was solemnly agreed that nobody should take any ore for the season from the head of the lakes to Lake Erie for less than 30 cents per ton. There were some ten-derfeet in the conference, who believed that the agreement was worth something. They went on their way and refused all offers of 30 cents from the shipmen in the market.

They then suddenly discovered that every ton of 30-cent ore had been taken by the vesselmen who had been loudest in proclaiming their faith in 30-cent ore at the conference. They were new to the business, and their indignation at being thus sold out was regarded as excessively ludicrous by the old-timers who had been playing the same game on the camp of the steel trust, and laid down their arms. They took all the ore they needed at 75-cents per ton, and every boat they represented will have steam up, ready to start, when news comes that the ice embargo has been raised.

With so large a contingent out of the field, conservative vesselmen do not see how it is possible to form a pool for this season at so late a date. Outsiders are particularly chary of tying up their tonnage at the mercy of the Cleveland vesselmen, who so meekly broke the 50-cent agreement.

Capt. Wolvin returned from his Eastern trip yesterday. He says that he chartered a number of boats at 75 cents a ton and that that is the rate which the Pittsburgh Steamship company, the United States Steel corporation's vessel company, will make this year. He says the company's vessels will be ready to start out April 1, although he is not prepared to say just what day navigation will open.

Vesselmen down the lakes are considerably interested in knowing who broke the rates by taking the 1,200,000 tons that Capt. Wolvin chartered. Capt. Richardson and Capt. Davidson had been accused of it, but those charges have been denied. The Peavey boats took 400,000 tons, but this is easily explained by the fact that Capt. Wolvin is manager of the Peavey line.

The grain shippers from the head of the lakes are beginning to look around for some tonnage. They offered 2 1/2 cents Saturday to Port Huron, but found no takers. The offers to Lake Erie are still on the basis of 2 1/2 cents, which means 84 cents on ore. The chartering is slow.

The coal men are not in position to talk yet. They have brought no coal to the lakes for shipment, and have not fixed prices, nor will they do so before Monday.

As soon as Stone-Ordean-Wells company started to handle the Duluth matches, they were ordered to deliver all trust matches on hand to a rival concern.

AVENGED MOTHER

Brother Slays Brother In an Albany, N. Y., Street.

John De Tierre Fires Seven Shots Into Prostrate Form.

Places Card on Dead Man's Head to Explain Motive.

Albany, N. Y., March 24.—John de Tierre, 45 years old, on Saturday afternoon shot and instantly killed his brother William, 35 years of age, in Hamilton street, near Dover, one of the quiet residence thoroughfares of the city.

John stood over the prostrate form of his brother in the roadway and fired bullets into his head until a pool of blood formed about the slayers' feet. Then he said: "Now, get your reward in heaven; my task is done."

He then stooped down and pasted on the dead man's forehead, in the blood flowing from his head, a card, reading:

Remember the fatal wedding and THE MOTHER'S HEART.

The last three words were shouted. This told the motive for the shooting, the slayer declaring that his victim had broken the heart of their mother.

The killing was the result of troubles which have been aired for a long time in the police and probate courts. The men were children of Constantine de Tierre. When Constantine died it was found that in his will the entire estate of $30,000, with the exception of a house in which the wife lived, was left to William. John de Tierre, who took his mother's side in the case, and a daughter were disinherited.

The brothers engaged Saturday afternoon in an argument outside a news room on Swan street. John pulled out a revolver and fired at William, who ran. John firing repeatedly. In front of the Albany card and paper factory William fell on his back. The revolver carried by John was empty by this time, and he calmly reloaded and fired at least seven more shots into the body. A big crowd in the meanwhile had gathered, but no one had the courage to interfere with the infuriated man. It was then that the slayer took the card from his pocket and pasted it on his stricken brother's forehead. John stood by the side of his victim until a policeman came along, and he went quietly along to the Fourth precinct station. At the station house, when asked if he was sorry his brother was dead, John de Tierre, without a quiver, answered:

"O, no; Gold told me to do that. He was not kind to his mother; he did not treat her right, and any man who doesn't treat his mother right ought not to live."

He said he was not feeling well and

Paine's Celery Compound

Has the Approval and Indorsement of the Best People As a Life Giver.

No Other Spring Medicine Can Give Such Cheering and Happy Results to Sick and Discouraged People.

As spring ushers in, the physically weak, sick and diseased realize that their condition is one of extreme danger. It is a well-known fact that while the trees bud and dress anew, thousands of men and women are cut off by the common diseases of life. This fact should arouse the attention of the ailing and sick to the folly of underestimating and neglecting the illness that make life miserable at this season.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound at this time will save many a precious life. The great compound equalizes and calms all the nervous tissues and induces the body to take on firm and solid flesh. It purifies the blood, as is plainly shown by the rapid clearing of the skin of all evidence of bad humors within. It regulates the organs of digestion; it gives natural sleep and sweet rest.

All our best physicians recognize Paine's Celery Compound as the one scientific spring remedy, and it is universally prescribed by them wherever there is need of a vigorous and prompt restoring to health and strength. The use of one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound will bring the happiest results to all weak, broken down and despondent sufferers, and will quickly restore the confidence of doubters and unbelievers. Paine's Celery Compound has the approval and indorsement of clergymen, professional men, generally, judges, members of parliament, merchants and the best people. Test its virtues, dear sufferer; it cannot disappoint you.

HAVE A GOOD THING.

W. T. Bailey Tells of the Continental Mine.

W. T. Bailey returned last night from Port Hill, Idaho, where he is engaged in mining in company with Capt. Harry Roberts and several other Duluth capitalists. They are owners of the Continental Mining company.

"We have done something," Mr. Bailey said today, "that has never been done before in the history of mining in Idaho. On the seventh day of last November we started to cut out and build a thirty-three mile road, over which to haul ore to the railroad. We have the road finished and have already shipped over 200 tons of Galena to the smelter at Everett, Wash. Such a record has never before been made in four months. "We have a magnificent property and are getting into first class shape. The vein is six feet wide and remarkably uniform. Our shaft is going down fast and we also have two tunnels driven, about 400 feet each, into the mountain side. Capt. William Roberts has active charge of the mining operations. "While traveling around over there I came across John Edson, who has a division of the Great Northern road to look after. He is delighted with the country and declares that he never wants to come East any more."

Body Brought Here.

The body of the late Mrs. Frank L. Dorel was brought home today by her husband from Knoxville, Tenn., where she died last week. A large number of her former friends and neighbors were waiting at the Omaha depot when the Chicago express pulled into the station. With a little delay as the body was transferred to the hearse that was in waiting and was taken direct to Forest Hill cemetery and placed in the mortuary chapel. The remains were accompanied to the cemetery by a large number of friends. The funeral services were held at Knoxville.

HIS HAND CRUSHED.

Morris Thomas Suffers a Severe Accident.

Morris Thomas, the contractor, is wearing his left hand in a sling, and he is thankful that he has what is left of the hand, although it is in a somewhat mutilated condition. Mr. Thomas is one of the firm that is engaged in blasting down the Point of Rocks at Fourteenth avenue west and last Friday he had his left hand caught in the sheave of a block and badly crushed. He lost the upper portion of one finger at the time, and another was so badly injured that amputation at the first joint was necessary. If all goes well, however, the remainder of his hand will eventually be saved.

A RECORD

Shown by the Wright-Clarkson Mercantile Co.

Prominent among the progressive business houses of Duluth is that of the Wright-Clarkson Mercantile company, wholesale grocers and importers, Michigan street and Fourth avenue west. The policy of the company is to carefully and thoroughly cover all its territories, and so well has this been done that the firm is now thoroughly established throughout the whole Northwest. Dating from the establishment of the business five years ago, each succeeding year has shown a steady and healthy increase in business, and an increase in the number of different commodities handled. During the past two years, especially the present quarters, have been found altogether inadequate to accommodate the large stocks carried and negotiations are now in progress to remodel the present plant along the additional fifty feet of frontage will be built on the east side of the present building, and two complete stories will be added to the entire plant, making 150 feet frontage on Michigan street, five stories high. The increased space will permit of a satisfactory and up-to-date arrangement of all the departments.

During the past two years the firm has been gradually working towards private ownership of labels. One of the most successful labels placed on the market is the Ivanhoe brand, covering various lines of syrups, spices and other commodities. Ivanhoe maple syrup is today recognized by the Duluth trade as the finest article in pure sap syrup ever offered in this market. Among other lines the firm has largely extended its tobacco and cigar business, and now controls some of the most popular cigars ever sold on the Duluth market. In clear Havana goods, the M. Stachelberg & Co.'s "La Fama," in fine cigars, are handled. These goods are found in all the first class hotels and club houses, and are immediately recognized by all lovers of clear Havana goods. For those who prefer domestic cigars, the firm distributes monthly in the neighborhood of 100,000 of the popular Tom Moore and Irving, another brand, distributed through this firm, is also gaining steadily in local favor.

AERIAL TORPEDO

Has Been Satisfactorily Tried at Stockholm.

New York, March 24.—According to news from Stockholm, experiments have been made at Marinha with the aerial torpedo, an invention of a Swedish commandant of artillery, named Unga, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. The results are said to have been excellent. The torpedo is kept secret, but it is said the machine is not only an engine of destruction but can be used for saving the lives of shipwrecked persons.

AT WEST DULUTH

Another very successful test of the McLaughlin car stake invention for logging cars was made at the Mitchell & McClure banking ground at the mill this morning. The parties who are interested in the new equipment have about completed their plans to place the attachment in the market. The first device was simply a car stake, but since then they have been experimenting with a safety chain attachment, and now the invention is said to make the unloading of a car of logs not only quick, but absolutely safe. Experiments have been made several times and the stake is about perfected. The car stake invention is bound to be a popular thing with the logging operators who are now hauling logs to the mills so heavily by rail. One lumberman said the other day that if the car stake invention proves all that its owners claim for it, it will result in a great saving of life, of time and of money. One logging firm is said to have employed this winter ten men and a team to provide the hardwood car stakes used in holding the logs on the cars brought down to Duluth. When the cars reach the banking ground the men cut away the stakes on one side, and cases have been numerous where the men have been caught by falling logs and injured. It is intended that all the unloading stakes on the other side of the car will be sent back to the loading ground, but such is rarely the case, the stakes are taken by people for wood.

WORKING THE CAMPAIGN. The anti-cigarette campaign is now well under way at West Duluth. Willis Brown, the national organizer of the anti-cigarette leagues, spoke at the West Duluth schools last Saturday and spent most of the day yesterday in holding meetings in the churches. In the local organization Miss Alice Grettum and Neil Buckley have been selected from the Longfellow school to circulate the pledges; Margaret Murray and Oscar Arundson, from the Fairmount school. Meetings, well attended, were held at six of the churches yesterday afternoon.

INSANITY FEARED. August M. Sundquist, of Raleigh street, has been taken into custody and will be examined today by Judge Bonham for insanity. Mr. Sundquist has shown no signs of violence, but his family was afraid that he would, and it was thought best to have him looked after. Saturday he wandered away from home and was found at Proctor-knot. When the officer went after him yesterday, Mr. Sundquist was engaged with a big stack of papers, claiming to figure over his accounts, and declaring that he had a son being thrown from a hand-car several years ago. Since that time he has been subject to spells of apparent insanity, during one of which he attempted suicide.

EGG NOG

An Easter Tale.

By Izora Chandler.

Away back in the time when knee breeches and bag wigs, pointed waists and petticoats of quilted satin were in fashion, there lived a crusty old king who had a child, not a child in the world except one sweet little princess granddaughter, whom he was determined to marry to the toothless old king of the next kingdom upon her sixteenth birthday.

Now, the little Princess and the King's handsome young surgeon were in love with each other. The surgeon was often tempted to put a few dark drops into the old King's medicine that would put him so fast asleep that he'd forget to wake. But you'll be glad to know that the young surgeon wasn't so wicked as all that.

Just about this time the Queen of the Fairies gave a snowy hen and a beautiful mountain goat to the crusty old King. The snowy hen laid an egg every morning that was like a great white pearl, and the milk of the mountain goat only filled a tiny silver bucket. It was rich and creamy. The Queen of the Fairies called it egg nog. She told the King that as long as he would eat the egg and drink the egg nog every morning he would continue to live; but that if he missed only one little day he would die.

So you can imagine that the King would permit no one but the Princess to milk the snowy hen from the goat or bring the egg and broil it for him. Every morning when the Princess went out to the royal stable she found the surgeon waiting for her, and they used to tell over a very few loving words.

This all happened in an enchanted time, when eggs had long, slender arms and legs outside of their shells, and when the quaint little silver bucket became alive as soon as ever the creamy egg nog entered it. So it was quite to be expected that while the surgeon milked the snowy hen, the egg nog would make eyes at Miss Nog in the bucket.

But, alas! The egg and the egg nog were most cruelly torn apart every day. The egg nog was borne out once to the King, who drank it quickly down, while the egg was broken and broiled.

Eastern morning came. The earth was very beautiful. There were birds and blossoms all about, and soft breezes from the South brought warm colors. The Princess and surgeon forgot to count the shining moments and stood hand-in-hand for a much longer time than usual.

When at last they parted the little Princess cried out in great fear that the egg nog, in an effort to kiss the snowy hen, had tumbled into the silver bucket and broken his silly crown.

There was no mending it. Even the King's surgeon could not separate the golden heart of the egg nog from the creamy heart of the egg nog. He tore his hair for a minute, then fell upon his knees.

"Have no fear, beloved Princess," he said, "all shall be well. I have cast away the pearly shell of the egg nog and carried the silver bucket to the castle, where you may find the egg nog together into a golden foam. He then sifted a few grains of sugar into it and added a delicate portion of rum, of which the crusty old King was altogether too fond, flocked the top with gilded nutmeg, carried the egg nog to the King and presented it to him upon a silver salver, which the handsome young surgeon held high above his head as he knelt before the King.

"Your Majesty," he said, "I have grieved to notice that your strength has been falling of late. As one who is responsible to the court for your health, I have earnestly sought for a life-giving draught. It is not well that you should lounge about the egg nog of the snowy hen and drink the egg nog of the mountain goat each by itself, but together, thus will your Majesty gain double strength."

The old King tasted the draught very daintily at first, then drank it greedily. He was so pleased with the taste that he could hardly wait for the next morning to come, when he could drink of it again. And he felt so much stronger that he at once summoned his Prime Minister and commanded that the betrothal of the Princess to the royal surgeon should be proclaimed.

So a little later on the happy people were married. After the Fairy Queen had taken back the snowy hen and the mountain goat, so that the crusty old King had to die, the two young people reigned over the gay little kingdom. And every Easter morning the whole court drank of a potion that was mixed by the royal hands. And what do you think the pretty Queen called the delicate potion?

Why, egg nog, to be sure.

An artist recently returned from abroad is responsible for this Whisper story. "The sometimes amiable J. McNeil had been invited to inspect a canvas by one of the younger impressionists. In character 'tells' Whistler's judgment was being passed, when the culprit (for such he had been made to feel) broke in with: 'Oh, it's only a potsherd—simply intended to keep the wolf from the door.' 'Ah, I see,' said Whistler, 'I suppose you hang it outside the door.'"

How Rabbits Saved Their Reputation

By WALTER W. STORMS.

Clearly, the rabbits were in dismay. There had been a fluttering of anxiety for several days, but as Easter approached the anxiety grew intense, until it became dismay, bordering upon consternation. The case was desperate, that was plain. Something had to be done.

What was the matter? Why, just this. Snow had fallen so late and had lain on the ground so long that the rabbits had not been able to get an egg. In fact, the hens themselves had not yet been out to look for eggs under the hedgerows and by the straw stacks where they might hide away an outdoor nest. The rabbits could never go to the barn and climb along beams and over the haymow where Katie and Alice and Ben went to hunt eggs. They simply could not, rabbits were made to run, not to climb.

Now, here it was the Wednesday before Easter and no eggs yet. Surely, there could be no mistaking the count: "The first Sunday after the first full moon after the spring equinox"—that was the rule; not a very easy rule for a rabbit to remember. But hadn't every rabbit said it over and over until it almost said itself? Wasn't it full moon on the 23d, and wouldn't that make Easter come on the 26th? And hadn't every rabbit kept his own score by nibbling notices on the bark of his favorite date tree? Besides all that, anyone could take a walk up and down the street in the town and tell by all the Easter cards in the shop windows. It was cold enough and snowy enough for midwinter, but by all the signs and the calendar, too, it was the middle of the week before Easter.

Perhaps you may think that it mattered very little to the rabbits whether they had colored eggs for the children or not. But it did matter a great deal. The children expected colored eggs, and not to find them was almost as bad as missing Santa Claus at Christmas. For many years the story about the rabbits had been told. It had come to be a legend. No matter how true it was; no matter if the rabbits did nothing more than just borrow the eggs and color them, the children believed the story, and ought to have the eggs; so the rabbits thought. The very pictures in the shop windows were a promise to the rabbits, and perhaps the less of the legend the children. Something must be done, and done at once. What should it be?

One rabbit, as it happened, was older than the rest. He was a kind of patriarch in his tribe. By his cunning and his wonderful speed he had evaded hunters and dogs and traps for several years. He knew almost everything about the rabbits, and perhaps the less of the legend the children. Something must be done, and done at once. What should it be?

One rabbit, as it happened, was older than the rest. He was a kind of patriarch in his tribe. By his cunning and his wonderful speed he had evaded hunters and dogs and traps for several years. He knew almost everything about the rabbits, and perhaps the less of the legend the children. Something must be done, and done at once. What should it be?

Saturday at the latest, and so the new nests would have to be made not later than Friday. It was plain that this would require a special order.

The patriarch sat with his head down between his front paws, looking hard at the ground. He had gotten as far as the "special order" in his plans, and was sticking there very fast, when he happened to think of an old red rooster up at the barn, almost, or quite as old as himself. The patriarch had, indeed, once given him a friendly warning about a very sly fox who had his eye on this identical barnyard, and, as a result of the warning, the whole chicken family had roosted high until the fox, with mingled hunger and disgust, had moved out of the neighborhood. Why should not this red rooster be willing now to do a good turn for the rabbits? He should at least have the chance.

Thursday proved even warmer than Wednesday had been. In the afternoon the patriarch went cautiously up along the south side of the hedge toward the barnyard. When he was near enough to see the eye of his friend, the rooster, he called out to him. "By good luck he had not long to wait. The old rooster soon perched himself on the top rail and gave a lusty crow. The patriarch thought the crowing was meant as a salute to him, but he was evidently mistaken. Not until the patriarch stood on his hind feet and motioned with his right ear did Chanticleer seem to see him. Even then he looked carefully and cautiously, turned his head first to one side, then to the other. At last he recognized the patriarch, and, tipping himself off the fence, he started down to where the venerable rabbit sat.

The tale of distress was told as briefly as possible, and Chanticleer, seeing that the hedgerow was dry in places, promised to make some nests himself the very next day and see that there could be no fun in finding white eggs. The children could find them almost any day. But colored eggs? There was but one time in all the year for them, and that was Easter morning. The patriarch's head was in a whirl. In another minute he would have fainted, but the rooster said something about paint.

"Paint?" stammered the patriarch, in despair. "Don't you know that a rabbit cannot possibly color an egg as eggs? There was but one time in all the year for them, and that was Easter morning. The patriarch's head was in a whirl. In another minute he would have fainted, but the rooster said something about paint."

Then the rooster stood for quite a while with his head down low and his eyes almost closed. When he spoke finally it was to say that as a last resort they could paint the eggs! It was a rash thing to propose, but he really thought a good deal of the patriarch, and desired, if possible, to help him out of this predicament.

So he told Bunny where to find paint of all colors in the paint shop, showed him how to get into the hen roost and where he would find the faithful biddies roosting obligingly low, with their heads carefully tucked under their wings. Then, explaining how he himself would surely be suspected if seen prowling around at night, Chanticleer left everything to the rabbit and strolled back to the barnyard by a roundabout way, looking as unconcerned as last summer's scarecrow. There was much wonder Saturday morning to find among the flock red hens, blue hens, green hens and yellow hens stepping around the barnyard. The biddies appeared rather proud than nervous if it were their own fault. Chanticleer kept the secret faithfully. He kept his promise, too, laughing and shouting as the rabbits would scamper away. And the patriarch? Well, the children had a glad Easter morning, and the reputation of the rabbits was safe.

EASTER LILIES

Beautiful Appearance of the Fields in Bloom.

New York, March 24.—To so great an extent has the demand for the Easter lily grown that it is farmed on an extensive scale in Bermuda, its home in the Western continent.

Originally, this beautiful flower came from China, where it was known as the "Bak-hap," or "lily of a hundred fields," so called from its luxuriant growth, and also used as an article of food.

It was afterward domesticated in Japan, where it found a home peculiarly adapted to its development, and where gardeners, skilled in all the arts by which the loveliest exotics were brought to perfection, improved it in many ways.

For many years European florists were in the habit of getting through the Dutch and English merchants occasional supplies of the wonderful bulb, but no one seems to have thought it worth while to try to raise the lilies in the parts of Southern Europe or America suitable for its cultivation, until John Harris, a Philadelphia florist, conceived the idea of developing the flowers for the American market, if they could be grown successfully in Bermuda.

The first crop raised from Japanese bulbs, demonstrated the possibility of this, and soon the good people of Bermuda, who had thought onions to be the only special crop that their climate was adapted for, were raising hundreds of thousands of lilies.

The lily developed in Bermuda is a decided variation, from its Japanese prototype, known scientifically as the Lilium longiflorum, and in deference to its first developer is called the Lilium Harrisii.

The Bermuda flowers are more robust and, therefore, better adapted for use in this climate than are those raised from the Japanese bulbs, for it is known that although millions of lilies are raised in Bermuda yearly and the market for the lilies is almost entirely confined to the United States, the vast proportion of the blossoms are raised by florists here from the bulbs imported from Bermuda.

Therefore lily farming in Bermuda resolves itself almost entirely into the raising of bulbs for export and in order that these may attain greater perfection the flowers grown in the fields are allowed to be sacrificed. Lily culture has proved a profitable and pleasant occupation in Bermuda for many of the owners of choice farms. Since the introduction of the bulbs by Mr. Harris, the exports have steadily increased, high-water mark having been reached in 1885, when the Easter demand led to the exportation of upwards of 3,000,000 bulbs. About 250,000 of these went to Europe, mostly to London.

Notwithstanding the large demand for this Easter luxury, fortunes are not made so rapidly in lily farming as one might imagine. Three years are required to produce a lily bulb of the proper dimensions required for export purposes. The minimum measure required is a circumference of five inches. The bulbs are divided into three classes in the course of cultivation, which are known technically as "fives to sevens," "sevens to nines," and "nines to eleven." These terms signify the approximate number of blossoms which the bulbs may be expected to bear when developed in American greenhouses. Some of the largest bulbs will bear as many as sixteen blossoms.

During recent years there has been some importation of lily bulbs from Japan to Bermuda. In the belief that by blending some of the original stock with the Lilium Harrisii new strength might be infused into the stock. Since these bulbs came over, a peculiar sickness has been noted among the flowers, which some growers, rightly or wrongly, have attributed to the introduction of the Oriental bulb.

The sickness has caused a little disturbance in the industry, and some growers instead of relying on the smaller bulbs for raising their crop to meet the demand this season, have been husbanding the large bulbs, which they consider harder, fearing that there may be a spread of the indisposition among the bulbs. This may have the effect of sending lilies up to a fancy price this year, if the demand is by any means abnormal.

Some 200 farmers are now devoted to the cultivation of the lily in Bermuda. Owing to the absence of frost and the peculiarly moist, hot climate of the islands, the lily will grow and thrive at any season. October is the regularly recognized planting time, and the only labor subsequently involved is to keep the ground clear of weeds. The rest depends upon the necessary proportion of sunshine and rain.

WHY BUNNIES BRING THE EASTER EGGS.

There was once a naughty Bunnio, Who was always being "funny." And kept the land about him in a constant state of awe. His father and his mother These pranks would try to cover. To keep him out of prison and the clutches of the law.

On one morning bright and early, When the cops were getting early, He started to discover what and mischievous he could do. Soon he saw a blackbird's nest, And he could not eat or rest. Until he had devoured the eggs therein a lovely dark sea-blue.

He was so pleased at his joking That he said: "I'll round up joking And ask my little Bunnio friends to help me gather more. So they stole his eggs galore And put them by in store. Till all the nests were empty and the birds were threatening war."

Then a burly Bunnio "cooper" Said he'd put a stopper To such surreptitious as were never heard before. So much rather than get caught, These bold robbers straightaway sought A man who took the eggs to town and sold them in a store.

Now this raised an awful clatter; All their kin began to chatter. And said in about such pretty eggs a great and mighty sin. But the hands made it seem There was money in the scheme. So for wealth and sordid profit all rabbits now join in.

So all this explains the habit Why eggs are bought by a rabbit And given little boys and girls on East or every year. And the lesson seems to show, It was all a case of "dibs." Yet eggs and little Bunnies white have found their proper sphere.

ANNA'S EASTER DREAM.

When little Anna went to sleep Upon the eve of Easter Day, She dreamed of candy eggs a heap, And frisky, briskly larks at play. Plump, plump, plump, with a bow, Stood smiling on the counterpane. And Ducky Daddies, wondering how, Was at the foot just to explain.

Three baby ducks in noisy play, Who never thought to pardon beg, Cried "Quack! Quack! Quack! Quack! Quack! Quack!" And then tobogganed down an egg.

A rooster, and a hen on nest, Exclaimed "Please put us in the rhyme, For we are doing our level best In working up the Easter time!"

Five bunnies, each with eyes so pink, And ears so long they flapped like wings, Said: "After all, do you not think That we are cunning little things?"

Two larks like that which Mary had, That frolicked as all larks will do, Said: "We are not considered bad—And don't forget, we're little, too."

Five sparrows, proud of their wee size—They never grow too broad or tall—Chirped: "We should surely win a prize, For we are littles of them all."

Two tiny men from Titikum, With good strong arm and sturdy leg, Held steady, as a block of gum, A large and glowing rainbow egg.

There, standing on it, like a queen, With rosy lips and radiant eye, In pink and gold and bronze and green, The girly, curly butterfly.

himself, and he inquired everywhere where he could find them. At last a very old man told him that the only place where he could possibly find a single lily was in the castle of a huge giant, who lived on the top of a distant mountain. The giant could not be killed by fire, steel or poison, but Percival said he did not care anything about that, and he got great bouquet of the beautiful flowers, and as it was the first time anyone about there had ever seen them they called them Easter lilies. Of course, they all lived happily ever after, just as if this story had moral to it.

TO BUILD A HOTEL

Rubenack Brothers Purchase Site on West First Street.

They Pay $40,000 For Corner of Fifth Avenue West.

Will Erect There a Large, Modern, First Class Hotel.

Duluth is to have another large, modern, first class hotel.

It is to be located on the corner of West First street and Fifth avenue west, opposite the new McKay hotel. Albert C. Rubenack and Ed. Rubenack, the well known Duluth restaurant and hotel men, will build it.

They have purchased the southwest corner of West First street and Fifth avenue from W. W. Hillson.

The proposed hotel will have a frontage of 140 feet on Fifth avenue and 100 feet on First street. The property sold for $40,000 and the deal was made by R. H. Dorn.

Complete plans for the new hotel will not be out for some time yet, and under the existing condition of the building market the promoters do not expect to get the hotel under way before fall.

The purchase of the Rubenack brothers has created something of a stir in hotel and realty circles. The location is regarded as one of the very best available in the city.

The Rubenack brothers at present operate six restaurants and hotels in this city. Three restaurants are on Superior street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west and two of the hotels are in the same block.

FINALLY CAUGHT

Lively Chase After James A. Cross, a Brooks-Scanlon Clerk.

Came to Duluth After Forging Checks For Much Money.

Got Away From Here But Was Nabbed at Staples.

James A. Cross, a confidential clerk of the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber company, was arrested at Staples last night for a smooth piece of swindling.

When arrested he was escaping from Duluth to the Pacific coast. Detectives pressed him too closely in this city, and he thought to throw them off his trail by suddenly going West.

A letter which he had entrusted to a very pretty woman to be delivered to a friend in Minneapolis fell into the hands of the Minneapolis police, and that is how a detective chanced to board his train at Staples.

The crime which James Cross is charged with committed in Minneapolis. Manager Greene of the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber company, in that city, was taken ill. Cross wrote a letter to a bank with which the company did business, and caused M. Greene's name to be written, which instructed the bank officials to cash any and all checks signed by James A. Cross.

It is not known how much money was raised in this way, but several nights ago Cross and a very pretty woman registered at one of Duluth's leading hotels as Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Richardson. On Saturday the woman went back to Minneapolis and with her was a letter from Cross to be delivered to another man. He confessed obtaining much money on the Brooks-Scanlon checks and gave directions for the disposal of certain property.

The Minneapolis detectives had a good description of the woman and when she got off the train in that city Saturday night they took her in custody and later took the letter from her.

This letter also stated that Duluth was getting too hot and that the writer was about to start for Seattle. A detective was hurried to Staples and arrested to this city, the latter arriving yesterday just a little too late.

It is impossible to find out just how much was obtained by Cross, as it is supposed that many more checks were passed than those that have already been traced to the banking institutions. It is reported that he worked off several in Duluth.

The bank and the Brooks-Scanlon company will have to stand the loss whatever it amounts to.

NOT COMING.

Garfield Club Does Not Expect J. F. Jacobson to Attend.

The guests of the Garfield Republican club Friday evening will not be regaled by the sound of the flute-like voice of J. F. Jacobson, the strenuous statesman from Lac Qui Parle county.

As stated before, an invitation was sent to him to attend the banquet, and there was considerable feeling about it among the members of the club, particularly on the part of the Duluth members of the house of representatives, who rather resented the invitation to Jacobson because they had to fight him so often.

Nothing has been heard from Lac Qui Parle, and as the day of the banquet is drawing near, it is assumed by the members of the club that he of the high voice and vigorous pull in the legislature has determined not to draw near and be heard on this occasion.

In spite of the feeling over the sending of the invitation, there is a strong sense of disappointment among the members of the club over the failure to hear from "Jacks." They think he would have made a sterling attraction for the banquet, by reason of the attention he has attracted all over the state and because of the reputation he has acquired as an enemy of Duluth. If he came the gentlemen from Lac Qui Parle county would probably have something to say about this.

What ever he did say would be interesting, for he has a refreshing fashion of handling such topics, as well as others, with unadorned hands.

BEGINS ACTION

State Enters Mandamus Suit Against Northern Pacific Road.

To Force the Opening of the Twentieth Avenue Station.

The Northern Pacific having failed to follow out the directions of the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners to open the station at Twentieth avenue west, the state has taken a step that will bring the matter to the issue in the courts.

Judge Dibel his afternoon issued an alternative writ of mandamus directed to the Northern Pacific Railway company, requiring it to open the station forthwith, or show cause at the special term of the district court held Saturday, April 5, why they have not done so.

The case is entitled "The States of Minnesota ex rel the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners against the Northern Pacific railroad," and W. B. Douglas, attorney general of the state of Minnesota, is the attorney. It will be remembered that some months ago the citizens of the West End, who had been making every effort to secure the opening of the station, which had been closed for some years, despaired of doing anything with the company, and took the matter up with the railroad and warehouse commission. The proper representations were made to that body, with the result that the board took steps to have the wishes of the West End people complied with. The members of the board looked over the field to determine whether or not the opening of the station was desirable and necessary, and as a result of their investigations the board issued an order directing the road to open the station by a certain date in January.

The time set passed, and the road took no action. The beginning of mandamus proceedings is the next step. The matter will come up in special term a week from Saturday, when the road will have to show why it has refused to obey the orders of the board.

AFFECTED HIS HEART.

Electric Shocks Seriously Weaken A. J. Brayden.

Last Thursday morning A. J. Brayden, of Duluth Heights, bookkeeper for the Duluth Van company, received a shock through contact with telephone receivers, and is reported to be in a serious condition, though at first it was supposed to be a trifling matter. While Mr. Brayden was at his desk the bell of the Zenith phone rang, and in reaching over to take up the instrument, Mr. Brayden placed his other hand on the desk phone of the Duluth Telephone company. He received a severe shock, which knocked him from his chair. He got up with the remark that he had just got off a stiff shock, and resumed his work, but later complained of not feeling well and went home.

Since that time he has been growing worse, the shock apparently affecting the action of his heart. At the time of the accident nothing serious was thought of the matter, and one of the linemen of the Zenith phone, who was called in, said that such shocks through contact with both phones were not unusual, and that a person could not receive a shock of more than ninety volts.

Yesterday Mr. Brayden was very sick, but it is thought that he will ultimately recover.

A WAYWARD GIRL.

From the heated atmosphere of a restaurant Mary Todd drifted out on the Bowery.

A detective made a grab for her, but she was under his arm like a flash and there was a lively scene for a block. Miss Todd is the 16-year-old daughter of a hard working woman who said she could keep the daughter in the straight path. Saturday night dances and wayward commotion, however, off-set the good the mother instilled in her.

The young man arrested in the restaurant was subsequently released, as it was proven that he was not the person that was encouraging the girl in her waywardness.

The girl's mother has given up hope and asks that she be sent to the Red Wing industrial school, but the father was about the jail building this morning endeavoring to have her released on parole.

MILLINERY.

Very Latest Parisian Styles at Silberstein & Bondy Company's.

Not in many years has millinery beauty held such sway as this season, nor has there been a period in recent years when certain styles figured so prominently in the fashions as during the present one—La Pompadour and Du Barry. What a theme! And there is "Dolly Varden," another old creation. The Louis XV period stands today pre-eminently supreme.

Miss Bird, of the Silberstein & Bondy company, gives The Herald such information about the new millinery as will help the women form some definite idea of what one will want for Easter and spring.

Dame Fashion, being feminine, always has the last word; and the styles that grace the Silberstein & Bondy company's Easter opening are the latest word of the newest of the new in millinery. It happens this way: When the great Paris milliners show their styles to foreign buyers, it is an open question which hats will be chosen. It has come to pass that all Paris styles are not good styles—to Americans. So the great modistes study the foreign representatives. A raised eyebrow—a style not liked. A pleased smile—a style that "goes." And so on. They digest their observations and impressions, and the comments made; and the hats that sell are sure indications of the trend of tastes. Then they make up their later styles.

We bring home the French hats selected, use them as models and inspiration. Americanize them more—we adapt them to Duluth tastes, getting the "Easter" necessary, and then invite you to see the imported hats and the Silberstein & Bondy company's hats. These latest styles are ready—Fashion's last word.

They are flower turbans—flowers pressed around the brim and foliage matted over the crown. Trimmed, almost, as they left Paris—we've just added finishing touch of ribbon or what not.

Tricorne turbans are very new. They are of wide husk braid, with very heavy brim rolling up and curving inward, with edelweiss medallions scattered over. These are shown by Camille Roger, Susanne Blum and Suzanne & Barault. A touch of white and a few bunches of small long-stemmed roses, and presto—a dream.

The Du Barry draped hat is another newness; the veil trimming droops like the mist of a cascade all around the brim. Very simple. Very effective.

These are hints of what are being shown—but no doubt every woman in Duluth will visit the millinery opening, so it's quite useless to go any further into details. Among all of the openings throughout the city that of the Silberstein & Bondy company stands far above the rest in quiet and genial.

Their millinery room is beautiful in its simplicity and their windows are rich and subdued, showing at a glance the character of goods which they carry.

HITCHCOCK

Again Denies That He Has Intention of Resigning.

Washington, March 24.—Secretary Hitchcock has returned from St. Louis, where he was called by the serious illness and subsequent death of his brother. He denied that he had any intention of resigning his cabinet portfolio, or ever had contemplated retiring. He refused to discuss the reports to that effect that have been current beyond characterizing them as without foundation. He replied in the negative when asked if he might not find it necessary to resign in order to take up the responsibilities that had formerly devolved upon his deceased brother in directing their private business in the West.

As soon as Stone-Ordean-Wells company started to handle the Duluth matches, they were ordered to deliver all trust matches on hand to a rival concern.

CHOLERA

Exists In Philippines and Soldiers Are Hurried Home.

Washington, March 24.—Surgeon General Sternberg has received official advices from Manila confirming the press reports of the existence of Asiatic cholera and plague in the Philippines, but does not regard the situation as serious, being confident of the ability of the medical authorities to prevent an epidemic of either contagion. The plan of Gen. Chaffee to expedite the departure of the remaining battalions of the Third Infantry from Manila on the transport Grant a week ahead of schedule time as a precautionary measure against the possible spread of the cholera to troops returning to the United States, is approved at the war department.

WANTS FIGHT.

Charleston Makes a Bid For Jeffries-Fitzsimmons Contest.

Charleston, S. C., March 24.—J. C. Jauzon has wired Harry Beecher, sporting editor of the New York American and Journal offering a guaranteed purse of $25,000 in cash or 20 per cent of the gross receipts to be paid to the winner of the fight between Jeffries and Fitzsimmons on May 15 pulled off on the grounds of the South Carolina interstate and West Indian exposition here. If the offer is accepted an arena of capacity of 30,000 will be erected at once. The people of Charleston are enthusiastically in favor of the scheme and it is believed that all the local and state authorities have been communicated with and have given their consent. The boxing commission has decided through its board of directors that if it can be brought here it will be more than willing to furnish arena for the fight. Jauzon will leave here for New York to confer personally with Fitzsimmons and to post $5000 as a guarantee of good faith.

ASPHYXIATED

In his pockets were found a bank book on a London, Ont., bank bearing the name of J. McGregor. He also had a mileage book from London, Ont., to Winnipeg.

TO BRING TEST CASE

City May Find Way to Increase Usefulness of Revolving Fund.

Amendments to Highland Canal Company Franchise Ordinance.

Resolution Declaring Intention of Enforcing Wine Room Law.

The council last night authorized test suit of unusual importance. Began negotiations for West Duluth water plant. Considered amendments to Highland canal franchise. Declared for enforcing the wine room ordinance. Asked legal advice on Lincoln park assessment. Introduced municipal plumbing inspection ordinance. Introduced another indebtedness certificate ordinance. Said sewage water and light bonds to N. J. Upham. Confirmed Nineteenth avenue east contract. Called for Park Point ferry service bids. Called for estimate for Duluth Heights sewer system. Received offer of location for free employment office. Received an estimate for resurfacing London road.

It is possible that the council has discovered a way to increase the velocity of the permanent improvement revolving fund. This increase in velocity would make possible the paving of East Superior street and many other necessary improvements. In fact it would gain the same ends intended by the recently defeated charter amendment and allow 50 per cent of every assessment to be collected as soon as a contract is ordered.

Alderman Barnes introduced a resolution which practically instructs the city attorney to bring a test suit to determine whether or not the city can collect 50 per cent of every assessment under the conditions mentioned. It was adopted. In a ramble through the city charter recently City Clerk Chende stumbled over section 372, which says that when the board of public works shall be ordered to make improvements, "said board shall proceed without delay to assess so much of the cost of such improvements as is assessable."

This is construed by some to mean that the city might revive the provisions of the defeated charter amendment to the extent of applying it to a resolution with this particular section, and they think the courts will be inclined to pass favorably on the proposition in a test suit. In view of the fact that at the recent election 2076 people voted in favor of the 50 per cent collection and only 529 were opposed to it.

A resolution of Alderman Mannheim, which was referred to the committee on ordinances, was one of the most important of the session. Its purpose was to offer certain restrictions to the franchise application of the Highland Canal and Power company.

The first provision of the Mannheim resolution is that the city shall receive 15 per cent of the gross receipts of the company for all power furnished outside the city, and that the books shall always be open to municipal inspection.

The second provision is that the city shall receive either water or electric power at one-half the rate charged general consumers, and that every five years representatives of the city and company shall meet for a readjustment of the rates, which shall at no time exceed the price specified in the franchise ordinance.

Mr. Mannheim would also see that small consumers of power are not charged out of proportion to the rates given larger consumers. Still another provision is that the franchise shall be granted only on the condition that actual work on the project is begun by Sept. 1, 1902, and continued thereafter.

The concluding paragraph provides that the company shall have at least 50,000 horse power and that it shall begin constructing its pole, wire and conduit system through the city until the canal and reservoir system is under way.

Mr. Mannheim desired that these important points be referred to the city attorney with instructions to incorporate them in the franchise ordinance, but he finally consented to have the matter left with the ordinance committee.

This committee will meet shortly to go over the Highland company's ordinance in detail and it is probable that it will call a meeting at which the public generally can express its opinion on the proposed twenty-five-year franchise.

Alderman Neff secured the adoption of a resolution calling on the committee on light and water to enter into negotiations with the owners of the West Duluth water plant with a view to purchasing it.

This resolution was adopted unanimously and with little comment despite its importance.

Alderman Cullum introduced a resolution declaring it the future policy of the council to insist on a most rigid enforcement of the wine room ordinance and to refuse licenses to all notoriously disreputable places.

The junior first ward alderman said that it had been intimated that the ordinance was a victory for the saloon element and that slighting remarks had been made of the council's action in passing it. The resolution was adopted unanimously and with a spirit that indicated strenuous enforcement of the ordinance despite the skeptical public.

The proposition of the board of park commissioners to levy an assessment of $10,000 against property in the vicinity of Lincoln park is likely to receive scant consideration from the council despite the fact that it had been referred to the city attorney to ascertain the legal status of such an assessment.

Alderman McEwen said that he had lived in the vicinity of the park since early boyhood and the people owning property close by considered it a nuisance instead of a benefit.

The plumbing ordinance, a draft of which was published in The Herald some weeks ago, was introduced by Alderman McEwen and given its first reading.

The ordinance establishes a municipal inspection of plumbing and the office of plumbing inspector. The new department is to be connected with the health office and the plumbing inspector is to receive fees for his work.

After the reading the ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee.

Alderman Barnes introduced an ordinance calling for an issue of $15,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness against the permanent improvement fund. Under the charter the council is permitted to anticipate the collection for that fund to the extent of 50 per cent. It is understood that if this ordinance passes some of the money raised will be used in making the Jensen road street improvement, which is to give rapid transit to West Duluth and a better car service to the East End.

The issue of $60,000 worth of bonds to replenish the construction fund of the water and light department was awarded to N. J. Upham company at a premium of $610. The Duluth firm was the highest bidder in a bid of six.

The $60,000 raised by this sale, $27,000 will be spent for the construction of the Woodland system, and $33,000 for other extensions. About $10,000 will be spent for enlarging the gas manufacturing facilities, and the remaining $23,000 will be spent in taking up all overdrift of the construction fund caused by last season's work.

The contract recently awarded to P. McDonnell for paving Nineteenth avenue east with tar-macadam was confirmed and the work will begin immediately unless the Warren Brothers company, of Boston, begins legal proceedings to stop it on the ground that the city engineers' specifications on the Warren patent bituminous macadam.

The contract is awarded to Mr. McDonnell on condition that the city shall not be liable to damages for any delays caused by a suit from the Boston paving concern.

Like Danquos' ghost, which refused to go away back and jump off the Park Point ferry question came up again last night. Alderman Neff introduced a resolution instructing the board of public works to advertise for bids for the ferry service during the ensuing year. The resolution was adopted.

Alderman Moore introduced a resolution calling on the board of public works to report on the Lerch barn nuisance. Mr. Moore expressed the opinion that while the barn was permitted to stand to protect the city in a legal way, it would be a good investment for the city if it had to pay damages to destroy the eyesore.

Alderman McEwen secured the adoption of a resolution calling for the city engineer's estimate of providing the settled portion of Duluth Heights with a sewer system.

A resolution calling for an estimate of the cost of graveling and gutting Sixteenth avenue east, from Fourth street to Sixth street, was adopted at the request of Alderman Moore.

An offer was received from W. M. Prindle & Co. for a room in the Manhattan building to be used by the free labor bureau for $25 a month. It was referred to the committee on city property, buildings and markets.

A communication was received from the Warren Brothers company, of Boston, urging a plan to keep people in mind of the fact that there were ordinances against throwing paper and other refuse about the city.

A resolution was adopted instructing the city attorney to make investigations as to the sufficiency of the city's title in property acquired through delinquent assessments, and if the titles were found at fault, to take such steps as might be required to make them good. The resolution was introduced by Alderman Cullum.

The contract for putting in a combination cement curb and gutter on First street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east, was awarded to Dixon & Lowery by the board of public works, and the council confirmed this contract. The price is $38,750.

City Engineer Patton submitted an estimate for resurfacing London road. He said the driveway was 25,556 feet long and macadam surface twenty-four feet wide, requiring 68,160 square yards of new macadam, and the cost would be $17,990.

In response to Alderman McEwen's inquiry, the Northern Pacific Railway company notified the council that the Sixth avenue west viaduct would be repaired within a very short time.

The council referred the Twenty-eighth avenue west sewer outlet problem to the city engineer with a request for recommendations as to the best method of constructing such an outlet.

A sanitary sewer was ordered constructed in South Fifth avenue west from Commerce street to the harbor front.

Beautiful Easter Display at Freimuth's Delights the Women.

Easter time has come again and with it the brilliant Easter openings in Duluth's mammoth mercantile establishments. The opening at Freimuth's big department store yesterday, under auspicious circumstances, was a success. The weather was fine and all day the store was crowded by women anxious to see the splendid displays of goods and millinery. Never before has there been a season that Mr. Freimuth has offered to his patrons so large and beautiful a display of fashionable spring styles and the enthusiastic comments heard yesterday by the ladies, were heard gratifyingly.

The department store is very prettily decorated throughout, streamers of bright and attractive colors, while two handsome arches form a bow in the center of the store. The decorative effect is artistic.

One of the popular departments yesterday was the millinery. The department, where were displayed the beautiful modes from Paris. Among the were the Polly Varden hat, the La Pompadour, the Du Barry and many others. The Louis XV style prevails. The bright colors seem to be the more popular this year, though there are many handsome creations in the darker shades.

The magnificent display of tailor costumes and suits, silk waists and fashionables, dress skirts, handsome silk pajamas and jackets attract and holds the attention of every woman who enters the store. The styles this year are peculiarly beautiful and are sanctioned by the best dressmakers. The opinion continues today and the crowds in the daylight store have been not a whit less yesterday.

Reigning Power in China Likely to Be Overthrown.

Victoria, B. C., March 25.—Marcus C. Hu, a Yokohama merchant, who arrived on the steamer Kaiga Maru, is said to be carrying orders to New York for arms and ammunition for the rebels in Southern China.

Mr. Hu, in an interview, says that if the cable reports of the capture of six districts which is under Dr. Sunyatsen will be successful, before leaving for America Mr. Hu will see the rebel leader and will buy him that 50,000 troops were ready to join the rebellion and would bring with them modern arms and ammunition. Recruits are flocking to the rebel standard and their hope is to reach the city of Canton. Here they expect to get sufficient ammunition and arms and treasure to carry on the rebellion. They will eventually result in the overthrow of the reigning power in China. Dr. Sunyatsen is looking for the time opportunity for the rebellion, the Chinese being dissatisfied with the foreign control of the country.

When the Kaiga Maru left many refugees were flocking into Kwang Tung in advance of the rebels and the following dispatch describes the conditions prevailing in Kwang Tung:

According to statements of refugees arriving at Canton from Kwang Tung, Fuh and Yulin Chow, the whole province of Kwang Tung is in a state of revolution, the number of insurgents being estimated at 50,000.

The various villages under the jurisdiction of Yulin Chow have been sacked and burned. The Imperialists are devoid of influence. The insurgents are in possession of arms and ammunition of the new model.

Since the return of the Chinese court to Peking, since the late, the aggregate sum of the tribute from different provinces has been reduced to one-half of what it was. The tribute was paid to the court from Peking to Peking. The board of revenue is now at its wits end to meet the crisis.

The waters of the river Yunnan, in Japan, have been polluted through the waters of the river Yunnan and some 30,000 people who draw their supply from this river are in dire distress. Recently a mob of 400 men, women and children started for Tokyo. The mob began under auspicious circumstances. They were stopped on the way by his police and soldiers and only 40 reached the capital. The ministers saw the delegation and promised to remedy the evil.

LEPERS.

Minnesota Has Twenty Residents Afflicted With the Disease.

Washington, March 25.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw sent to the senate yesterday the report of a commission of medical officers appointed to investigate the origin and prevalence of leprosy in the United States. The report shows 23 cases in the United States, distributed by states as follows: Alabama, 1; California, 24; Florida, 24; Georgia, 2; Illinois, 2; Iowa, 1; Kansas, 1; Maryland, 1; Nevada, 1; Massachusetts, 2; Minnesota, 20; Mississippi, 1; Missouri, 5; Montana, 1; Nevada, 1; New York, 7; North Dakota, 15; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; South Dakota, 1; Texas, 1; Wisconsin, 1.

Of the total number 170 are males and 162 females; 145 American born, and 25 foreign born, the remainder uncertain.

The commission recommend the establishment of a retreat for lepers and express the opinion that it should be in the arid southwest or in a similar region further north, or on an island in the gulf of Mexico, or on the Pacific coast. The commission express the opinion that the leper should not represent the total number of lepers in the country, because they say that the leprosy character of the disease causes persons affected to conceal it as long as possible. They also express the opinion that it is most frequently contracted by inhaling dust where lepers have been located.

AFTER BONI.

An Independent Creditor Wants His Case Advanced in Court.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—A motion was made yesterday before the court of appeals to place on the calendar and advance to the appeal in the case of Anton J. Dittmar, against Boni, Count de Castellane, Anna Gould, Howard Gould and Helen M. Gould, as trustees under the last will and testament of Jay Gould. The applicant was represented by former Attorney General S. W. Rosendale, representing the firm of Guggenheimer, Untermeyer & Marshall, and the respondent by Lorenzo Samuels.

The plaintiff has sued Count and Countess de Castellane for $77,000, being a creditor, who did not enter into litigation in the United States supreme court under which it was decided that the claims aggregating $900,000 and due to the creditors should be paid on a pro rata basis. In order that the surplus income of the estate left to the plaintiff by her father might be preserved, and the securing of preferences by any one creditor prevented, the plaintiff began action individually in the state courts to secure the entire amount of his claim at once.

POWER VS. MERGER

Lengthy Testimony Concerning the Purchase of Railroad Stocks.

J. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Important Witness.

J. P. Morgan Cannot Conveniently Attend Until Wednesday.

New York, March 25.—The hearing in the suit commenced by Peter Power in the United States court for the district of Minnesota for the purpose of determining the standing before the law of the purchase and holding of Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock by the Northern Securities company was continued here yesterday before Richard Malvey, special examiner, J. Schiff, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was the first witness. He was questioned by A. M. Boutelle, of Minneapolis, of counsel for Peter Power. Mr. Schiff said he was a member of the board of directors of the Northern Securities company since the latter part of 1897 and had been elected a director of the Northern Securities company in 1901. He is also a director of the Great Northern, the Great Northern, he did not remember how much stock he had in the Great Northern; he had not held any of it since the summer of last year. He was one of a number of financiers who in 1896 purchased $20,000,000 worth of Northern Pacific common at the time of the reorganization of that road.

"Was Mr. Hill in that deal?" was asked.

"Mr. Hill can tell you," replied Mr. Schiff.

The witness said he had purchased 20,000 shares of Burlington in 1901.

"For whom did you act in purchasing that stock?"

"I decline to answer."

"Did you act for the Harriman interests?"

"I decline to answer. I decline to answer any questions regarding the interests of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. unless compelled to do so."

He said that the stock was not purchased for the purpose of securing control of the Burlington for the Union Pacific. He also declined to answer a question as to whether he had acted for any railroad interests in making the purchase of Burlington stock. He said he had no previous knowledge of the purchase of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern to get hold of the Burlington. Mr. Schiff said his firm never represented the Union Pacific or the Oregon Short Line as bankers in the stock. He declined to say whether the firm had represented Mr. Harriman. As far as he could recollect the purchases made by his firm of Northern Pacific before May 9 last year, this stock was transferred, part to the Union Pacific and part to the Oregon Short Line. The witness said he had no conference with J. P. Morgan concerning these purchases, but he had a conference between himself and Mr. Harriman on one day and James J. Hill and Mr. Steele of J. P. Morgan on the other.

He believed that there were two such conferences, but at neither of them was there a determination as to whether the Hill or Harriman interests held a majority of the Northern Pacific common stock. Mr. Schiff said he did not learn of the fact that the Union Pacific was disposing of its Northern Pacific holdings until the matter came before the board of directors of which he was a member. The stock was sold to J. P. Morgan & Co., and payment was made in three million dollars, $1,000,000 in cash and eighty or ninety millions of dollars in stock of the Northern Securities company. The witness said Mr. Hill asked him to take a place on the Northern Securities board. Mr. Schiff said he first learned of the retirement of the Northern Pacific stock at the time of its actual retirement. He did not know whether Mr. Harriman had been consulted in the matter. Mr. Schiff said the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line sold their Northern Pacific holdings to the Northern Securities company, because they thought it would be a good thing to get a profit on their stock. The stock was originally purchased because Kuhn, Loeb & Co. thought it was a good thing to obtain as much as possible of the stock. The first information the witness had of the organization of the Northern Securities was when he read about it in the newspapers. He had nothing to do with the organization of the company, nor had he any interest in its affairs until he became a director at the invitation of Mr. Hill. Mr. Schiff was asked to give the name of his chief bookkeeper and did so. It was William H. Rouse, who was called by the Northern Securities company, was then called upon to furnish a copy of the directors of the company and a list of its directors.

Charles Steele of J. P. Morgan & Co., was called. He said Mr. Bacon of that firm organized a syndicate to raise $50,000,000 cash which was necessary in order to buy control of the Burlington. The object of the syndicate was to get the Burlington, there being valuable grain and timber lands in the territory traversed by the company.

Mr. Steele said that there had never been any discussion of the purchase of the Hill and Mr. Morgan that they would purchase the Burlington. The plan of retiring Northern Pacific preferred stock had come up before 1901, he said. On May 1, 1901, J. P. Morgan & Co. had about $50,000,000 worth of Northern Pacific common and between May 1 and May 7, they bought about $15,000,000 worth, in the middle of the summer they sold $10,000,000 worth of it to the Northern Securities company in return.

The purpose of a conference immediately after the disturbance of May 9, Mr. Steele said, was to allow public apprehension and to that end Harriman interests consented to give Mr. Morgan the Northern Pacific proxies at the next election. This was done, he said, because the public had confidence in Mr. Morgan. Few directors of Northern Pacific were elected at the suggestion of Mr. Morgan. Mr. Harriman was placed on the Northern Pacific and Burlington boards to quiet any apprehension that might exist as to the intentions of those in control of the Burlington.

Next followed some testimony as to the sale of the $50,000,000 worth of Northern Pacific common to the Northern Securities company. Mr. Steele said the Northern Securities company paid $50,000,000 for the stock. In reply to questions he said the idea of turning the stock of the Great Northern over as to the Northern Pacific company, and as to the Northern Pacific company, the plan was brought to his attention in the latter part of the summer of 1901. He said he was not aware that all the negotiations during the summer of 1901 had been with a view to the sale of the stock of the Northern Pacific stock and to dispose of the stock in the manner in which they were disposed of.

At this point the witness was turned over to Mr. Stetson, who is counsel for the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. Stetson, who is counsel for the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., was called upon to furnish a copy of the directors of the company and a list of its directors.

Mr. Stetson said the Northern Securities company was organized for the purpose of dispossessing the claim of the other side that the negotiations for Northern Pacific common, the Burlington purchase, the formation of the Northern Securities company and the placing of Mr. Harriman and other representatives of the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line on the boards of the Burlington and the Northern Pacific, were all part of a pooling scheme which originated and matured during the summer of 1901, previous to the formation of the securities company, with Mr. Morgan, Mr. Hill and Mr. Harriman and their associates as the principal factors. Mr. Steele said there was no pooling scheme, that after they had acquired the Northern Pacific stock from the Harriman interests it was to be put into the Northern Securities company.

"We found," Mr. Steele said, "that the Harriman holdings were not quite as large as we had assumed, and as we had represented them to be, as a result the securities company refused to take them at the figure agreed upon. It was only after we had effected a compromise and at a substantial reduction in price that we succeeded in disposing of them to the company."

"So far as you know, or as far as known to your firm, was there any intention at the organization of the Northern Securities company and the transfer of these holdings to it, to restrain trade, stifle competition or regulate rates?"

There was an objection from Mr. Boutelle which was noted on the record in the absence of anyone to deliver a ruling on the matter. The witness was allowed to answer and gave his answer in the negative.

Another point brought out on cross-examination was that the witness had no contact for the Northern Pacific common. Witness said this contest did not exist outside of the newspapers. It was this contest the existence of which would have been a matter of public knowledge, that culminated in the panic of May 9 last.

Mr. Boutelle asked Mr. Steele whether he devoted much time to the retirement of the Northern Pacific preferred stock. He said that he did not, but that he was not a director of the company at that time. He said that he was not a director of the company at that time, but that he was not a director of the company at that time.

Witness said there was no intention to prevent preferred stockholders from acquiring common stock by actual purchase.

At this point an adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning. Mr. Morgan was to have appeared before the examiner for that time, but he had word through Mr. Steele that the earliest time he conveniently could appear was the time to which the adjournment was taken.

Mr. Stetson asked the answers for the other side to produce Mr. Power, the plaintiff, who has thus far kept in the background. George W. Fred Lamb, attorney for Mr. Power said he would produce not only his client, but also other stockholders who had come into the case since the proceedings were commenced.

SHOT IN SUPERIOR

Trying to Break Into a Store Seven Years Ago.

Long Record of Chicago's Jekyll and Hyde Burglar.

Had Secluded Country House—Gave Money to Church.

Chicago, March 25.—George W. Loomis, alias Hopkins, alias Clark, who died on Saturday night as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by ex-Detective Dan Kiple at the flat kept by "Diamond Lil" Arlington, Kiple's mistress, was born in Manitoba, and his career in crime in the United States started in Chicago, where he became associated with bank thieves and learned the art of safe-breaking. He was always dressed in good style and easily passed as a man of respectability.

The Pinkerton National Detective Agency has the following record of Hopkins' career:

"First heard of St. Paul, in 1891. Shot in West Superior, Wis., in 1892, while trying to break into a store in company with Edward, alias 'Punch' Mahoney. Escaped from hospital. Arrived in Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1896, for carrying burglars' tools. Fined $50 and sentenced to penitentiary for one year Feb. 25, 1898. Taken to New York state asylum for the insane at Matteawan, July 21, 1897. Sept. 24, 1898, discharged from the institution and placed in custody of his brother-in-law, R. W. MacNamee, Chicago.

"At the end of the public road from flat at Thirty-seventh street and Langlois avenue while an attempt was made to arrest him, Eddy Monahan and Tommy Ryan, who occupied the same quarters, were arrested. Burglars' tools were found in the room. Detective Edward McGuire and Sergt. Phil Miller, of the station house station, learned of a plot to rob the Oakland National bank. They searched Hopkins' flat and arrested his companion, Hopkins turned Officer McGuire with a blow on the head and escaped. At the spring of 1899 escaped from flat at Twenty-third street and Langlois avenue. Hopkins was arrested at a saloon at 62 Twenty-third street. He has been in Chicago since."

At Palos Park, a Chicago suburb, where he lived and where his true character was unknown until the tragedy, Hopkins had a small house, a tall, slight woman, with red hair and not uncomely. Her husband, who is a leading citizen of Palos Park, has of the record in which Hopkins had been held in the village. Just now this club is particularly in evidence, the occasion being Gen. Miles' opportunity to the administration's new army bill.

"This bill ought to be entitled 'An act to make the president of the United States a military dictator' because in effect that is precisely what it proposes."

"The president has so long and so successfully played the part of the cowboy in politics that he really aspires to become 'the man on horseback'—differences of opinion are not to be endured."

"The intolerance which marked the Dreyfus epoch in France is to be the rule or measure of the American war department, and an astute and very able New York attorney and politician is to find the law for it. Because he answered the call of a committee of congress, Miles is to be retired as a military hero."

"Moral: Let the officers of the army beware."

"Result: Arbitrary power culminating in absolutism."

"Thus, slowly but surely, is the administration 'Mexicanizing' the government of the United States."

Chicago—Reports to Duluth & Co. from their traveling man in Texas say the weather has been good and all crops are doing well. The northern and central part will have a good average crop. The handle has improved. A letter from the Southwest Kansas said the average at 20 to 30 per cent. A letter from Wellington, Kansas, said the crops were improved. But the damage at 25 to 35 per cent.

concerned, indicates that the miners are anything but confident. We do not regard a strike as probable. It is only a trader's market, and owing to the approaching holidays nothing better can be expected. The Northern Securities case is looking important, and it is believed that the locality of the company will be fully established. There is no selling movement of any importance, but there will be considerable buying on the part of the market. It is advisable to take profits of 2 to 3 points whenever possible. We look for an irregular market today with the advantage on the selling side for a quick turn.

"HUNGRY JOE"

Carefully Guarded the Name Given Him By Parents.

New York, March 25.—Bearing a name on his coffin plate under which he would never be recognized, Joseph Lewis, better known as "Hungry Joe," was carried to his grave Thursday afternoon. After suffering from Bright's disease for four or five weeks the notorious confidence man died in an apartment house in this city last Monday. Known variously under the names of Joseph Lewis, George Howard, Francis Alvord, and others, the name under which "Hungry Joe" was buried was kept carefully guarded, and even his intimates never knew his family name.

A quarter of his century "Hungry Joe" was one of the most conspicuous figures in criminal life. He was known wherever he went. He was a man of many names, but he was a man of one name, "Hungry Joe."

When former Captain Alexander Williams was in command of the "Tenderloin" district, he was known as "Hungry Joe" and other conspicuous "bunko" street "outs" of the district. He also told "Joe" to stay away from the district or he would have him locked up every time he was seen. Joe, however, did not leave the district. He was a man of many names, but he was a man of one name, "Hungry Joe."

CECIL RHODES PASSES AWAY

"Uncrowned King of Rhodesia" Died Peacefully at His Cape Town Home.

A Great Power In South Africa For Years.

Known as a Most Bitter Enemy of the Boers.

Cape Town, March 26.—Cecil Rhodes died peacefully at 5:57 p. m. He slept during the afternoon, but his breathing became more difficult and his strength perceptibly diminished until he passed away.

London, March 25.—The death of Cecil Rhodes came as no great surprise to those few who saw anything of him during his last visit to London during the winter. Whether it was due to his experiences during the long siege of Kimberley, or the accumulated anxieties regarding the war in South Africa, with an accompanying change of public feeling in England, towards him, there is no doubt he has been almost completely broken down within the last two years. Even his appearance changed. His once finely formed face hotel, where he utterly denied himself to all except half a dozen favored intimates. Dr. Jameson was his constant companion. They could be seen in the park in the morning taking solitary rides on horses, never going faster than a walk.

More especially did Mr. Rhodes shun the present government leaders. He bitterly expressed his contempt of British army methods in South Africa, and probably not quite forgave Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Milner for not consulting him or endeavoring to utilize the powerful financial-political machine which Mr. Rhodes manipulated over the whole of South Africa.

Financially Mr. Rhodes' death is not likely to have any far-reaching results, as all his enterprises were systematized so thoroughly as not to need the master

In the world's firm. I need not call up their names and titles—

"Admirals all, they went their way, To the haven under the hill.

"They were all after their kind, both the admiration and the terror of their contemporaries, and I believe that with all of them, from Drake to Robert Clive, of whom they were the keynotes, the conservative forces are those which naturally are in control of governments. 'We never know what he will do next,' said a friend to me of Rhodes. Something big, some great development that might involve, perhaps, a change in the very constitution of our empire. The world, at least its governors, do not much like such men as these, who keep them awake at night, and so the greatest Englishmen of our day has come to be looked upon, and not by the British majority only, with somewhat mixed feelings.

"One thing I should like especially to point out: He had a never-failing confidence in the growth of the federal principle of government. He admired the American nation enormously, but for this strange and detached reason—he believed you owed your prodigious orderly development to the splendid construction of your constitution. I personally have always opposed home rule; being at that time in the house of commons. I left Mr. Gladstone's party over this issue. Rhodes, however, never wearied of assuring me that I ought to have gone forward, that in this direc-

Sixty-four years ago, Oct. 25, General Otis was born, and, having reached the age limit, he has just been retired from the army. Like Lieutenant General Miles, he is not a West Pointer. He relieved General Merritt as military governor of the Philippines.

ARE HOT AFTER CASTRO

Entire Eastern Section of Venezuela Now In Arms Against the Government With Good Prospects of Success.

New York, March 26.—Advice received from Maracaibo and Curacao by the Tribune relate on the renewed activity on the part of the revolutionists to depose President Cipriano Castro. The entire eastern part of the country, according to the Tribune's informant, is now in arms against the government and Gen. Domingo Monagas, who has assumed a leading part in the insurrectionary army writes that he is certain that in another month, the rebels will be victorious and a change of government will take place at Caracas. The forces of Gen. Monagas now besiege Barcelona in the state of Bermudez which is his native town and where he is well known. His army has been greatly augmented since he began operations in that district. The plan of this insurgent chief is to capture and hold Guanta, where there are some large coal mines, which, if he succeeds, will become the base of supplies for the filibustering steamer Bolivar.

Gen. Monagas is well known in this city. His son, Antonio, who was secretary of the Venezuelan consulate in this city, is a colonel on his staff. Gen. Monagas has fought in many insurrections and it is said that he has never been captured.

AMERICAN COMPANY SCORES

London, March 26.—The local representatives of the American Tobacco company took an important step this morning towards gaining the support of the wholesale dealers, practically promising the latter a per cent profit on all deals with them. The chairman of the Wholesale Tobacco Dealers association says that unless the Imperial Tobacco company meets them in a similar spirit there will be a bad outlook for the British tobacco trust.

TRAFFIC STOPPED BY WATER

St. Paul, March 26.—A Blsmarck, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: Heavy rains following upon melting snows from last week's storms have stopped traffic on the Northern Pacific road at McKenzie, where the immense low flats are overflowed with a lake of water.

Yesterday's delayed passenger train came though several feet of water, and last night the water grew so much more threatening that no trains were run. Passengers will probably be transferred today. All trains will be considerably delayed.

BLEW FARMER'S HEAD OFF

St. Paul, March 26.—A Blsmarck, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: A report from Washington states that Anton Hylinger, a farmer living seven miles north, was shot and instantly killed by a man named Smith. The report shows that Smith went to Hylinger's residence and demanded his money and upon being refused, blew Hylinger's head off with a revolver. Smith has escaped and the officers are in pursuit. He was 27 years of age and had been a soldier in the Philippines.

EAGLE BEND HAS BAD FIRE

Long Prairie, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large part of the town of Eagle Bend was burned, destroying the general stores of A. S. Strauss and A. S. Carpenter, William Smith's saloon, William Robinson's barber shop and large hardware store. Loss about $50,000; insurance small.

The fire was beyond control from the start, and the buildings and their contents were rapidly consumed. It was only by heroic work centered on buildings separated from the burning structures that the flames were kept from spreading to an adjoining group of buildings and wiping out the entire town.

DELAREY ESCAPED

British Movement Against Him Was a Failure.

Slipped Through the Cor-don at the Outset.

London, March 26.—Incomplete reports of the result of the combined movement of British columns against Gen. Delarey have enabled Lord Kitchener to announce the capture of about 100 prisoners, three 15-pounders, two pompons and quantities of stock, wagons, etc.

Gen. Delarey appears to have successfully evaded Lord Kitchener's cordon at the outset.

In a dispatch dated Pretoria at noon yesterday Lord Kitchener says: "At dusk on the evening of March 23 the combined movement against Delarey was undertaken by columns of mounted men, without guns or impediments of any sort. The columns started from Commando Drift on the Vaal river and traveled rapidly all night, and at dawn March 24 occupied positions along the line from Commando Drift to the Lychtenburg block house line. The troops moved rapidly eastward, keeping a continuous line, with the object of driving the enemy against the block houses or forcing an action. The result has not yet been fully reported. Kekewich's column, after the commencement of the action, captured three 15-pounders, two pompons, nine prisoners and 100 mules, carts and wagons. Gen. W. Kitchener's column captured 83 prisoners, 45 carts and wagons and 100 cattle. There are a few more prisoners on the block house line. The troops covered eighty miles in twenty-four hours. Rochfort's and Rawlinson's columns have not yet reported their results."

Lord Kitchener, in a later message, says: "All the reports are now in. The total number of prisoners is 135."

BEAT CHILD TO DEATH

Trial of Mrs. Haines Has Commenced at Mount Holly—Alleged to Have Killed Step Daughter Through Hatred to Mother.

New York, March 26.—A jury has been secured and the taking of testimony has begun at Mount Holly, N. J., in the trial of Mrs. Mabel Fenton Haines, charged with causing the death by beating, of her stepdaughter. The motive alleged is hatred for the dead mother of the child.

The trial is being held in the quaint Mount Holly court house, built in 1592. Great crowds besieged the doors during the opening session and the trial has caused widespread interest. The prisoner carried into the dock her 4-months-old child, which was born in prison, while a 2-year-old boy plays about the space back of the rail during the session. In opening the case, the prosecution charged that the prisoner called on a physician and told him the child was suffering from a cold. She procured acetone pills and returning later, told the physician that the child was in convulsions. The physician hurried to the house he said and found the child on the floor frightfully cut and bruised. He alleged there were no signs found of convulsions and declared the child had been beaten to death. The prisoner sat unmoved during the rehearsal of the prosecution's charges.

RODE BUCKING BRONCHO

Daughter of E. H. Harriman Has a Thrilling Experience With a Vicious Horse But Fortunately Escaped With Injured Ankle.

Chicago, March 26.—The visit of E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, and party was a marked event which came near being a tragedy. While at Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. Harriman's party started for a horseback ride with several friends, when Miss Mary Harriman, the young daughter of the financier, became engaged in a fierce battle with the broncho she was riding, says a special to the Tribune.

Miss Harriman was no sooner in the saddle than the horse began to buck. With great cleverness the girl kept her seat, as the vicious horse reared and side-leaped. Mr. Harriman and half a hundred other men rushed to the rescue, but could not get near the animal. Miss Harriman sat like a veteran on the broncho until the horse slipped and rolled over her. She escaped with an injured ankle, but it is considered a miracle that she was not crushed to death.

SUITS FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

New York, March 26.—Six new suits for damages, aggregating $350,000 for the loss of lives of New Rochelle residents who were killed in the Park avenue tunnel collision and for injuries begun against the New York Central Railroad company in the supreme court at White Plains.

The largest suit for damages is brought by Walter C. Coffin, of No. 88 Lafayette street, New Rochelle, who sues for $50,000 for injuries received by his son, Everett Coffin. Everett, who is 15 years of age, is still in Flower hospital, and it is claimed will be a cripple for life.

With the other suits for injuries and deaths previously filed, the total demand for damages amounts to nearly $1,800,000.

BRAIN SHATTERED BY STUDY

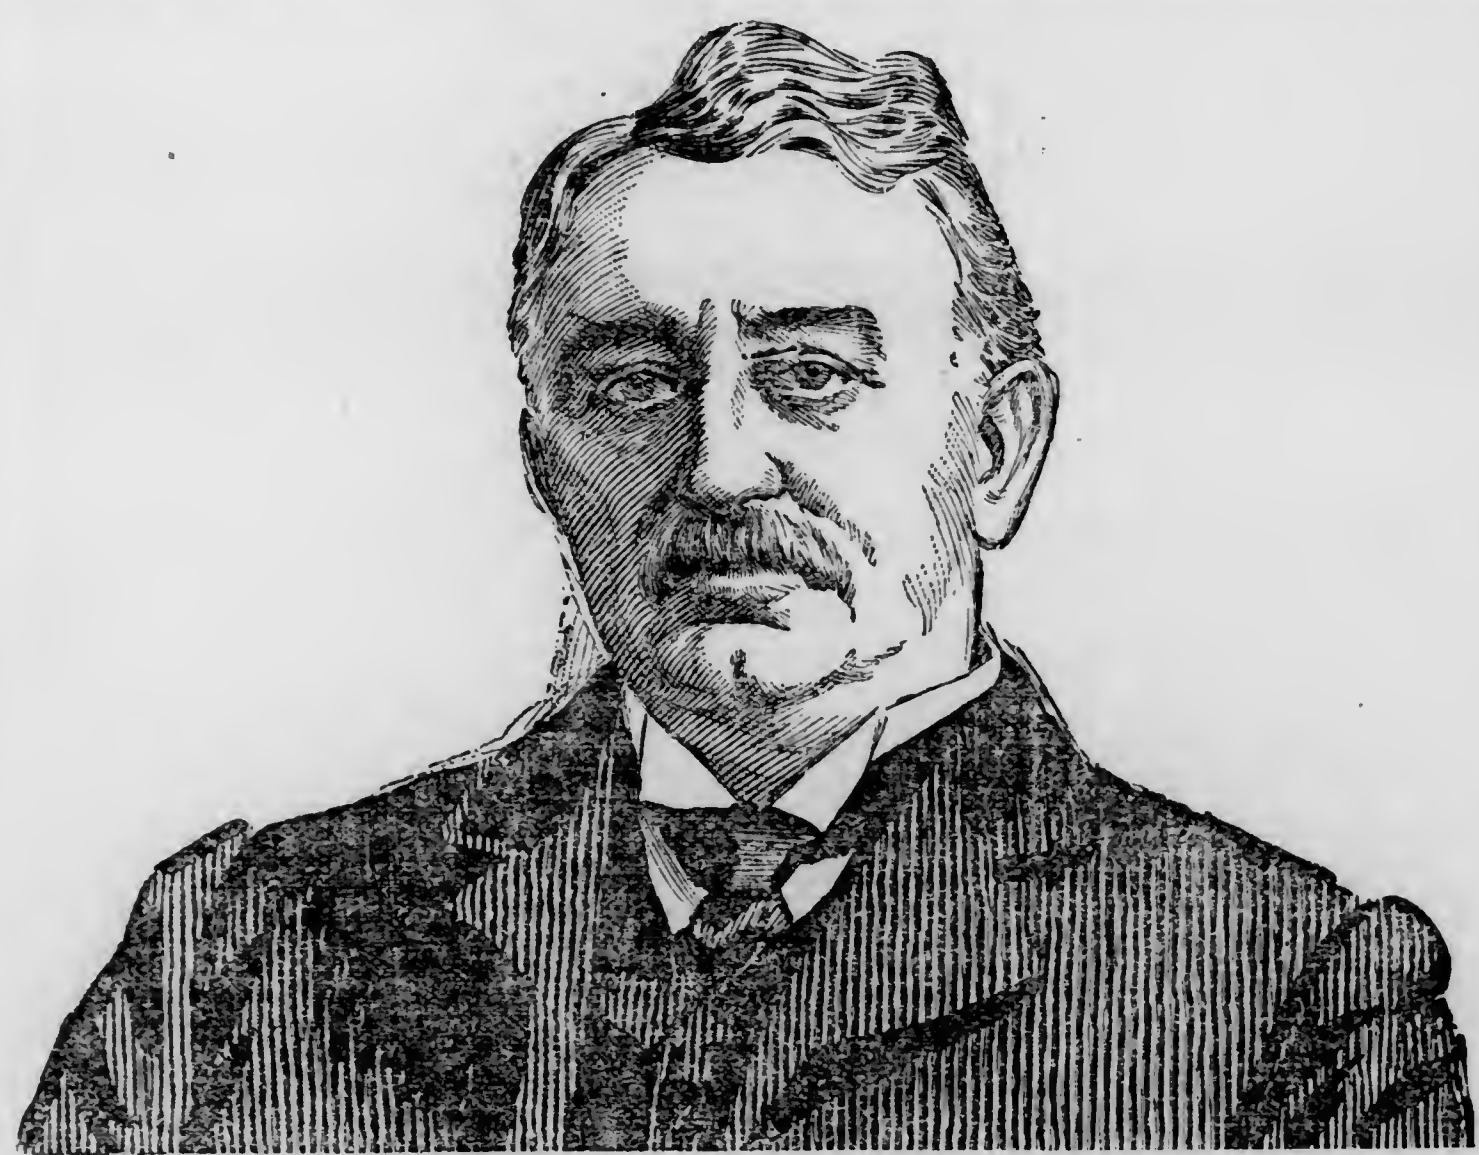

New York, March 26.—Overstudy is believed by the physicians to have completely shattered the mind of William Schultz, chief chemist of the General Chemical company, of Jersey City, Passaic and Bayonne. The physicians ordered his removal from his home to a sanitarium.

Schultz is 35 years old and unmarried. He came to this country from Berlin fourteen years ago. Starting as a clerk in the Bayonne plant, he was advanced step by step. His knowledge of chemistry came to him by hard study. All his spare time was spent over his books. At night when he returned home from the works he would lock himself in his room and seek the knowledge he so much desired. Daylight would find him still pouring over the volumes. A few hours' sleep seemed to satisfy him. The strain, however, was so great his mind gave way.

CAT BITE POISONED GUEST

La Crosse, Wis., March 26.—Mrs. A. A. Gibson, of St. Paul, who is visiting friends here, is seriously ill with blood poisoning, resulting from a bite of a pet cat. Several days ago Mrs. Gibson, while playing with the cat, was slightly bitten on the end of the finger. At first she thought nothing of it, but when her arm began to swell she consulted a physician. While Mrs. Gibson is suffering much pain, there is no danger that serious results will follow.

had become bloated and his huge frame filled out till walking was most difficult. He was frequently attacked with severe heart troubles, but he never relaxed the stoicism which marked his extraordinary career. Nor did he allow his bodily ailments to interfere with his business.

Up to the last Mr. Rhodes kept a firm grasp on all those vast South African interests, created and controlled by him. Except that he was more irritable and more dictatorial there was no outward change in his method of handling men, millions and empires. Towards the social side of life, however, he seemed. Once his day's work at the offices of the British Chartered South Africa company was over, he shut himself up in an unfrequented London mind so necessary to their inception.

New York, March 26.—Earl Grey, before sailing for England, gave to the Associated Press an interview concerning Cecil Rhodes, the earl having received cablegrams from South Africa which led him to believe that Mr. Rhodes had but a few days to live. Lord Grey knew the famous South African leader intimately, having served with him on the board of the British South Africa company, and the intimacy grew when the earl was governor of Rhodesia.

Lord Grey said: "Cecil Rhodes is the only exemplar, perhaps, in our generation of these idealists who, in the days of Elizabethan adventure made the Anglo-Saxon the predominant partner tion alone was safety, that the Irish were building better than they at all knew; their demand was on all fours with the American state right platform, and that in the very rapidity of the proposed change was our best promise of safety. He gave you Ray recall, $10,000 to Mr. Parnell. This gift was a rock of offense to the best Whig element in our country—for example, to the 'Spectator,' but Rhodes believed with Sir Hercules Robinson, that Ireland would make one or two orderly states of a federal union; he saw that the federation of Canada had been agreeably arranged, and that in the Canadian settlement a race problem had been solved; that the time for Australian federation was now at hand; that a peaceful (as he thought) federation of South Africa was inevitable, and that with certain modifications in our second chamber, so that it might evolve as an imperial senate, the feder-

ROYAL ARCANUM.

Duluth Secures Two Offices In the Grand Council.

Minneapolis, March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand council of the Royal Arcanum has raised the per capita tax for grand council purposes from 50 cents to $1.

The change conforms the assessment to the practice of other grand councils. The morning was largely occupied with routine business, following which grand officers were elected.

W. L. Comstock, of Mankato, was made grand regent, and James Craig, of Merriam Park, vice grand regent. F. L. Palmer, of Minneapolis, was elected orator; G. W. Dunlap, of St. Paul, past grand regent; George F. Hughes, Duluth, grand secretary; R. D. Cone, of Minneapolis, grand treasurer; D. C. Cooper, of St. Paul, chaplain; Ruby Plank, of Minneapolis, guide; M. J. Mullen, of Duluth, warden, and D. C. Armstrong, of Albert Lea, secretary.

DALE DIVORCED FROM WIFE

Chicago, March 26.—Harvey S. Dale has been granted a divorce from Mrs. Elizabeth Howe Dale on statutory grounds. Mrs. Dale came into national notoriety several months ago through her arrest in New York on a charge of murdering her infant daughter, Emeline, by means of poisoned candy. She was cleared of the charge by a coroner's jury. A bill containing details of the charges was filed by Mrs. Dale's attorney, but at the last moment Mrs. Dale decided not to defend the case.

ILLEGAL VOTES AT BEMIDJI

Crookston, Minn., March 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A committee of Shewlin citizens spent yesterday in the city conferring with attorneys as to the possibility of contesting the recent election in Beltrami county, in which bonds for $50,000 for a new court house was voted. It is claimed that 200 illegal votes were cast in Bemidji alone. W. E. Rowe, of this city, has been retained to prosecute the case, and a writ of injunction will be applied for to restrain the county commissioners from selling the bonds.

R. S. Lerch Wants Damages in Sum of Ten Thousand Dollars.

Claims the City Drove Him Out of Livery Business.

Ground Is Revocation of First Permission to Move Stable.

R. S. Lerch wants $10,000 damages from the city.

He has begun a suit to that end, claiming the city practically drove him out of the livery business.

The papers in this suit have been served on various city officers.

A year ago the Lerch livery barn, now trembling on the brink of collapse at the corner of Fourth avenue west and First street, occupied part of the site on which the Wolvin building is being constructed.

Mr. Lerch secured a ten-year lease on a lot on the south side of First street, between Third and Second avenues west.

The council on April 17 of last year granted him permission to move the big barn across First street and on this newly leased lot.

Immediately the owners of property on the north side of Superior street between the two avenues named petitioned the council against the removal, saying that it would raise their insurance rates exorbitantly. They threatened an injunction suit.

As a result the council revoked the permission to move the barn and then began the wanderings of the famous Lerch barn.

In a suit against the city Mr. Lerch says that the council, in revoking permission to move practically forced him out of business and he fixes his damages at $10,000. John Jensen is his attorney.

Spring Term.

MUST WAIT.

Normal Contractors Will Not Be Paid in Full Now.

Because the Duluth normal school cost about $500 more than was appropriated by the legislature, the contractors will have to wait for their money until a deficiency appropriation is made by the legislature.

Contractors for parts of the building for which the legislature made a specific appropriation, such as heating, will be paid in full, except where the specific appropriation is exceeded. Other contractors will be paid their proportionate share of the money available and will have to rely on the legislature for the remainder.

This is the situation as disclosed at the conference yesterday between President Akeley and Secretary Olson of the board of control, according to a dispatch from St. Paul today. The conference was held to check over the accounts of the normal board, turned over to the state board of control after the decision of the supreme court that the part of the board of control law placing the financial management of the normal schools in the hands of the board of control was valid.

AT WEST DULUTH

The sawing season was opened in West Duluth this morning by the A. L. Newton mill at the foot of Forty-fifth avenue west. The weather today is very propitious for opening the sawing season, particularly for the work on the outside of the mill, but the plant was started up successfully on its season's run. The mill is very much smaller than the big sawmill plants that have been established at this end of the bay, but it turns out a good-sized lumber cut in a season, none of it being docked. The logs are owned by Mr. Newton, and the lumber is usually sold before it is cut. A long channel, about five or six feet wide, has been cut through the ice from the terminal tracks to the foot of the hoist that takes the logs up to the saw in the mill. Several carloads of logs per day are being received from the range by Mr. Newton.

CONDUCTORS TO DANCE.

Interest is aroused in West Duluth by the invitation received of the first annual ball to be given by the Order of Railway Conductors, Missabe lodge, Division No. 605, at the village hall in Proctorville, Monday evening, March 31. This being the first event of the kind ever held by the conductors at Proctorville, arrangements are being made to make it a memorable one, and it is likely that a big rain will bring over a large number of the railroad men and their families from West Duluth.

The committees are as follows: Reception—Frank Burke, M. A. Murphy, G. H. Paddock, J. A. McMurphy, James Egan, Edward Hewkins, William Call, J. B. Fitzgerald.

Floor—William Hankins, C. M. Burrows, William Grant, Fred Knight, W. A. Riddle, W. H. Windom, John Rix, H. O. Smith, Charles Birch.

General—A. Kurtz, A. Austin, N. L. Davidson, J. W. Kempton, John Deaton, J. E. Koon, J. S. Brown, Gus Noble, W. H. Parker, Durrah, H. F. McMartin, B. W. Hyde, C. O. Mills, Noble Downing, H. Shank, J. R. Hubbard, George Wabeked.

TROILEY WAS OFF.

A number of West Duluth passengers on one of the street cars were given a very annoying wait at the Missabe dock a few evenings ago through the ignorance of a green crew. The car was running over the viaduct toward the city when the lights went out.

The motorman and conductor are said to have discussed the trouble for some time, but finally unable to solve the mystery, one of them walked to the supply car run out by the viaduct.

The man in charge of the wrecker took the car and told the conductor if he would put his trolley on the car would probably run all right.

He then returned to the car and queried to the conductor as to whether the latter knew whether or not he was on the car.

MILLERS COMBINE

Formation of National Federation Has Been Perfected.

Represents a Total Capital of Four Hundred Million.

Has Annual Output of One Hundred Million Barrels.

Chicago, March 26.—The final steps in the formation of the National Millers' federation, representing a total capital of $400,000,000 and an annual flour output of 100,000,000 were taken at a meeting held here today. The federation is a national organization of the various state organizations and in addition it will include the National Millers' association and the National Winter Wheat Millers' association. Officers of both these organizations have been prominent in organizing the new federation. At today's meeting the following officers were elected: President, Francis A. Eckhart, Chicago; first vice president, Henry L. Little, Minneapolis; second vice president, ex-Governor E. O. Starnard, Missouri; treasurer, W. C. Ellis, St. Louis.

A board of directors, which includes the officers, were elected, the additional members being: C. C. Bovey, Minneapolis; W. N. Anderson, Wisconsin; M. H. Davis, Ohio; C. T. Ballard, Kentucky; H. Hackney, Kansas; J. M. Ransom, Texas; C. H. Parker, Michigan; C. L. Cutler, Ohio; A. L. Miner, Pennsylvania; C. E. Engel, New York; E. H. Ward, Indiana; E. P. Bronson, Tennessee; Seymour Carter, Minnesota.

The first annual meeting will be held in Chicago June 11, 1902. President Eckhart declared that the federation was not a combination for the control of prices, but for the purpose of furthering mutual interests and correcting abuses which he said had grown up during the past twenty years.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the legislative movements to give the interstate commerce commission authority to enforce its rulings, and to correct the action of ocean steamship companies and railroads in the alleged discrimination in freight rates against flour in favor of wheat. The Nelson amendment to the Harter act in reference to the London landing clause to prevent the steamship companies from discriminating against American flour was endorsed. Mr. Eckhart explained that American flour had to pay an unjustly high dockage rate at the London wharves. In his address President Eckhart declared that the new federation should endeavor to extend the flour trade by commercial reciprocity treaties.

REMARKABLE

Record of Tennessee Negro—Has Forty-Seven Children.

Huntington, Tenn., March 26.—On the farm of Jason Gibbs, near Hico, in this county, lives a remarkable negro, whose family history possesses an interest more than commonplace. His name is George Gwinn, and he is 102 years of age. But the most remarkable feature in connection with him is that he has 47 children.

The list of his lineal descendants, the number more than 100, is as follows: George Gwinn, born in the year 1800, on Gwinn's creek, in the northern portion of the county, was the father of 10 children. All of the forty-seven are still living; all are married and have an average of three children each, making 40 grandchildren. There are also ten great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

The children of George Gwinn, with their families, are all living in the state. The only one of his children in the immediate vicinity is Lewis Thomas, who lives in Huntington. Lewis is 64 years of age, and is the father of 10 children. His present wife, he has only one son and two grandsons.

The only one of George's forty-seven children who stays near him in his declining years.

Gwinn's first wife was taken from him more than sixty years ago, and he was widowed and carried to Little Rock, Ark., never to return.

Iris Dickson, an Indian woman, he then took upon himself. He then married Gwinn, Charlotte Thomas, Maria Matias and Minerva Randle.

Gwinn is rather a lively darkey, considering his extreme old age. Although compelled to go about with the aid of a cane, he can still work some, and very often does a fairly good day's work. He uses neither liquor nor tobacco, having

CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

A Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman.

Congressman Meekison Gives Peruna a High Endorsement.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON OF OHIO.

Hon. David Meekison is well known, not only in his own state, but throughout America. He began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as mayor of the town in which he lives, during which time he became widely known as the founder of the Meekison Bank of Napoleon, Ohio. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the state.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against his personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue, and he dictated the following letter to Dr. Hartman as the result:

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

THE season of catching cold is upon us. The cough and the sneeze and the nasal twangs are to be heard on every hand. The origin of chronic catarrh is the most common and dreadful of diseases, is a cold.

This is the way the chronic catarrh generally begins. A person catches cold, which hangs on longer than usual. The cold generally starts in the head and throat. Then follows a series of attacks, which incline one to catch cold very easily. At last the person has a cold all the while seemingly, more or less discharge from the nose, hawking, sneezing, frequent clearing of the throat, nostrils stopped up, full feeling in the head, and sore, inflamed throat. The best time to treat catarrh is at the very beginning. A bottle of Peruna properly used never fails to cure a common cold, thus preventing chronic catarrh.

Miss Alice O'Neill, 212 Adams street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot say too much in favor of Peruna. About a year ago I was completely worn out, had serious cold and a hard cough which seemed to be in danger of affecting my lungs. If my system had been in a stronger condition it would have been much easier to throw off this cold, but I could not seem to get any relief until I took Peruna, and I must say that it did the work thoroughly. Within a week I could see a wonderful improvement and I took Peruna four weeks and am in perfect health now."

ALICE O'NEILL.

Miss Alice M. Walsh, 270 Cedar street, Seattle, Wash., writes:

"Last winter I caught a very heavy cold which settled on my lungs, and I could not get rid of it; also brought a disagreeable catarrh of the head. I had read so much of the wonderful results from using Peruna that I bought a bottle to see what the result would be.

quit both several years ago because he thought they were undermining his constitution. His mind is still good, and he delights to gather about him a crowd and talk of events four-score years ago. He says it is his intention to make a crop the coming year.

ACQUITTED.

A Chicago Jury Sets the Two Koeller Brothers Free.

Chicago, March 26.—Edward F. and William Koeller, who have been on trial for the murder of the former's wife, were acquitted by a jury in court today. Mrs. Koeller's body was found in bed in a horribly mutilated condition. Damaging testimony of a circumstantial nature was given by Edward Koeller's children. What is believed to be weighed most with the jury, however, was the testimony of Mary Lenora, the dead woman's mother. She said that her son-in-law, a policeman, had been a patient and dutiful husband, and had been through five years during which his wife had been addicted to drink. She told numerous instances of how Koeller had returned to his home to find his children neglected and hungry while their mother lay in a stupor from drink. With the greatest patience, she said, Koeller took up the household labors and never ceased to attempt to reform his wife. The jury was out only half an hour.

THE MIDWAY

To Be a Great Feature of the Indoor Exposition.

Advertising signs, at times, must not be taken literally; the meaning they convey is often fallacious.

On the Bowers recently, in the window of one of these curious little clothing shops, the following sign appeared:

MR. & MRS. PIETROWSKEY
Have Cast-Off Clothes
Of Every Description.
Please Come In and Examine.

The signs that appear along the "Midway" of the indoor exposition which opens at the Armory next Monday will prove equally as interesting though taken literally.

Even persons that claim they are not superstitious and do not believe in signs will be fascinated by those along the "Midway."

Along the "Midway" will be the bazaar of nations where visitors can purchase rare wares both Oriental and Occidental. There will be several pieces of china on exhibition several hundred years old. These, however, are not for sale. They are exhibited through the courtesy of a friend of the National Guard.

One of the most wonderful exhibits that has been received at the Armory to date is a white silk and lace kimono made in Japan. It is said that nothing like it has ever been seen in Duluth.

Every National Guardsman has one or more gift friends, and a majority of these are working industriously for the success of the bazaar end of the entertainment.

The various buildings are now nearly all in position and the scene presented is wonderful.

"OLD JED PROUTY."
The popularity of "Old Jed Prouty" was demonstrated by the large house that greeted Richard Golden and his excellent company at the Lyceum last evening. Among the American rustic plays "Old Jed Prouty" has ever been a favorite at the head of the lakes. It is a New England character story of unusual interest and merit. The plot is not a deep one and has just a little mystery about it to add spice to the action. The story has a simple and natural denouement, emphasizing the high moral ethics, and brings out in a delightful manner the deep human sentiments that dominate the tale.

Richard Golden, as old Jed Prouty, infused all rugged sincerity, honesty and quaint philosophy possible into the character. He was ably supported by other quaint characters of the old village of Buckport. Mr. Harry M. Morse as Zeb Hardy, the long-legged teamster; Robert Craig as Zack Wilcox, town crier, constable and tax collector; and Maurice Pike as Joe Stover, the leading tradesman. The breezy and delightful character, Bacon Bill, the Boston drummer, was played by Little Leote Sinclair made a hit as the "Little Prouty" of old Jed Prouty's household. The work of the Bucksport volunteer fire company, the singing of the chautauque village choir, and old Jed's justice court plea for the bad boy of the village were among the amusing features of the play.

"WHOSE BABY ARE YOU?"
Tonight at the Lyceum a comedy by Mark Swan, entitled "Whose Baby Are You?" will be given at the Lyceum this evening. Miss May Vokes and Charles Bowser head the cast. Miss Vokes gained her first experience with the stage at the Lyceum, and she has had a tremendous run in the East, particularly in Philadelphia. It will be presented here by Nixon & Zimmerman, the well-known managers, who have provided one of the finest opera companies now on the road. Headed by the comedienne, Miss Marie Sylva, an operatic star of the first magnitude. The supporting company numbers seventy-five people and includes Richard F. Carroll, Frank Deshon, William E. Philip, Nicholas Burnham, Thos. Whiffen, Mathilde Preville and Alice Campbell. The original magnificent costumes and scenery will be seen here and the musical orchestra will be directed by Clarence West.

"MISS BOB WHITE."
A comic opera by Willard Spenser, author of "The Little Tycoon" and "The Princess Bonnie," two of the greatest of opera successes, is what Duluth will see at the Lyceum Monday evening. It is called "Miss Bob White," and it has had a tremendous run in the East, particularly in Philadelphia. It will be presented here by Nixon & Zimmerman, the well-known managers, who have provided one of the finest opera companies now on the road. Headed by the comedienne, Miss Marie Sylva, an operatic star of the first magnitude. The supporting company numbers seventy-five people and includes Richard F. Carroll, Frank Deshon, William E. The company was anxious to secure more than one night in Duluth, and Manager Williams wanted it for two nights, but it was impossible for the management to arrange dates to allow this.

BLIND PIGS.

Four Hibbing Women Charged With Conducting Them.

Four Hibbing women were brought down yesterday afternoon and arraigned in district court on bench warrants issued under indictments charging them with selling liquor without licenses. The women are Mrs. Joe Barstow, Mrs. David Simpson, Mrs. Kikel Elzel and Mrs. Anton Herber. The first two, who are Italians, are charged with operating a blind pig in Hibbing, while the other two, who are Austrians, are charged with running a place at the Rust mine, three-quarters of a mile from Hibbing. T. J. McNeon appeared as their attorney.

The state's case against Jacob Akola, charged with adultery, returned a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon in district court.

Gus Jordan pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to a charge of assault, in the second degree. He threatened the life of a man, and when the man appeared he drew a revolver and threatened to kill him. The case was heard by Judge Akola, who was indicted for burglary, but this charge will be dismissed.

TAKING ACTION

Christian Organizations Planning Bowery Institution For Woodsmen.

They Would Open Coffee House, Reading and Social Rooms.

Initiative Taken Monday Evening and Will Be Followed Up.

Sentiment in the city of Duluth for the establishment of some institution on the Bowery for the benefit of the woodsmen that came to Duluth in large numbers during certain periods of the year is growing among the Christian organizations. Already there is a well-organized movement on foot to provide a place that the woodsmen can go for rest and recreation aside from the Bowery saloons.

The initiative was taken Monday evening at the quarterly rally of the Duluth Christian Endeavor union, an organization comprised of all the young people's societies of the Protestant churches of this city. The rally was held at the Pilgrim Congregational church, was largely attended, and much enthusiasm was displayed in the project.

The idea is said to have been suggested to some of the members of the union by a sermon preached at the East End Methodist church a week ago last Sunday morning by Rev. J. W. Powell, Jr., who was supplying the pulpit, and who urged, at some length, that something be done to cast about the woodsmen influences that would offset those of the Bowery saloons.

Added zest was given to the movement by the stirring sermon preached last Sunday evening by Dr. S. P. Long of the First M. E. church, who told so graphically his story of the "Bowery Tragedy."

Rev. Mr. Powell, by invitation, addressed the union Monday evening, and an interesting discussion followed regarding ways and means of making some practical effort to change conditions on the Bowery. The idea finally adopted by the union was an organization of a joint stock company, put on as good a financial basis as possible, that will secure some suitable building on the Bowery and arrange, first, for the opening of a coffee house where the woodsmen can get regular lunches. In connection with the coffee house there will be a smoking room, to which the men will have free access to read and visit, and as soon as possible, games and other diversions will be introduced for their entertainment.

The scheme is a broad one regarding its ultimate object, which contemplates, if the idea works successfully, the establishment of a lodging house and, perhaps, a night school.

At the Monday evening meeting a committee was appointed to investigate and see if there is a building available on the Bowery for a coffee house. The committee is comprised of President Thomas Silliman of the union, who is an ex-officio member; Rev. Mr. Powell, honorary member; and Susan M. Erickson, Miss Hattie Cameron and Miss Regina Wieland. George Wilson will act as chairman of the committee.

It is distinctly understood that the project is not in opposition to the Duluth Bethel and the branch of the Bethel on the contrary, it is expected that the new organization and the Bethel organization can work hand in hand and be mutually beneficial to the other. Recognizing the grand work being accomplished by the Bethel, the young people of the new organization hold that there is a prejudice existing on the part of many woodsmen who go to the Bethel for meals, at remaining for the religious services. In the evening there is no other place at the Bethel for the woodsmen than at the religious services and many of them will not remain for those.

The plan of the new organization is to provide Christian club rooms, where no religious services will be held, but a man and a wholesome place will be available to the woodsmen who do not care to go to religious services and would be kept from the saloons. The sentiment might be expressed as going after the woodsmen from the social rather than from the religious point of view. The committee appointed to find a location will report to a meeting of the executive board, to be held in the near future, and the matter will again be taken up at the next quarterly rally, the last Monday in June.

A BLIND WANDERER.

Didn't Know That Food Could Restore Her.

A well known writer uses Grape-Nuts as a tonic when feeling the effects of extra heavy work. She writes: "Grape-Nuts should be taken regularly as one would a tonic. I eat mine cold in the morning with hot milk or cream poured over it, and it is delicious, nourishing and strengthening."

"Some time ago I said to a lady friend who was a great sufferer from dyspepsia and has been an invalid for five years, and who was a mere skeleton. 'If I had only known you sooner you need not have suffered all these years.' She looked at me in surprise and asked me what I would have done. 'I should have put you on Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food,' I replied quite confidently. 'Did you ever hear of it?' Oh yes she had heard of it but never tried it as she had never had her attention called to it especially and had not thought it applied to her need."

"Now," I said, "if you will just set about it and try Grape-Nuts for a week, three times a day, I will guarantee you will rise up and call me blessed."

"She took my advice and followed it faithfully. When I saw her about a week later she looked like a different person although she had only gained two pounds in weight, but said she felt so much better and stronger and has greatly improved in health and strength since using the food."

"She is getting well and you can imagine her delight is unbounded. My own experience and that of others is sufficient evidence of the scientific value of a food that supplies nourishment to the system and builds up the brain and nerve centers." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DAY FOR CLEANING

ably Designate One In Near Future.

City Can Be Quickly
Cleaned If People Take Hold.

City Departments Will Do What They Can to Aid.

Mayor Hugo may designate a day for general city cleaning in the near future.

This was done last year and the movement was very successful in spite of short notice.

It is suggested that neighboring cleaning parties be organized and if every person does a little work the city will be clean in a day.

While the department of public works to which is assigned the duty of cleaning and keeping the streets clean is able to get down to an active campaign during various periods of the year, it is suggested that a permanent system could be put in working order.

Then the health department plan of campaign is to be a franchise for a period of years for the collection of garbage.

That means council legislation with necessary delays and the inauguration of a receptacle system. It is said that it would be midsummer before this commendable system could be put in working order.

In the meantime the city officers will call for help and general co-operation from the citizens. They say that if the people would turn out on a designated day and each man clean his own yard, work could be accomplished in twenty-four hours that might take months if the property owners wait for the city to take the initiative.

The council composed of delegates from the various women's clubs of the city suggests a liberal display and distribution of neatly printed cards calling attention to the fact persons throwing paper and other refuse about the city violating ordinances.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. J. W. Powell, of Duluth. "I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Max Wirth."

EASTER.

This is the Week When Trade Is at Its Height.

This is the week when Easter trade is at its height. Easter is the day when fashion blossoms forth after the Lenten period. The women of fashion who could not have a new gown and new bonnet for Easter would not feel that life was quite worth living. It is true that in the Northwest Easter is not always a holiday, but the people are very conspicuously in the East is basking in sunshine. Nevertheless, Duluth is a very fashionable city and when the weather is bright and pleasant there is always an Easter display that compares favorably with that seen in any metropolitan city.

Passengers on the Northern Pacific train from St. Paul to Duluth, last Friday night, report an exciting time on the Pullman car Skalkahaw about 1 o'clock in the morning, due to an explosion of the gasoline tank in the rear of the car. The explosion of the car, which damaged the vehicle about $100, and necessitated the laying up of the Pullman in the car shops at St. Paul for repairs.

The accident is said to have occurred just before the train reached Rush City, Minn. Porter Watson had gone to the toilet room to remove two small tanks connected with the gas making plant, when, through some cause not explained to the public, the gas making machine exploded, killing Watson. The explosion of the car, which damaged the vehicle about $100, and necessitated the laying up of the Pullman in the car shops at St. Paul for repairs.

Mayor Hugo Says Women Are Strictly Barred From Saloons.

Police Have Orders to Report Any Violation of Rule.

Claims Officers Often Get Abuse For Doing Their Duty.

Mayor Hugo takes exception to the published inference that the police department is not doing its duty in suppressing the wayward girl nuisance.

He says that he agrees with the Herald that the reform of youth, and the maintenance of the saloons, are two entirely different matters, but he does not believe there is an officer in the employ of the city that will stand by and see a young girl enter a saloon and not try to prevent it. He says that the police department now has strict orders to report the presence of women in saloons, and every saloonkeeper, if their license will be strongly recommended to the council.

Since these orders were issued recently not a woman has been found in a saloon in any part of the city, according to the policy by these officers. He says that in one instance where a woman robbed a saloon and tried to get into three saloons, she was refused admittance, and she had departed by the time she was caught.

SCHOOLGIRLS KNOW ITS WORTH.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives Them Energy, Snap, and Full Life.

It Enables Them to Attain the Blessings and Vigor of True Womanhood.

Women and girls in every station of life who have used Paine's Celery Compound know that it is a blessing that sick and run down females cannot afford to be without.

Modjeska, the peerless queen of actresses, voices the sentiments of thousands of women and girls who have tested the strength making and life giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound when she says: "I have found Paine's Celery Compound the best of all remedies for the nervous exhaustion consequent upon the arduous work of my profession. Overworked, weary in the house, and weak, languid schoolgirls have found in Paine's Celery Compound the health and vigor it so strongly guarantees."

Ida Mallory, of Allentown, Ill., with the view of benefiting young girls, writes as follows: "I was taken last spring with what the doctors called nervous disease and neuritis, and three or four doctors treated me all last summer without doing me any good. My father started to travel with me, and in our travels a friend told me to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. My father bought a bottle of it, and it helped me so I took two bottles more which entirely cured me. My father has nervous headaches, and he has been taking Paine's Celery Compound, and says it has done him five hundred dollars' worth of good. We are using the fourth bottle in our family, and we consider Paine's Celery Compound the best in the world for nervous and other troubles."

A STRANGE MYSTERY

Requests to Find Him Were Sent to 75,000 Persons.

Yonkers, N. Y., March 26.—Walter F. Bolger, of Yonkers is the most searched for person in the world. Never before, so far as known, has a criminal person, even the most wanted criminal, been looked for as over the face of the earth as has this modest Yonkers boy.

The search has been systematic and exhaustive. It has been under way for nearly three months. Not a trace of him has been discovered. He will be kept up until the young man is found, dead or alive; unless his sorrowing mother, Mrs. S. Bolger, meanwhile succumbs to the strain. The history of the search is a story of remarkable perseverance of common sense business methods applied to detective work; of vain hopes raised only to be shattered; of a man who never wrote letters becoming the highest letter writer in the world; of inquiries made in every known corner of the earth; of countless attempts at fraud and blackmail and their thwarting; of hundreds of false identifications and of a mother whose health has broken down under a weight of grief and a father whose hair was turned white in three months.

"The reason for the boy's disappearance is an absolute mystery. So far no one has been able to lift the veil. The boy's father says he will devote his life and fortune to the solution of the mystery. He has set out to find the boy and if it is within the limits of human possibility to do so he will succeed. He is a man with a square jaw and red hair before it turned white. They give a just indication of his dogged determination, and energetic enthusiasm. And that is how it comes about that he has put in active operation a practical system of search that has never before been equaled."

The hunt for Charlie Ross fades into insignificance beside the magnitude of the search for Walter Bolger. Nearly 75,000 people have been directly requested, either by personal appeal or by letter, to watch for him. In addition to this, millions of newspaper readers have been given his description and told that any information about him will be thankfully received and liberally rewarded.

Newspaper articles about him have been printed in every civilized city in the world and in every language in which newspapers are published. Mr. Bolger offers $500 for any information concerning his sons' whereabouts.

It was on Nov. 19 last that Walter F. Bolger disappeared. He was the eldest child and was nearly 18 years old. His birthday came on Nov. 22.

There were seven other children in the family, five girls and two boys. One of the girls, however, died a few years ago. It was a very happy family. The father, Paul S. Bolger, is a prosperous sanitary contractor, with a place on Broadway street, Fifty-third street and Park avenue, New York. While he could scarcely be called a rich man, especially as the term is used in New York, he is well-to-do, has a very large business and is the owner of a number of houses and other real property in New York.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bolger are devoted to their children, and Walter was the favorite. They did everything possible to make home life attractive to him and to the others as well.

Mr. Bolger is a typical business man, with pleasant speech and a kindly blue eye. He applied to any duty with a twinkle merrily on occasion. He is very considerate of the welfare and feelings of others, and is fairly worshipped by the employees in his office. He is the sort of man one takes to, and he is not a man who would ever be a friend. While the discipline in his family was far from lax, he is extremely lenient to the point of indulgence. His rule is one of kindness and firm justice.

Mr. Bolger treated more like a younger brother than a son, and the boy repaid the affection in kind. Mrs. Bolger is pretty near to being the ideal of a mother and a domestic woman. Her whole interest in life is centered in her children. She lives for them. They are always her first consideration.

The Bolger home is a beautiful house in Ludlow, the name of the southern portion of Yonkers, which is also the most fashionable section. The house stands on a bluff overlooking the Hudson. It crosses the river towers the grand, rock-faced barrier of the Palisades, which stretch away in either direction as far as the eye can reach. To the north the river spreads out into the beautiful Tappan zone, and the blue hills of the Highlands to the south lie the wharves and shipping of the American metropolis. The panoramic view of the passing craft on the river is ever a sight to see. Walter Bolger may travel the world over, but he will scarcely find a pleasanter location for a home. The house itself is a modern country residence, handsomely furnished. Mr. Bolger built it himself a few years ago with a special eye to the needs and comforts of his children. There is a playroom, a workroom, gymnasium, arbor, conservatory and all that sort of thing.

Mr. Bolger said his son's disappearance as follows:

"The night before he left Walter got down in his dress suit and was having with some clothes and hats," said he. "We paid no attention to it. The next morning he was gone. I had an appointment with a dentist at 11 o'clock."

"When I left my room to go to the city he came out in the hall and put Marvelous Growth of Hair.

A Famous Doctor-Chemist Has Discovered a Compound That Grows Hair on a Bald Head in a Single Night.

Starting Announcement Causes Doctors to Marvel at Growth of Hair in the Wonderful Cures.

After half a century in the laboratory, crowned with high honors for his many world-famous discoveries the celebrated physician-chemist at the head of the great Alchemic Medical Dispensary, has just made the startling announcement that he has produced a compound that grows hair on any bald head. The doctor makes the claim that, after years of taking years to complete, he has at last reached the goal of his ambition. To the doctor all heads are alike. There are none that cannot be cured by this remarkable remedy. The record of the cures already made is truly marvelous and were it not for the high standing of the great physician and the convincing testimony of thousands of citizens all over the country it would seem too miraculous to be true.

There can be no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claims nor can his cures be disputed. He does not ask any man, woman or child to take his or anyone else's word for it but he stands ready and willing to send free trial packages of this great hair restorative to any one who writes to him for it, enclosing a 2-cent stamp to prepay postage. In a single night it has started hair on balding heads for years. It has stopped falling hair in one hour. It never fails no matter what the condition, age or sex. Old men and young men, women and children, who have lost their hair by the use of this great new discovery, if you are bald, if you have thinning hair or if your hair, eyebrows or eyelashes are thin or short write the Alchemic Medical Dispensary, 813 Butterfield Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, enclosing a 2-cent stamp to prepay postage for the package and in a short time you will be entirely restored.

EXCLUDES THEM ALL

House Committee Has Completed Consideration of Chinese Bill.

A Number of Changes Made in the Measure.

Rigid Prohibitory Clause Was Finally Restored to Bill.

Washington, March 25.—The house committee on foreign affairs yesterday completed consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill and by a preliminary unanimous vote ordered it favorably reported to the house. The measure has been most carefully considered for more than a month, and it comes from the committee with quite a number of changes. The exclusion of Chinese laborers is made complete, both as to the main land territory of the United States and all insular possessions, including the Philippines and Hawaii. The committee finally restored the prohibitory clause recommended by the Pacific coast senators, and members, so that as reported it reads: "No Chinese laborer shall be admitted to the United States or any insular possession, or to any territory under the jurisdiction of the United States, at any time after the passage of this act, except as provided in this act."

In addition the committee framed the following section, specifically directing the Philippine commission to make a report to the house: "That the Philippine commission be and they are hereby authorized and required to make a report to the house of representatives of the United States, at the first session of the next Congress, on the condition of the Chinese laborers in the Philippines."

San Juan, P. R., was struck out from the list of ports where Chinese laborers may be admitted, as it was feared there would be a lack of sufficient officials to make careful inspection. The other more important changes made by the committee are as follows:

Certificates of identification of Chinese must be accompanied by photographs, at the expense of the Chinese. In addition to San Francisco and the other ports specifically mentioned for the examination and admission of Chinese, the commissioner general of immigration is authorized to designate such ports as may be necessary. The committee considered that the original bill was too severe in making it a misdemeanor for the original bill to detain a Chinese person seeking admission and the penalty was reduced to a misdemeanor. The original bill also subjected a vessel to forfeiture, in case it brought over forbidden Chinese, but the committee changed this to a fine of $200 against the master or owner of the vessel, and forfeiture in case the fine is not paid. The committee struck out the clause requiring the United States district attorney to be present at all deportation proceedings and requiring at least two credible witnesses other than Chinese to establish the right to remain in the United States. The prohibition against Chinese sailors on American ships was struck out, thus permitting such Chinese sailors to be employed. The term Chinese was made to include all those who are Chinese by birth or descent leaving out the reference to mixed race. The committee also struck out the fine of $5 to the United States commissioner for passing on every case under the act. In other respects the measure is practically the same as that passed by the Pacific coast interests, with certain amendments made by the committee.

After reporting the bill on Thursday, Chairman Hill is hopeful of bringing it to early consideration before the house.

A PORTER LYNCHED

Negro Strung Up For Assaulting a White Woman.

Sheriff Made Strong Effort to Save the Prisoner.

Howling Mob Got Him and Quickly Ended Existence.

La Junta, Col., March 25.—W. H. Wallace, a negro sleeping car porter, was lynched at 8 o'clock last night in the corner of the court house square, being hung to an electric light pole by a howling mob of 4000 people who had been hunting for him all day.

After the hanging the body of the negro was riddled with bullets.

Wallace had been kept out of town all day by Sheriff Farr in an attempt to save him from the mob. The prisoner made no resistance to the lynching and died protesting his innocence.

Pearing a lynching Sheriff Farr decided to take the prisoner to Pueblo. When his intention became known, however, the railroad employees declared that he could not travel by rail, as they would refuse to operate the trains out of La Junta with Wallace on board. The sheriff finally decided to take the prisoner to Pueblo, and then decided to drive through. Meantime an armed party had left La Junta to meet the sheriff and prisoner. The carriage was finally overtaken at Patterson's Hollow, midway between Rockyford and Manzanola. Sheriff Farr made no resistance and Wallace did not ask for mercy. The carriage was taken toward La Junta. Passing through Rockyford the mob was joined by 500 men of that town and the mob reached about 7 o'clock, and there thousands of men, women and children, many from the surrounding country, were waiting. A peace element endeavored to stop the proposed lynching, but a committee of the mob refused to let the sheriff and prisoner pass. The mob asked the privilege of trying to get from Wallace a confession. This was granted and then the negro was taken to the court house. After half an hour or so word went out that the court house doors were locked, and the mob would try to prevent violence. Immediately pandemonium reigned. Stones were hurled at the building until every window was broken. Then, with a telegraph pole for a battering ram, the mob broke into the court house and Wallace was taken out. Mayor Rubin made a speech to the crowd, for reasons to let the mob take its course. He was listened to quietly, but as soon as he finished the mob broke into the street dragging the negro by a rope.

A boy was sent up a telegraph pole to look over the mob. He saw the crowd and then dropped into the crowd. A hundred hands grasped it and in an instant the negro was in the air.

Hardly had the boy climbed out of the crowd and before the negro's body reached the top of the pole it was riddled with bullets and the negro was dead.

At a late hour the body had not been taken down. The coroner lives at Rockyford.

Sheriff Farr said that Wallace steadfastly maintained his innocence, but the police declare that when they arrested him in his car there was blood and gray hairs on his clothing and other evidence which satisfied them he was the guilty man.

Wallace lived in Denver with his wife and had no children. He is said to have come from Sedalia, Mo., and had been employed by the railway company for several years. The Denver officials claim he was not a police record.

La Junta, Col., March 25.—Mrs. Henrietta H. Miller, a gray-haired woman, aged 67, going from Los Angeles, Cal., to Denver, to visit relatives, was brutally assaulted in the Santa Fe railroad yards here Monday night by a negro porter on a Pullman car running between Denver and La Junta.

After leaving the Chicago limited train here, Mrs. Miller asked a porter whom she met on the station platform where the Denver sleeper was. The man offered to conduct her to her car. After going with him a considerable distance, Mrs. Miller became suspicious of the man in the far East, not only because of his manner, but because of the assault and a description of her assailant. Washington H. Wallace, a Pullman car porter, who runs between Denver and this city, stopping here on each run from 9:45 at night until noon the following day, was arrested in the car of which he had charge. He was identified by Mrs. Miller. Bloodhounds were brought from Canyon City, and they trailed the man who accompanied Mrs. Miller through the yards to the car in which Wallace was found.

Eight assaults have occurred here in the past few months, and it is believed that all were committed by one man. Mrs. Miller's condition is critical.

MEATS GO UP.
Prices in New York Rising Very Rapidly.

New York, March 25.—Prices of fresh meats are rising rapidly here and, although the retailers have not advanced their prices as the wholesale dealers have, they will do so within the next few days. Every section of the country goes up, but this year the prices are higher than for many years past. Large demands for export are said to have caused the advances.

A POLITICAL CONSPIRACY.
Hartford, Conn., March 25.—The Evening Democrat printed a special cable from Maj. Estes, Rathbone at Havana reading as follows: "On my return the verdict is the result of Gen. Wood's orders to those who took part in the political conspiracy. I will appeal the case."

IN TIGHTS.
Comic Opera Prima Donna Raced to Catch a Train.

Chicago, March 25.—Wearing crimson tights that flashed out from an opera cloak hanging behind a building clasped beneath her arm, and her hands filled with a bouquet of flowers, the prima donna, Miss Berli, the comic opera prima donna, fled through the streets of Minneapolis Saturday night to catch a train for Chicago.

She was not alone. Sunday she spent the day at the Victoria hotel with her husband, Mr. Berli, and her two children. Chicago a week ago to assume the leading role of K-Ram in "The Sultan of Soudan" at the Grand Opera House.

When the curtain was rung down on the first act of "The Princess Chloé," which Miss Berli was appearing in, she looked only eight minutes of train time.

The station was three blocks away. Miss Berli's maid had her street costume ready, but there was no time to do it, nor to take the "make-up" of the prima donna.

Throwing an opera cloak about her, she announced that she would make the train if she had to appear in the Pullman in her stage costume. Snatching up her belongings from the dresser, she tossed them into a suit case and ordered the maid to bring along her street clothing and a pair of slippers. Attendants of the Victoria hotel hurried to her suit case and then they both made a run for the cab.

Miss Berli had her pet bulldog, Pete, in one arm and a huge bunch of American Beauties in the other. Her stage tinsel and tights were not hidden by the dress she wore to the train. The maid had a petticoat over her arm, a picture hat in one hand and carried a hand basket containing a change of slippers and a pair of slippers. Attendants of the Victoria hotel hurried to her suit case and then they both made a run for the cab.

HEINOUS CRIMES

Charged to the Account of Morgan Ball in Kentucky.

He Denied Negro Debtor Food When He Was Starving.

Then Killed Him Under Circumstances of Unusual Atrocity.

Tiptonville, Tenn., March 25.—Lake county has become too warm for Morgan Ball. He left with his family between two trains to escape. If possible, the clutches of the law. Ball's alleged crime was one of the most heinous that has ever been committed in Kentucky. Ball, a place, up to a few years ago, noted for its dark and gruesome deeds. The story, as told, is as follows:

During the bitter cold weather an old negro tenant on Ball's place went to him and begged for something to eat, but was refused because he owed Ball $2. It is said that the negro even got down on his knees.

Later Ball missed one of his chickens. He accused the negro, but said he did not steal the chicken, but said he did it to keep from starving. Ball, it is charged, in the negro's hands, beat and then shot him down. Several days later the body floated in the bank. Ball, the story goes, then made the old man's son accompany him, and borrowing a skiff from a fisherman some distance above, he rowed down to where the body was, tied a wire around the neck and then made the son row out some distance and set it adrift.

That night, according to the story, in order to silence the boy, Ball hunted him up and crushed in his skull with an ax. He did not succeed in killing the boy, however, for he crawled to a neighbor's shack and there told the story. The darkies were badly frightened and refused to give him admittance, whereupon he dragged himself off and has not been seen since. The negroes claim that fear of Ball and his friends kept them from repeating the story before now.

A short distance below where the body was set adrift it was caught and identified. In a few days suspicion revolved to Ball, for the fact that he had borrowed the skiff from the fisherman and had been seen beating the old negro several times in a few days before the body was found, was much discussed, and naturally some of the talk got to Ball's ears.

Yesterday he appeared before Squire Potter very indignant over the matter. He demanded that the affair be investigated immediately, having with him several negroes and a few white friends to prove his entire innocence. Squire Potter informed him that he had no authority over the matter, but that he would investigate the case, but it would have to be put off a day in order that more witnesses might be summoned. He then adjourned the case until the following day.

Ball's ardor cooled noticeably. Last night Squire Potter saw Ball and his family entering a skiff to cross the river.

Great indignation is felt over the matter and a strong effort will be made to get Kentucky authorities to take hold of the matter.

SCROFULA

I bequeath to my children Scrofula with all its attendant horrors, humiliation and suffering. This is a strange legacy to leave to posterity; a heavy burden to place upon the shoulders of the young.

This treacherous disease dwarfs the body and hinders the growth and development of the faculties, and the child born of blood poison, or scrofula-tainted parentage, is poorly equipped for life's duties.

Hints For Entertainers

The Five O'Clock Tea Has Come Into Favor Again.

The 5-o'clock tea has again found its way into universal favor with the society matron and maid. The charming custom of entertaining very quickly one afternoon each week has been revived, and young hostesses are vying with each other to make their "at homes" the most attractive features of the early spring festivities.

Of course, every one has an at-home day, and upon the afternoon of this day a woman receives her formal callers. The hostess of the 5-o'clock tea has decreed that ceremony shall be banished during her hour for receiving, and that there shall be a delightful air of informality to her afternoon drawing room chats. That is why they are becoming so extremely popular.

Of course, invitations are not issued to these informal afternoons, but it soon becomes known to the members of a girl's "set" that on a certain afternoon of each week she entertains with the jolliest little tea party imaginable. If the girl is the fortunate possessor of a den, her afternoons assume the air of a studio tea, and there is always an indefinable air of unconventionality and good fellowship about these parties. There is an artistic atmosphere, too, about a den with its old oak furniture, the array of delft stoneware and the indiscriminate gallery of pictures. Then there are the comfortable couches that invite the exchange of gossip.

The hostess, in the simplest of gowns, receives her callers and introduces the guests who claim to be strangers, but who are bound to find congeniality of spirit in so fascinating an environment.

The hostess prepares the tea and serves it from a samovar. Upon the arrival of each guest a cup of tea is prepared and served while it is fresh and steaming hot.

Russian tea is extremely popular for informal afternoon functions. This tea is made by pouring boiling water over English breakfast tea, letting it draw for a moment and then adding a pony of Jamaica rum, with additional boiling water, after which the tea is allowed to steep for a few minutes longer. It is then served in cups with a separate decanter of Jamaica rum, thin slices of lemon and powdered sugar.

Since tea has again become the most favored beverage, seekers after novelty are devising ways and means of making and serving this light refreshment. A novel way of preparing tea and one that is very simple is to make a number of small linen bags, just large enough to contain a teaspoonful of tea. These are filled and drawn together with draw strings. The hostess places one of these bags of tea in each cup, pours boiling water over them, covers the cup with the saucer, allows it to steep for a couple of minutes, and, lo! the most delicious cup of tea is made. The hostess removes the tea bag, adds the sugar, and the cup of tea is ready to be served. Sandwiches have quite taken the place of cakes and wafers for the accompaniment of tea. Dainty rolls of white or brown bread and butter tied with bits of white ribbon are highly suitable, while the more elaborate sandwiches are much in favor.

Nuts, chopped very fine and mixed with mayonnaise, are delicious spread between thin layers of white bread and butter. Lettuce served between brown bread and figs, fruits and preserves of all kinds are still among the favorites in sandwiches. This slice of apple with mayonnaise covering is the newest of the sandwich delicacies. Hot biscuits served with tea is a Southern custom that has found high favor with the afternoon entertainers. Of course the afternoon tea is not confined to the informal entertainers, but can be made a most formal invitation affair. The tea is one of the most delightful and one of the most inexpensive of the modern modes of entertainment, and its great charm is the comprehensive way in which many social obligations may be disposed of within two hours. A hostess who possesses a house large enough may entertain several hundred guests in one afternoon, although within the prescribed time she may be barely able to give each guest the simplest greeting. In fact in many of the crushes the greeting between hostess and guest are omitted and the cards alone tell the tale.

The teas are given in quite the same way that the old-time receptions were given. There are the decorations of flowers that lend a redolence to the entire house, and the guests are seated behind a miniature forest of palms.

Pretty girls, in the daintiest of costumes, attend and serve the cups of steaming tea, for the edict has gone forth that at the formal affairs only the hostess may be served. The dravny tea must be hot, lukewarm and weak tea is the most unpalatable beverage. The hostess, however, who gives a cozy refreshment, and will go far in lending success to either a ceremonious or an informal social affair.

One of the surest evidences of the growing popularity of the 5-o'clock tea is that men, who have always displayed a marked aversion to fashionable afternoon functions, have been finding their way into the drawing rooms of the most popular during these 5-o'clock teas, and there has been some talk of invitations extended for some mysteriously planned affairs, to be given at several well-known bachelor quarters at the fascinating hour of dusk.

THE FLUFFY SUMMER GIRL OF 1902

A Morning Glory Gown That Rivals In Prettiness Its Attractive Name—The Sash Girl Will Be Numerous.

New York, March 22.—How many women are here in the United States? Consult the statistician and you will have an estimate of the summer girl—so numerous will she be.

There lives no woman with soul so dead or body so old that some lingering spark of summer girlism may not be found within. Were she in the most advanced stage of personal despair or glance at the spring windows would waken her. Two glances would draw her into the store on summer bargains afloat, while a third glance would send her home determined to construct herself a gown that would place her in the summer girlhood.

But you cannot be a summer girl in a linen skirt, and a shirt waist, with a simple sailor collar, your lowly head. You must fuss and frill, tuck and cord, lace and embroider until you have driven away the accusation of simplicity as well as the look of severity from your material. The summer girl is an ambitious daughter.

Yet there are those who assert that there are two styles of summer girl—the outgoing girl with her blue canvas skirt and her white shirt waist, crowned with straw, and the girl with her fedora, flat-topped Tam of straw, or ready-to-wear hat, and the frilled summer girl, she with the flounces and the turbulences, the one who has been called the fluffy summer girl.

Be that as it may—two kinds or one—it is certainly still the glorious Fourth sends its scream into the air, it is the fluffy summer girl that we shall have in our midst, and, since she is here, or coming fast, is it not best to study her?

A woman—such an extravagant home woman—is making herself a gown each week. She calculates that by the month of June she will have ten or a dozen of the prettiest summer costumes in the world. She is buying the material cheap, for a few cents a yard, never paying higher than half a dollar.

front is a trifle baggy so that it can be pulled out over the giraffe—for there is a giraffe. The pin tucking is so fine that for your life you cannot distinguish between tucks and cords. The sleeves are tucked in this fine manner right to the elbows. Then there is a puff of pale pink silky lawn, just to hold the elbow, and then there is a band of heavy lace, so arranged that it sets close to the arm. This makes a short sleeve, as you can imagine, but short sleeves are fashionable.

The giraffe is in lace, cut to a point below and above the belt, front and back, and lined with silk and boned and all that. But the lining and the bones do not show. And the lace giraffe is certainly pretty.

The skirt is as tight as it can possibly be and tucked with the finest of tucks, running straight down from the waist, to the very shoe tops. Then comes a band of lace above a flounce.

The name "morning glory" gown is borrowed from the flounce, which is very full and is set upon the skirt very near the bottom to make the sudden flare—the morning glory gown. It is so

ONE OF HER FINE WAISTS.

The summer girl is fairly revelling in the buying of dainty waists just now. This West End model is one of the most attractive shown. It is made of the latest French lawn, with exquisite lace medallions bordering a dainty tucked yoke and bands of insertion from stock to waist. The sleeve have similar trimming.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words cannot tell me how much I owe to the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'Thank you,' but there is much more to my heart for you."

BEARING-DOWN pains are the most painful that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains." They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You will jump at every disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, of Kansas City, Kas., was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system of organs are relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its proper and normal position. With regular menstruation the strain is relaxed and returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done in thousands of cases.

Miss Margaret Robinson, of Bridges, Ala., was a great sufferer with bearing-down pains but she was cured by Wine of Cardui also. She writes:

"Before using Wine of Cardui I suffered terribly with bearing-down pains. By advice of a friend I used your medicine and now I feel as well as ever I felt in my life."

Mrs. Louise Carber, of Little Falls, N. Y., writes:

"Your Wine of Cardui has done for me what no doctor or other medicine could do. I suffered for twelve years with bearing-down pains but nothing helped me until I got Wine of Cardui."

Mrs. Mary Ketter, of Noland, Arkansas, writes:

"I have been greatly afflicted with bearing-down pains and flooding, but after using only one bottle of Wine of Cardui the trouble has been corrected and I am in better health than I have been for years."

Mrs. W. L. Daufenschick, of Benwood, Ohio, says:

"I had terrible bearing-down pains and other sufferings. I think it was providential that I found one of your booklets and read of Wine of Cardui, for two bottles of it have cured me. I want to speak a few words of praise for Wine of Cardui. It is a wonderful medicine."

These letters from sufferers who have been raised from beds of dangerous and painful illness by Wine of Cardui are printed for your benefit in this newspaper today and if you do not take advantage of it you will have no one to blame but yourself. Every druggist sells Wine of Cardui and if you cannot find a bottle you can begin the treatment today.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today.

simple to make.

Cotton gowns are supposed to be wash gowns, whether they are in muslin, lawn, batiste, cheviot, Madras, mercerized material or challis. The very idea of a cotton gown, its essence of recommendation as well as of desirability, lies in the fact that it will wash. But, do you realize it, the cotton gowns of this summer are not supposed to be laundered. They are too fine, their plan too complicated, their trimmings too delicate. One good soap sudsing would ruin them. It is a washboard with the aid of knuckles and a washboard.

There died in New York the other day an old woman who made a fat living washing valuable laces and fine linens for the Vanderbilts, Belmonts and other wealthy folk. At the time of her demise she was at work upon a Venetian lace article which cost $5000. For years she cleaned these fine materials with naphtha and with peculiar washing compounds of her own.

It would pay any summer woman to give the subject of laundering her fine gowns careful attention, for the modistes' delicate hand is the one that makes the making of pretty summer gowns is the fact that they so easily and must on that account be tubbed.

Each summer gown this year is a romance, each an individual dream, wrought out in wonderful colors and executed with the fidelity of a fine art creation. You can't make one in a day, and you will do well to get up one in a week, even with the aid of a seamstress. But you can save money on your materials if you can not on your time. It is just the season for the making of your own gowns. Go to work, or be willing to pay the price the modistes charge. And it is a fat sum.

There are all kinds of girls—

So runs the topical song. And this summer the sash girl will be added to the number. The sash girl is one who always wears a sash. All her gowns are built for this ornament, and she is never seen without it. Her reason for wearing it may be one of several. The sash girl may wear a sash because it is fashionable. She may wear it because she is fit at the back—holow-backed. She may wear it because it gives height. She may wear a sash because a sash of all things dresses up a gown the most. Perhaps she wears it because the imported Paris gowns nearly all display them. Her sash may be a ribbon one, and, for this purpose there come ribbon as delicate as millinery ribbons, thin mousseline ribbons and soft figured batiste ones. Perhaps she clings to the liberty and the panne ribbons, or is delicate enough to want the best flowered affairs that come a foot wide and sell very high.

THE BIG GLASS BOTTLE DULUTH MINNESOTA

The made sash of the dress material is a thing that is seen upon the improved gowns. Its design is very simple. In the front it is tucked and there are bones to shape it and give the long point. At the sides it is rolled into a soft band, while at the back it is tied in a tiny bow with two standing loops, but very long ends. This, though a French sash, is called the princess, for the reason probably that it is worn so much with the princess gowns, which are so very trying without the sash, belt or waist trimming of some kind.

The Dutch sash, so called, is a queer arrangement in ribbon, with little white mill bows at the back of the belt. The foot lower the ribbon is tied in another little bunch of loops. Below this the ends hang down, and are bound with loops near the end of each.

So difficult are these sashes to tie that they are for the most part made before they are put on, and fastened with a hook and eye under the bow with two standing loops. That is really the best way to manage.

The all white gowns are too delicately planned and trimmed to be made of sturdy material. They are made of the finest of the finest, and are fastened with a hook and eye under the bow with two standing loops. That is really the best way to manage.

TWO CENTS.

TRAGEDY AVERTED

Insensible Man Placed In Front of a Train.

Revived Just In Time To Escape Awful Death.

Sparta, Wis., March 27.—Insensible from a blow on the head, divested of all clothing with the exception of his trousers, and robbed of his money, Adolph Record was thrown across the rails by his assailants, to be crushed to death by a fast approaching Chicago & Northwestern freight.

Just in time to elude death, the young man regained his senses and crawled from the tracks under the very nose of the engine.

A strange negro is under arrest charged with being implicated in the robbery and attempted murder. Public indignation runs high and mutterings that bore ill to the negro are rife. Confidence is felt that other arrests will be made and that convictions will follow.

PATRICK IS SURPRISED

Says He Cannot Understand How the Jury Found Him Guilty Upon the Testimony That Was Given.

New York, March 27.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, had a consultation today with his father, Col. Patrick and his counsel from Chicago, Mr. Turner. Patrick retained his composure throughout the conference and conversed cordially with his father and counsel, in discussing his case, Patrick said:

"No one in the court room was more surprised at that verdict than myself. As a lawyer I do not see how, upon testimony given, the verdict could have been found. I do not believe, had Recorder Goff and Assistant District Attorney Osborne known what effect their addresses would have had upon the jury, that they would have made them in the terms they did."

Patrick discussed the handwriting testimony and the testimony which was excluded concerning the actions of Rice when he made the will. He spoke also of the testimony which he said would have been given in his favor by Schofield, who was the dead millionaire's friend for fifteen years and also the testimony offered by Adams regarding Rice's views on cremation.

SCALPED TICKETS GOOD

Judge of Chicago Court Holds That a Railroad Ticket Is Not Invalidated Because It Passes Through Hands of Scalper.

Chicago, March 27.—"However reprehensible and odious to a railroad company a ticket scalper may be, there is no law that invalidates a ticket which otherwise is valid because it passes through his hands."

Judge Chittaus, of the superior court, has given this opinion in the suit for damages brought by Morris Horowitz against the Chicago & Northern Pacific railroad. Damages of $250 were agreed upon.

While traveling with his wife to Minnesota on a ticket purchased from a South Clark street scalper, which had originally been issued to a Michigan newspaper, Horowitz was confronted by J. C. Pond, general passenger agent of the road, who happened to be on the train. Horowitz and his wife were ejected from the train at Lake Villa, fifty-one miles from Chicago. The attorney for the road argued that Horowitz had been guilty of a constructive fraud.

IOWA TO ERECT MONUMENTS

Des Moines, March 27.—The senate has passed the house bill appropriating $100,000 for monuments to Iowa soldiers at Vicksburg military park. The vote was unanimous and the chamber was filled with veterans of the war, who cheered the speakers. The house had already passed the bill by a unanimous vote.

The senate also passed, by unanimous vote, the bill to appropriate $25,000 for monuments to the Iowa soldiers who fought and those who died at Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. A bill was also passed permitting the Shiloh commission to expend the balance of the $26,000 appropriated for monuments at Shiloh in dedicatory services.

GOOD NEWS FOR TONTINITES

Minneapolis, March 27.—George P. Flannery, receiver of the Tontine Savings association, dissolved recently by Judge Steele, finds that the business of the concern is greatly involved, but he intimates that the assets will be considerably larger than had been anticipated.

One of the first questions to be settled by the receiver is whether the holders of "matured" contracts are entitled to any dividends as against those who at the time of the failure of the company were still making payments.

Suits are to be brought against the five directors to recover the dividends due. It is claimed they appropriated $19,000 of the fund for their personal use under the guise of dividends.

GOVERNMENT'S TURN

Venezuelan Soldiers Have Re-Taken Several Cities and Have Driven Away the Insurgent Forces From Before Barcelona.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, March 27.—The Venezuelan revolution, according to advices received here yesterday, has not realized what was promised last week. The government forces have recaptured Port La Mar and Juan Gilego, on the island of Margarita, and still hold Carupano, Cumana and Barcelona, all in the state of Bermudez. A force of 300 revolutionists, under Domingo Monagas, which has been besieging Barcelona, has retreated before the government forces.

Gen. Miera, with 1200 men, is still in the state of Falcon, trying to effect a junction with Gen. Montilla's revolutionary forces, estimated to number 500 men.

The town of Barquisimeto, in the state of Lara, continues to be menaced by the revolutionists.

President Castro appreciates the situation and manifests astonishing activity and intelligence. The immediate success of the revolution is looked upon here as being problematical.

The revolutionary steamer Bolivar was reported, March 27, as being at the mouth of the Orinoco; March 25 she was said to be at Guirica, and March 23 it was rumored that she was at Trinita.

The Venezuelan authorities continue to make arrests throughout the republic.

Further Venezuelan advices received today announced that San Antonio, in the state of Bolivar, and Maturing, in the state of Bermudez, were in the hands of the revolutionary forces, and that 200 revolutionists, under Gen. Monagas, Penabaz and Rolando, had united in an advance and were menacing the state of Lara.

The situation of Gen. Miera, in the state of Falcon, is said to have become perilous.

COX ACQUITTED OF MURDER

McArthur, O., March 27.—After being out all night the jury today rendered a verdict of acquittal in the case of Joseph Cox, charged with murder. Cox killed Raymond Ratcliffe in a sensational manner at a country church, Jan. 26 last, because Ratcliffe assaulted him for persisting in paying attention to Ratcliffe's sister after repeated warnings. The parties were both school teachers, and Ratcliffe's wife was a sister of Cox. The case attracted wide attention. The Hon. Charles H. Grosvenor, congressman from this district, assisted the prosecution. Albert Douglas, of Chillicothe, was one of the attorneys for the defense.

At this term of the circuit court they were tried and sentenced to the school of reform. There being no room there for them, the court ordered the boys whipped until they bled. Sheriff Harris was ordered to do the whipping with a new cowhide. Their parents paid for the horse.

SERIOUS CHARGE OF BRIBERY MADE

In Connection With the Sale of Danish West Indies to This Country.

Abner McKinley and His Partner Implicated.

Sensation Sprung In Con- gress By Richardson.

Washington, March 27.—At the opening of the session of the house today, Mr. Richardson (Tenn.), the minority leader, offered as a matter of privilege a resolution for the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the charges said to have been made by Dr. Walter Christmas, semi-official representative of the government of Denmark in a secret report to his government in which it was made to appear that he was to receive $500,000 of the purchase money for the sale of the Danish West Indies for bribing newspapers and members of congress.

The resolution was very long and its reading created great excitement on both sides of the house.

The resolutions presented by Mr. Richardson are in part as follows:

"Whereas, one Walter Christmas, a subject of Denmark, who is now and who has been for several years, a diplomatic agent and representative of the government of Denmark and empowered to negotiate with the government of the United States for the sale of the Danish West Indian islands to the United States and who was also the agent of the United States for the purchase of said islands, has submitted a secret and confidential report to his own government; and

"Whereas, the said Christmas, agent and representative as aforesaid, in his said report to his government declares and sets forth among other things the fact that the government of Denmark has contracted, agreed and obligated itself to pay and turn over to him, the said Christmas, 10 per cent, or about $500,000 of the proceeds of the purchase money arising from the sale of said islands to the United States when the same shall have been paid by the United States to Denmark, for the express purpose, as has been declared and set forth by him in his said secret report to his government, of bribing members of the United States congress, including members of the house of representatives and other prominent citizens of this country and for subsidizing American newspapers to the end that the pending treaty between the United States and Denmark for the sale of the islands by the latter to the former government may be consummated."

The resolutions further recite that said secret report stated that $500,000 shall be immediately paid to Christmas if the purchase money is paid by the United States for the corrupt measures set forth. The tendency of the ratification of the treaty is also set forth.

In conclusion, the resolutions recite that a secret committee of seven from the house be appointed by the speaker to examine into the charges and the alleged circumstances, contracts, etc., which in any manner have for their object the bribery of, or the attempted bribery of, members of the United States congress, or the payment of any valuable consideration of any kind or character to them or to any of them to vote or to assist in procuring the disposal or ratification of the said treaty of sale of the said islands."

The Republican leaders hurriedly consulted during the reading of the resolution, and when the reading had been concluded, Mr. Payne, the majority leader, made the point of order that the matter presented was not privileged.

The basis of the resolution, Mr. Payne said contemptuously, was based on an alleged secret report to the Danish government.

Instantly Mr. Richardson met this statement with the declaration that he had a copy of the secret report to the Danish government. "On my honor as a member of this house," said he, "I have now on my desk what purports to be a copy of what I believe is that secret confidential report. Assuming the full responsibility of my word, I believe I have unmistakable evidence that this report was made to the Danish government by a quasi or real agent of that government."

"What did the gentleman obtain access to the secret archives of the Danish government?" interposed Mr. Payne sarcastically.

"I have never been to Denmark," retorted Mr. Richardson, "but the gentleman knows that there are other ways of obtaining authentic government documents. I have the evidence here. This is a grave charge. I do not bring it here for the purpose of making political capital. Here is a charge that $500,000 was paid for the express purpose of bribing the American congress, yet the gentleman seeks to interpose a technical objection."

Speaker Henderson at this point called attention to the fact that the language of the resolution charged that newspapers and members of congress had been bribed. "Members of congress," he said, "did not necessarily include members of the house. If members of the senate, that body must be the custodian of its own morals."

He thought if the resolution was to be privileged it should specifically include members of the house.

"I am prepared to say," replied Mr. Richardson, "that these charges do not include members of the house, and will amend the resolution to that extent."

Speaker Henderson thereupon ruled that the matter presented was privileged.

"This is a matter of high privilege," said the speaker, delivering his ruling. "Exactly what status a representative to a foreign government would have here might be questioned, but the gentleman from Tennessee, having stated upon his honor as a member of the house that the charges are true—

"Oh, no," Mr. Speaker, interrupted Mr. Richardson. "I did not say the report was true. I vouched for the fact that Mr. Christmas had made them."

"The gentleman having vouched for the authenticity of the charges," continued the speaker, "the chair holds that the matter is one of privilege, and recognizes the gentleman from Tennessee."

By this time the interest in the house was intense. Almost every seat was occupied, and the members listened eagerly as Mr. Richardson proceeded to present his case. First he read extracts from the Copenhagen Journal. These were followed by an affidavit from Nels Gron concerning his dealings with Mr. Christmas had made them.

"The gentleman has not particularly sensational. The real sensation came when he started to read from what purported to be the report of Walter Christmas, concerning the negotiations.

He prefaced the reading by the statement that it would show a "corrupt bargain" worthy of the consideration of the house. The report was too long to read in full, he said. "I will only read the lucid extracts, which, if true, should bring the blush of shame to the cheek of every American," said he, "for the statute will disgrace this country in the eyes of every foreign country in the world. This is what this corrupt bargain says."

He then proceeded to read Mr. Christmas' account of his interview with the prime minister of Denmark, in which he was said to have told the minister of the necessity of the use of money to bring the negotiations for the sale of the islands to a successful termination. He told of his acquaintance with Abner McKinley, President McKinley's brother, and his law partner, Col. Brown, two gentlemen whom Mr. Christmas described as "having the entry to the White House and being familiar with the ways of American politics and with the members of congress who would have to be paid to accomplish the results desired."

The report then described how Mr. Christmas had enlisted not only President McKinley's brother and his partner, but two press associations, one in New York and one in Washington, and a prominent banking house in New York, in the sale of the islands. The Danish foreign minister was represented as disgusted with the methods which had to be pursued, but as finally giving his acquiescence.

Mr. Richardson said he did not charge that any senator or member of congress had been bribed. He had simply presented the allegations of this agent that money had to be used for bribing congressmen. The charges had been published in this country and

BROUGHT TOGETHER

Through the Efforts of the Civic Federation the Coal Magnates Have Received the Dele- gates From the Miners' Union.

New York, March 27.—Brought together by the conciliators of the National Civic Federation, the leaders of the United Mine Workers' association and four of the largest coal operators met here today and in secret session discussed their differences. The mine workers were represented by John Mitchell, president of the union, and three district presidents of that union—Thomas Nicolls, John Fahey and Thomas Duffy, and the operators who met them were W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of the Erie Railroad company; George S. Baer, of the Reading Railroad company, and Robert Oilphunt, president of the Delaware & Hudson company.

The conference was arranged by a sub-committee named by the conciliators of the National Civic Federation. The mine workers had listened to the representations of John Mitchell and the men who came with him from Shamokin. The sub-committee were Senator Hanna, Oscar S. Straus and Frank Duncan, and when the general committee adjourned they called on the coal operators. No statement as to the understanding under which the operators agreed to go into conference was made public. It was understood, however, that Senator Hanna and his low-committee invited the operators in behalf of the National Civic Federation, and nothing specific was said as to the demands of the miners, or as to the possible recognition of the meeting began Senator Hanna came to the door and said to the newspaper men:

"Messrs. Thomas, Baer, Truesdale and Oilphunt have come here today at our invitation to meet the representatives of the United Mine Workers and discuss the situation with them. I cannot say what will be done or what the conference will result in. They will probably be together for an hour or an hour and a half. Did I see J. Pierpont Morgan yesterday? Certainly I did. It is simply not true that we discussed the coal situation."

CHAMBERLAIN A TOOL

Paris, March 27.—Lord Rosebery arrived in Paris this morning from London. The Patrie says he made the following statement to a reporter: "The Chamberlain was only an instrument in the hands of Mr. Rhodes. Now that the latter has disappeared, what will become of the Chamberlain? The English opinion has had enough of a policy based solely on force, which has only created for us enemies in Europe and cast us into a conflict in which thousands of our soldiers have perished. A ministerial crisis in England now would not be surprising. Possibly because of the coronation King Edward will prevent this by ending the war and directing English policy into new channels, more in conformity with justice and the rights of peoples."

TRAGEDY AVERTED

Insensible Man Placed In Front of a Train.

Revived Just In Time To Escape Awful Death.

Eyota, Wis., March 27.—Insensible from a blow on the head, divested of all clothing with the exception of his trousers, and robbed of his money, Albert Record was thrown across the rails by his assailants, to be crushed to death by a fast approaching Chicago & Northwestern train.

Just in time to elude death, the young man regained his senses and crawled from the tracks under the very nose of the engine.

A strange negro is under arrest charged with being implicated in the robbery and attempted murder. Public indignation runs high and mutterings that led to the negro are a-ripe. Confidence is felt that other arrests will be made and that convictions will follow.

PATRICK IS SURPRISED

Says He Cannot Understand How the Jury Found Him Guilty Upon the Testimony That Was Given.

New York, March 27.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, had a consultation today with his father, Col. Patrick and his counsel from Chicago, Mr. Turner. Patrick retained his composure throughout the conference and conversed cordially with his father and counsel, in discussing his case, Patrick said:

"No one in the court room was more surprised at that verdict than myself. As a lawyer I do not see how, upon testimony given, the verdict could have been found. I do not believe, had Recorder Guff and Assistant District Attorney Osborne known what effect their addresses would have had upon the jury, that they would have made them in the terms they did."

Patrick discussed the handwriting testimony and the testimony which was excluded concerning the actions of Rice when he made the will. He spoke also of the testimony which he said would have been given in his favor by Scheffel, who was the dead millionaire's friend for fifteen years and also the testimony offered by Adams regarding Rice's views on cremation.

Speaking of the handwriting testimony, Patrick said that the signatures to the four disputed checks varied only in the same way as the signatures to any other number of papers would vary. He said that only an expert could detect their difference. Concerning other testimony the convicted man said:

"How can the declaration and determination of a dead man be arrived at, except by the testimony of a third party? It is done every day in the courts of this country."

After expressing the belief that both the recorder and assistant district attorney were astonished at the verdict, Patrick said:

"I believe the jury to be composed of honest men. I have no reason to believe otherwise. I practically selected the jury myself. But this I do know, every witness, every man connected with me who could be bribed, bribed or seduced, I do not believe for a moment that the verdict will stand. It will go to the court of appeals and question of facts will be passed upon."

Patrick further said that there was not one action on his part that he would have been given in his favor by Scheffel, who was the dead millionaire's friend for fifteen years and also the testimony offered by Adams regarding Rice's views on cremation.

SCALPED TICKETS GOOD

Judge of Chicago Court Holds That a Railroad Ticket Is Not Invalidated Because It Passes Through Hands of Scalper.

Chicago, March 27.—"However reprehensible and odious to a railroad company a ticket scalper may be, there is no law that invalidates a ticket which otherwise is valid because it passes through his hands."

Judge Chittenden, of the superior court, has given this opinion in the suit for damages brought by Moritz Horowitz against the Chicago & Northern Pacific railroad. Damages of $250 were agreed upon.

While traveling with his wife to Minnesota on a ticket purchased from a South Clark street scaler, which had originally been issued to a Michigan newspaper, Horowitz was confronted by J. C. Pond, general passenger agent of the road, who happened to be on the train. Horowitz and his wife were ejected from the train at Lake Villa, fifty-one miles from Chicago. The railway for the road argued that Horowitz had been guilty of a constructive fraud.

SERIOUS CHARGE OF BRIBERY MADE

Sensation Sprung In Con- gress By Richardson.

Washington, March 27.—At the opening of the session of the house today, Mr. Richardson (Tenn.), the minority leader, offered as a matter of privilege a resolution for the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the charges said to have been made by Dr. Walter Christmas, semi-official representative of the government of Denmark in a secret report to his government in which it was made to appear that he was to receive $500,000 of the purchase money for the sale of the Danish West Indian islands to the United States for the purchase of said islands, has submitted a secret and confidential report to his own government and:

The resolutions further recite that said secret report stated that $500,000 shall be immediately paid to Christmas if the purchase money is paid by the United States for the corrupt measures set forth. The revocation of the ratification of the treaty is also set forth.

In conclusion, the resolutions recite that a secret committee of the house be appointed by the speaker to examine into the charges and the alleged circumstances, and to report thereon to the house as soon as possible, "which in any manner have for their object the bribery of, or the attempted bribery of, members of the United States Congress, or the payment of any valuable consideration of any kind or character to any member of Congress, or to assist in procuring the disposal or ratification of the said treaty of sale of the said islands."

The Republican leaders hurriedly consulted during the reading of the resolutions. The parties were concluded, Mr. Payne, the majority leader, made the point of order that the resolutions were not in order. The basis of the resolution, Mr. Payne said contemptuously, was based on an undependable report to the Danish government.

Instantly Mr. Richardson met this with the statement that he had a copy of the secret report to the Danish government. "On my honor as a member of this house," he said, "I have sworn to me what I say is true, and what I believe is, that secret confidential source of information, I have unmistakable evidence that this report was made to the Danish government by a quasi if not a real agent of that government."

BROUGHT TOGETHER

Through the Efforts of the Civic Federation the Coal Magnates Have Received the Dele- gates From the Miners' Union.

New York, March 27.—Brought together by the conciliators of the National Civic Federation, the leaders of the United Mine Workers' association and four of the largest coal operators met here today and in secret session discussed their differences. The nine workers were represented by John Mitchell, president of the union, and three district presidents of that union—Thomas Nicolls, John Fahey and Thomas Duffy, and the operators who met them were V. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of the Erie Railway company; George S. Baer, of the Reading Railroad company, and Robert O. Oliphant, president of the Delaware & Hudson company.

The conference was arranged by a sub-committee headed by Senator Hanna and Senator Strauss, and then came the coal operators. Just before the meeting began Senator Hanna came to the door and said to the newspaper men:

"Messrs. Thomas, Baer, Truesdale and Oliphant have come here today at our invitation to meet the representatives of the conciliators headed by Senator Hanna and Mr. Strauss, and then came the coal operators. Just before the meeting began Senator Hanna came to the door and said to the newspaper men:

"I do not say what will be done or what the conference will result in. They will probably be together for an hour or an hour and a half. Did I see J. Pierpont Morgan yesterday? Certainly I did, but I did not mention this matter to him. It is simply not true that we discussed the coal situation."

understanding under which the operators agreed to go into conference was made public. It was understood, however, that Senator Hanna and his fellow-committee-men invited the operators in behalf of the National Civic Federation, and nothing specific was said as to the demands of the miners, or the possible recognition of a union involved in conferring with its representatives.

The meeting was held at the church mission house and began shortly before 11 o'clock. The nine workers were on hand first, after them came a number of the conciliators headed by Senator Hanna and Mr. Strauss, and then came the coal operators. Just before the meeting began Senator Hanna came to the door and said to the newspaper men:

"Messrs. Thomas, Baer, Truesdale and Oliphant have come here today at our invitation to meet the representatives of the conciliators headed by Senator Hanna and Mr. Strauss, and then came the coal operators. Just before the meeting began Senator Hanna came to the door and said to the newspaper men:

"I do not say what will be done or what the conference will result in. They will probably be together for an hour or an hour and a half. Did I see J. Pierpont Morgan yesterday? Certainly I did, but I did not mention this matter to him. It is simply not true that we discussed the coal situation."

CHAMBERLAIN A TOOL

Paris, March 27.—Lord Rosebery arrived in Paris this morning from London. The Paris says he made the following statement to a reporter: "Mr. Chamberlain was only an instrument in the hands of Mr. Rhodes. Now that the latter has disappeared, what will become of the member from Birmingham? The English opinion has had enough of a policy based solely on force, which has only created for us enemies in Europe and lost us into a contest in which thousands of our soldiers have perished. A mischievous statement to be repeated."

SIXTEEN HOUSES WRECKED

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 27.—Sixteen dwellings were wrecked last night at Hawthorn, a small mining village near here, by a cave-in at the abandoned No. 8 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company. A broken water main is flooding the mine and the cavity is extending. Huge fissures have appeared in the streets of the town and many more houses are in danger. Residents in the vicinity of the cave-in are removing to places of safety.

LA CROSSE ASKS CARNEGIE

La Crosse, Wis., March 27.—It is reported that the board of regents of the proposed La Crosse college have petitioned Andrew Carnegie for an endowment of a half million dollars.

creation of the building. Besides the petition, letters have been written by Mayor Boschart, president of the board of trade, all bankers of the city and hundreds of other prominent citizens. The board of regents is composed of Dr. W. D. Thomas, Rev. G. G. Benson, Rev. Henry H. George, McMillan and Rev. McKenzies.

"MERGER MEASURE" VETOED

Des Moines, March 27.—Governor Cummins this morning announced his veto of the Moley bill, better known as the "merger measure," the bill removes the limit of indebtedness per mile that may be contracted by railroads running through Iowa. It is persistently contended by the opponents of the bill that it was introduced by and pushed through by the Burlington railway lobbyists, for the purpose of enabling that corporation to take over the Northern Securities company's lines, thus the latter loses its case in the federal court.

FOUND GUILTY

Andrew Margo Convicted of Assault in Second Degree.

The district court jury, to which was entrusted the case against Andrew Margo, charged with assault with intent to kill, or assault in the first degree, found him guilty of assault in the second degree this morning.

The case was given to the jury about 11 o'clock, and half an hour afterwards the verdict was reached. Margo was accused of sticking a knife into the person of Alexander Koski at Blawie. Koski didn't give testimony in the case because when he appeared to give his evidence he was too drunk to testify, and the court sent him to jail for three days for contempt of court.

The next case on the criminal docket was that against Al Fisher, charged with keeping a house of ill-fame at Chisholm. He was to have been here this morning, but he did not appear. C. O. Baldwin, an attorney, was there, however, and he explained that Fisher had probably misunderstood the time he was to appear, and that he would be there this afternoon. When Fisher was arraigned to plead soon after he was indicted a similar misunderstanding occurred, and his bail of $500 was forfeited. The order declaring it forfeited was withdrawn, however, when the misunderstanding was cleared up.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY Will Be Demanded By Ohio Furnace Men.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 27.—The furnace men's union will meet here tomorrow to arrange a date on which to make a demand on the blast furnace operators for an eight-hour day instead of twelve hours. All the blast furnace workers in this valley are thoroughly organized. The union said to be favorable to granting their demand, but hesitate to do so on account of the scarcity of men to fill in the extra turn.

HIS BODY IS FOUND

Remains of John Evanson Hygstad Picked Up In the Bay.

Suicided at Christmas Time Because of Unrequited Love.

Body Found Last Evening and Has Been Identified.

The waters of St. Louis bay have given up the body of John Evanson Hygstad. He disappeared mysteriously on Christmas. At that time intimate friends expressed the opinion that he had committed suicide because a young lady in the East had discouraged his love and sent back the present he offered her.

This theory seems to have been substantiated in the finding of the body last evening. It was floating in the bay when seen by Thomas Trede and Joseph LeSard. To prevent its floating away with the current the men tied it to a pile of the Northern Pacific bridge.

Coroner Dudley, of West Superior, took charge of the remains and notified the family of the finding. They called at the undertaking rooms about noon and though the features were scarcely recognizable, they established the identity by the clothing and other marks on the body.

Mr. Hygstad was a coremaker by trade and employed at the National

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive and so insidious. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

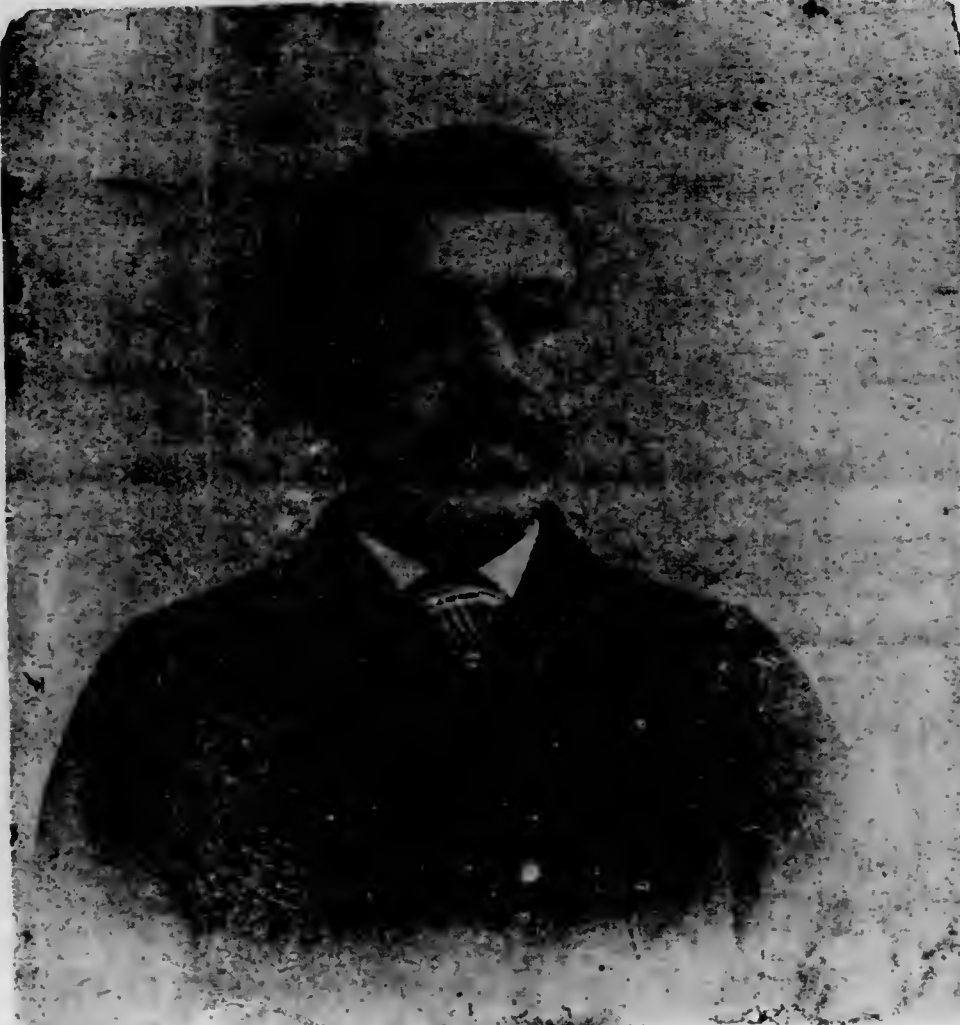

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both of Swamp-Root, sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

accepted if there was no further information, and constitutes what the lawyers call a prima facie case. There are other considerations, however. Here are three points that enter into the matter, and in a measure at least do away with the evidence of the increased receipts of cattle:

First, the weight of beaves average 40 per cent lighter than last year on account of their being underfed. Second, all classes of feed are 50 per cent higher than a year ago. Cattle owners, appalled by the high prices of feed, have been raising their cattle upon the market, leaving a scarcity at primary sources.

"Third, the foreign wars have caused

His friends say he was of a particularly jolly disposition till last fall when he met and fell in love with a young girl living in the East End. She did not return his affection and Mr. Hygstad became very melancholy.

The day before Christmas, through a mutual friend, he sent the girl and her mother a letter, and a corresponding increase in the country's power of consumption.

"These things all enter into the high prices that are prevailing all over the country just now, and they will help to explain them. The scarcity of cattle is no more, it is a corresponding increase in the country's power of consumption.

AT WEST DULUTH

It looks very much as though the hopes of West Duluth people for the accomplishment of the proposed Jensen street tunnel will be disappointed this year. A few days ago, when Alderman Barnes introduced his ordinance anticipating the levy for the permanent improvement fund in the sum of $5,000, it was thought that the issuance of certificates of indebtedness would provide the money available for the beginning of the work. It is now understood that should the council pass the ordinance and secure the funds about $3000 of the money so raised must be taken from the permanent improvement fund and put in the permanent improvement revolving fund, leaving but $2000 or $3000 available for a permanent improvement that is to cost $50,000. Under the city charter the work cannot be started unless the fund contains enough money to cover the expense, and it is generally conceded that the chances of getting the tunnel built this year are pretty slim.

The permanent improvement revolving fund was created to make provision for funds for permanent improvement work, the cost of which would later be assessed against the property benefited. Last summer when Michigan street was paved there was some railroad property along the street that could not be assessed, and the city must meet the expense of paving in front of those lands. The money was used from the permanent revolving fund, and must now be replaced from the permanent improvement fund.

Just what action the West Duluth aldermen will take in the matter has not been definitely decided on, although they concede that the situation for the tunnel improvement is a grave one.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE. The quarterly conference of the Swedish Baptist churches of Duluth and Superior will be held in West Duluth, commencing Friday afternoon and lasting until Sunday afternoon, inclusive. The conference will be held at the Third Swedish Baptist church, in this portion of the city, of which Rev. C. A. Aileen is pastor.

Sessions of the conference will be held Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday afternoon and evening, and in the morning and afternoon of Easter Sunday. The afternoon sessions will begin at 3 o'clock. There will be a number of the out-of-town ministers of the denomination present, and the program for the three days will have a number of special features.

FINDS AN OLD BOOK. S. C. Murphy has probably the oldest book owned in West Duluth. Mr. Murphy is looking over his library this morning found the volume. It is a copy of "Cicero" published in England in 1535, and is, therefore, just 207 years old.

The copy is in a good state of preservation, and is handled with care appears capable of lasting another 200 years. The printing is very distinct, and there are numerous notes on the margins of the leaves made a long time ago, the ink having faded very much. The book was found in a curiosity shop in London about twelve years ago by A. Delaney Hunt and sent to Mr. Murphy as a present.

WILL SOON START. Edward Johnstone will leave this week for the Red Cliff Lumber company's mill at Red Cliff, on the south shore, of which plant he is the engineer. He will remain there about eight months.

Mr. Johnstone says that the mill will begin operations very soon now. The mill is located on the Indian reservation, and a number of Indians are employed during the season in the manufacture of lumber. Only three or four of them are steady workers, however, and it is necessary to have two crews of them available all the time where one crew of white men would be sufficient.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS. Louis Foucault, who has been confined to his home for a few days, suffering from the effects of poisoned meat, is again able to resume work.

Mrs. Richard Findlay returned this morning from a nine months' visit at Boston and points in New York and Vermont.

Mrs. C. S. Weaver, of 115 Fifty-eighth avenue west, is visiting in St. Paul.

Robert Brotherton, who has been running one of the Lesure Lumber company's camps on the range, has returned to his home on Raleigh street and Sixty-first avenue west.

The Young People's society of the Baptist church gave a successful social in the church parlors last evening.

About half a dozen of the West Duluth Masons will attend the Scottish Rite banquet at the Spaulding this evening.

The schools at Proctorknott have been closed because of the prevalence of scarlet fever.

J. Darrah, of Proctorknott, is making arrangements to move to Hibbing.

The uniformed degree team of Old Hickory camp 1555, Modern Woodmen, went over to West Superior last evening to attend the social session given by the organization of that city. The team was in charge of Capt. C. C. Salter.

A number of the young men that were interested in the organization of the West Duluth Commercial club are likely to start a separate athletic organization, should the club decide to drop

LAMBS' CLUB

Plan For Building a New Club House.

New York, March 27.—A new club house has been planned by the Lambs' club. It will contain a capacious theater and ballroom, and the actors, who have heretofore been dependent on theatrical managers for a stage upon which to hold their famous gambols, will then be independent. At a meeting of the club, members subscribed $100,000 for the erection of a new building and plans are being made for an all-star summer tour of members to raise such additional money as may be needed.

TRUST TO CLOSE MINES. Massillon, Ohio, March 27.—The Massillon Coal company, the combine which recently obtained control of practically all the Massillon district mines has announced that five of the mines are to be shut down on April 1. About 200 men are employed in those mines. The shut down is one of the first measures of economizing by the trust.

TO HAVE NO TEAM

Duluth Is Likely to Have No Baseball This Year.

H. W. Wheeler, Owner of Oneota Park, Bars Sunday Games.

Impossible to Sustain a Team Without the Sunday Games.

Despite the fact that a crack team has been signed there may be no baseball in Duluth this summer.

H. W. Wheeler, owner of Oneota Park, will not lease the ball grounds to any team that will play Sunday games.

It is claimed that without Sunday ball, this city cannot support a high class team and a second rate team would receive no support on week days.

Manager Van Praagh says that unless the Oneota Park can be secured for Sunday games, or unless another ball park can be secured, no effort will be made to organize the team which is already signed.

Mr. Wheeler has had nothing to do with the park for several years past or he would probably have stopped Sunday games. He had leased the grounds for a certain number of years to the St. Louis County Fair association and this organization sub-leased it for baseball purposes.

The owner has direct control now, however, and will not give a lease of any kind unless it is specifically stated that there shall be no baseball playing on Sunday.

Since Duluth went out of the Western league many years ago the semi-professional clubs that have played under the Duluth name have been supported almost entirely by the large attendance on Sunday.

The Saturday and mid-week games have never paid expenses, so that it is plain to be seen what would result financially if the Sunday games are barred.

Manager Van Praagh has gone to considerable expense already in securing fast players for the coming season and making arrangements for the opening of the season. He had even gone so far as to order the uniforms and notify all players to report for work not later than May 15.

Naturally he does not like to give up the idea of having a team, but he has drawn a strong patronage and has been looking around for a new site, but so far without success.

There are several good locations pointed out, but it would cost too much to fence in the grounds and build grandstands.

IT MADE FUN.

High Wind Yesterday Damaging to Many Tempers.

The wind played all sorts of pranks yesterday, but so far as heard no serious accidents happened, although flying signs and loose papers were the causes of several inelegant runaways on Superior street during the day.

The occupants of the various broker shops and ticket offices between Fourth and Fifth avenues west had plenty of amusement afforded them yesterday, and the denizens of the Bowery were also in the game. For some reason there was a great deal of fun in the neighborhood, and any unwary wayfarer who passed by the Bowery found himself in the air and then he saw it sailing along in front of him at a 250 ft. clip. At one time there were no less, by actual count, than nine men and boys and three white cats flying in the air in front of the Bowery.

After their romances. When the wind did not act quick enough some "jack" would knock another's hat into the air and with delicate humor lined with lurid profanity tell him to run and get it. This led to several scraps and added much to the joyousness of the occasion.

What might have been a serious accident was the tearing loose of the big signboard over the Eastern Minnesota city ticket office, but prompt action on the part of the ticket men, who warned the passers-by not to pass under it, prevented any damage. After some difficulty it was firmly fastened in a safe position with a good stout rope.

The wind did two good things, however. It blew all the ice away down the lake and emphasized afresh the great danger that exists in scattering loose paper about the streets.

It is confidently expected that Lieutenant Governor Smith will reconsider his intention of not being present.

Mayor Hugo will act as toastmaster and Rev. H. W. Knowles will deliver the invocation. The other speakers on the program and their subjects are as follows:

"The Growth of the Constitution"..... Senator Clapp.

"Minnesota—Its Growth and Prospects"..... Governor Van Sant.

"Greater Americanism"..... "Tariff and Reciprocity"..... F. B. Wright.

"The Lawyer in Politics"..... Alexander Marshall.

Attorney General Douglas and Lieutenant Governor Smith are expected also to address the club.

THE BANQUET. MESSAGE ON CUBA

Club Has Not Heard From Senator Clapp—The Toasts.

The program for the speakers at the Garfield club banquet has been arranged as far as possible. For all the managers know at present Senator Clapp will be on hand, but the rumor that he is not coming is not being present.

Congressman Morris has wired the club, saying, much as he regrets it, that it is absolutely impossible for him to attend the banquet, as he has too much business of general and local interest to attend to.

It is confidently expected that Lieutenant Governor Smith will reconsider his intention of not being present.

Mayor Hugo will act as toastmaster and Rev. H. W. Knowles will deliver the invocation. The other speakers on the program and their subjects are as follows:

"The Growth of the Constitution"..... Senator Clapp.

"Minnesota—Its Growth and Prospects"..... Governor Van Sant.

"Greater Americanism"..... "Tariff and Reciprocity"..... F. B. Wright.

"The Lawyer in Politics"..... Alexander Marshall.

Attorney General Douglas and Lieutenant Governor Smith are expected also to address the club.

Therefore recommend that provision be forthwith made and the salaries of the consular officers formerly maintained at Baracoa, Cardenas, Matanzas, Nuevas, Sagua La Grande, Sancti Spirit, and San Juan de los Remedios. The commercial interests at those ports heretofore have not been large. The consular fees collected there during the fiscal year 1899-1900 aggregated $12,000. It is but the actual needs of six officers named can be efficiently supervised by agents and the three principal consular offices, until events may show the necessity of erecting a full consulate at any point.

The commercial and political conditions in the island of Cuba, while under the Spanish crown afford little basis for estimating the future development of intercourse with this country under the influence of the achievement of Cuban independence and which are to be broadened and strengthened in every proper way by conventional pacts with the Cuban and by wise and beneficent legislation aiming to stimulate the commerce between the two countries, if the task we accepted in 1898 is to be fittingly accomplished.

AGENTS TO RUN.

The latest reports from West Superior this afternoon as to the mayoralty situation indicate that there are three Republicans, Mayor Parker, H. W. Dietrich and Col. James H. Agen, with papers ready to file announcing their candidacy on independent tickets for the office of mayor of West Superior.

That all acts of the United States in Cuba during its military occupation thereof are ratified and validated, and that the government of Cuba shall be maintained and protected.

That the government of Cuba will exercise and as far as necessary extend the plans already devised, or other plans to be mutually agreed upon, for the sanitation of the cities of the island, to the end that a recurrence of epidemic and pestilence shall be prevented, thereby assuring protection to the people and commerce of Cuba, as well as to the commerce of the Southern ports of the United States and the people residing therein.

That the Isle of Pines shall be omitted from the proposed constitutional boundaries of Cuba, the title thereto being left to future adjustment by treaty.

That to enable the United States to maintain the independence of Cuba, and to protect the people thereof, as well as for its own defense, the government of Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points to be agreed upon with the president of the United States.

That by way of further assurances the government of Cuba will embody the foregoing provisions in a permanent treaty with the United States.

The people of Cuba, having framed a constitution embracing the foregoing requirements, and having elected a president who is soon to take office, the time is near for the fulfillment of the pledge of the United States to leave the government and control of the island of Cuba to its people.

It is hereby advised that the secretary of war that it is now expected that the installation of the government of Cuba and the termination of the military occupation of Cuba by the United States will take place on the 20th of May next.

It is necessary and appropriate that the establishment of international relations with the government of Cuba should coincide with its inauguration, as well as with the termination of the military occupation of Cuba by the United States.

To open the path for the immediate negotiation of conventional agreements to carry out the provisions of the act quoted above, it is also advisable that consular representation be established with the government of Cuba at the principal ports in order that commerce with the island may be conducted with due regard to the formalities prescribed by the revenue and navigation statutes of the United States and that American citizens in Cuba may perior.

The situation changes so rapidly in West Superior, however, that special bulletins would be necessary to keep in close touch with the latest developments.

This afternoon Col. James H. Agen announced his intention of coming to the game and making it a three-cornered fight among the Republicans.

This situation, if it continues, practically assures the election to C. N. O'Hare, the Democratic candidate, for Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson, city, and nearly equally divided and Col. Agen has some strength in the Fourth and Fifth wards, the largest wards in the city.

CANNOT BE DONE

No Likelihood That Jensewold Street Cut Can Be Made.

Conference Committee Knocks Its Chances In the Head.

Decides That Permanent Improvement Fund Must Give Up $8000.

The municipal conference committee has decided that $8000 must be transferred from the permanent improvement fund to the revolving fund.

If the council acts favorably on the conference committee's recommendation, it means the tying up of several important permanent improvements. It means the abandoning of the Jensewold street improvement, which was to give a better street car service on the West Duluth and East End line.

During the past season about $8000 was spent from the revolving fund for street paving, benefitting property that could not be assessed.

This was taken up in the conference committee meeting Tuesday afternoon and it was declared that the city officers had no legal right to take this money out of the revolving fund and that it should be replaced by a transfer from the permanent improvement fund.

At present there is a balance of $25,000 in the permanent improvement fund, of this amount $20,000 is to be paid out soon for the city's interest in the Garfield avenue and Tenth avenue viaducts and for the Piedmont avenue rock cut.

Next week this fund has $5000 coming from the tax settlement, but this amount, according to the conference committee, must be paid out again, thus leaving a balance of about $20,000 in the fund with which to carry on fully $50,000 worth of proposed permanent improvements.

The promoters of the Jensewold street improvement have been laying much stress on the ordinance requiring the council to issue bonds for the issue of $15,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness on the permanent improvement fund in anticipation of the tax levy for the coming year.

City Treasurer Ross and others closely associated with the finances of the city say that the ordinance is impractical in that $15,000 has not been raised against it in that way and of $8000 more in that manner to anticipate 80 per cent of the tax next year. That is the limit allowed by the charter.

The conference committee has also given cold water both to the new fire hall ambitions of the board of fire commissioners. The committee will have to look to the council for support if new fire halls are to be built within the next year.

CAN BE BUILT.

Iron For Pantan & White Building Will Be Here May 1.

Work on the enlargement of the Pantan & White building will begin about May 1.

For a time it was feared that this fine improvement would be delayed because of the difficulty experienced in getting iron, and the proprietors were much concerned for all their plans had been made for the larger space they were to have this fall. Iron of special size is very hard to get short of nine months or a year after order made and the large amount of "special bill" iron to go into this building.

After securing the country, St. Paul firm was induced to take the contract and will furnish the iron. It will arrive here during the latter part of next month. The contractors will then have the work until the iron arrives. It will then be pushed as rapidly as possible and the building completed in time for the big fall opening of the company.

TO HAVE ONE.

Summer Training School For St. Louis County This Year.

St. Louis county will get a summer training school for teachers this year as usual, though the funds are short and a good many counties that got summer schools last year will have to do without this year.

Superintendent Olson yesterday gave out a list of the dates and places for the summer training schools. There are only thirty-five of them this year, and that year there were forty-eight. The difference is due to the fact that there is a shortage of available funds for this purpose. The department of public instruction has only $2500 on hand, and this would not go around among as many schools as there were last summer.

St. Louis county's school will begin July 21, and as usual it will be held at the high school. It will be in charge of F. F. Little, principal of the school, and the instructors will be as follows: C. E. Prazier, Little Falls; J. H. Thornton, Atkin; J. H. Hay, Sandstone; Cymra Daniels, Cloquet.

Due to the reduction in the number of schools, those that are selected will probably have an increased attendance. It is expected that the school will be held at Cass Lake a few days ago on a warrant charging him with forging a check on the First National bank of this city, was examined in West Superior yesterday and did not know him. An investigation is being made of the man's record, as the authorities seem to think that he had something to do with some other forgeries committed in this vicinity last fall and winter.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Best Investigator and Strengthen for Old People.

Its Use Insures Freedom From the Infirmities That Come With Advancing Years.

It Bestows On the Aged a Condition of Comfort, Happiness and Peace That No Other Agency Can Give.

We should give careful attention to the physical welfare of the aged in our homes. Their chief troubles are constipation, flatulence, drowsiness, rheumatism, neuralgia and indigestion.

Paine's Celery Compound is the world's best medicine for all the besetting troubles of the old. Its regulating influence on the liver, kidneys and bowels removes the disorders that come to the aged. When you are old, Paine's Celery Compound stimulates the vital powers, regulates digestion, and promotes a healthy appetite. It builds you up and adds years of comfort, happiness and peace to your life.

Rev. Dr. William A. Smith, of Groton, Conn., one of the best known divines in Southern New England, sends the following letter that deserves careful reading:

"I am now 86 years of age, and during my long life have suffered greatly from dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation and insomnia. At times thinking I should die for want of sleep."

"By the use of several bottles of Paine's Celery Compound I have so far recovered my health as to consider myself a well man for my age. My appetite is now good, my sleep is refreshing, my liver active and bowels regular, and my crutches are not needed."

See that you get PAINES, the kind that makes old people active, fresh and young. Look for the name PAINES on each bottle and wrapper. If you are offered any other kind you are getting a substitute that is worthless.

BIG CLASS.

Gov. Van Sant Attends Samaritans' Initiation and Banquet.

Governor Van Sant made a flying visit to Duluth last night to attend a banquet given by the Modern Samaritans at Elk's hall.

Prior to the banquet a class of about fifty new members was initiated. Speeches were made by Governor Van Sant, Mayor Hugo and J. Adam Bede before the banquet.

Gov. Van Sant was very much interested in the work of the Samaritans, and when they were initiated he gave them a talk on the "Fraternal Side of Life," as he termed it. He jollied Duluth somewhat.

"I like to come to Duluth, the important city which ranks second to none in this state in the state of Minnesota. Those who come to Duluth, many of them are coming to make a great city. Duluth, mighty commerce, and mighty in manufactures. Neighbors, I traveled 400 miles to come to Duluth, and I would gladly travel twice that far to come here again."

The governor declared that he had an address in which he said that if elected one of the first things that he should do would be to give the city a clean business administration, in which there would be no horseplay. Mr. O'Hare declared that in case of election he would cut off the perquisites of the gang of grafters that infest the city hall, and the jobs that are left will be distributed among his friends.

KNOCKED BOTH OUT

Judge Vinje Plants Bombshell Among Superior Republicans.

Decides Neither Convention Was In Accordance With Law.

Dietrich and Parker May Both Run as Independents.

Judge Vinje, at Shell Lake, Wis., sprung a surprise on both the Dietrich and Parker factions in the majority contest in West Superior, when he rendered a decision yesterday afternoon holding that both conventions held by the Republicans of West Superior were illegal, and that neither Mr. Dietrich nor Mayor Parker could head the Republican ticket in the coming municipal election. This will hold true of the rest of the nominees of the two conventions.

Judge Vinje granted the injunction against the Parker ticket, but refused the mandamus for the Dietrich ticket. The court held that the state law is valid, and that delegates to the convention must have a majority of all the votes cast. This would exclude the Fifth and Ninth wards, and because the delegates from those wards participated in the regular convention, it was held to be illegal.

Judge Vinje ruled that the Parker convention was not valid, because a regular convention was called to order by the chairman of the city committee, and the delegates have no right to bolt and hold another convention.

The court held that the word "majority" means a majority of the plurality, and that a delegate receiving more votes than any of his opponents is not necessarily chosen, but he must have more votes than all his opponents and more than half of those cast.

This decision of Judge Vinje will mean that there will be no Republican ticket in the field, but that if Mayor Parker and Mr. Dietrich wish to run, they must do so on independent tickets. Mayor Parker, it is understood, will be a candidate under any name, but with Mr. Dietrich it is not so certain, although all pressure possible has been brought to bear on him by his friends to induce him to keep the field. Several days ago Mr. Dietrich stated that unless he should be elected to be the regular Republican nominee he would withdraw, but his friends are confident that he will stay in the convention changes the situation, and Mr. Dietrich should be a candidate for election.

It was reported that a delegation from the Dietrich headquarters was sent at an early morning hour to the residence of Mayor Parker to see if an agreement could be reached for the withdrawal of both Mayor Parker and Mr. Dietrich from the field and a union of the two factions of the Republican party. The Dietrich faction, presumably Col. James H. Agen.

In the meantime the Democrats of West Superior are "sawing wood" at a great rate and taking every advantage possible of the split in the ranks of the Republicans. The Democratic campaign for mayor was launched in West Superior last evening and Charles O'Hare, the party's nominee for mayor, delivered an address in which he said that if elected one of the first things that he should do would be to give the city a clean business administration, in which there would be no horseplay. Mr. O'Hare declared that in case of election he would cut off the perquisites of the gang of grafters that infest the city hall, and the jobs that are left will be distributed among his friends.

Bride Mailed Her Marriage Certificate From Cincinnati.

New York, March 27.—A marriage notice published here as follows: Whitehill-Parker—On June 13, 1900, by Rev. John F. Morgan, of the Park Reformed church, Jersey City, S. Beatrice Parker to George W. Whitehill, all of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Whitehill is the 25-year-old daughter of David Parker, of 37 McDougall street, Brooklyn, who is the colored commanding the "Union" Legion. Mr. Whitehill is a young clerk of 60 Carroll street. They had known each other for several years before marriage, and, according to all accounts, the marriage was not unsatisfactory to the families of either of the young people.

It was her father's wish that they might have thought it would not be sanctioned by her father. The marriage was not unsatisfactory to the families of either of the young people.

Several friends of the bride took her daughter to Cincinnati to visit another married daughter. Her arrival there on Saturday night.

His daughter, who had remained in Cincinnati with her sister, sent her marriage certificate in a letter to her mother. She had been married for some time, and at once had her contents advertised. Col. Parker, who is a well-known figure, had been a surprise to him, but that every thing was all right.

When her father left her to return home she gave him no hint of the matter, and he was surprised to find her surprised by his wife showing him a letter from her father. The letter read: "My dear Mother: Will you kindly keep this letter secret until I return. Lovingly your daughter, BEATRICE."

"Miss Bob White," which will be at the Lyceum next Monday presented by a company of eighty people, managed by Nixon & Zimmerman, the same managers who brought "The Strollers" here, will be one of the best attractions of the year. The story of "Miss Bob White" revolves around an election bet made by two young millionaires and the loss of which compels them to masquerade as tramps for two months and to earn their own living during that time by their wits. The title comes from a non de plume assumed by the sweetheart of one of the young men, who follows them to enjoy their plight. It is full of sparkling melodies in Mr. Spenser's best vein and the comedy situations are immensely funny.

First Swedish Baptist Church Has Cancelled Its Mortgage.

This evening the congregation and friends of the First Swedish Baptist church at Nineteenth avenue west and First street will hold a jubilee festival to celebrate the paying off of the mortgage that has hung over the church for several years past. The original amount of the mortgage was $2500 and the last payment of $1000 was made a few days ago.

The past year has been a record-breaking one for the church. The payment of church debts, and the First Swedish Baptist church it the third religious body in the city to cancel its mortgage. The members of the congregation as well as those of the other church congregations have been paid off on the other churches in this city, exercises have been held, one of the features of which was the burning of the instrument.

The congregation of the First Swedish church has planned somewhat different than the other churches, and the cancelled mortgage will be filed in the archives of the church.

An interesting program will be rendered at the festival this evening, and it is expected that the attendance will be very large, members of the other Swedish Baptist churches of this city and West Superior attending.

Addresses will be made by Rev. F. Lindén, pastor of the Duluth Swedish Baptist church, Rev. J. Lofstrom, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church of West Superior, Rev. C. A. Allen, pastor of the Third Swedish Baptist church in West Duluth.

Chris Johnson will make a statement in behalf of the trustees, showing the financial condition of the church, and telling how the mortgage was paid. It is believed that the hymns, which will also give a short talk.

ONE MORE

Insurgent General Has Been Captured In the Philippines.

Manila, March 27.—Norie, the only insurgent general with the exception of Malvar, still in the field, has been captured by Lieut. Frank E. Bamford, of the Twenty-eighth Infantry. A major, a captain, a lieutenant and five men, who were acting as a bodyguard to Norie, were captured with him. They have all been held as prisoners of war. There is some reason to believe that one member of this bodyguard is Gen. Malvar in disguise. Lieut. Bamford is certain that if this general is not one of the captured party, he is in the immediate neighborhood of the scene of Norie's capture.

BARGAIN FRIDAY.

Sale of Damaged Lace Curtains.

A large invoice of Lace Curtains, consigned to us, while in transit over the New York Central Railroad, was soaked by water in the recent floods. The railroad company was responsible for the damage. We notified them that we would take them at 25c on the dollar—just one-fourth the invoice prices. After considerable correspondence we secured the curtains at our own figure. The only damage to the goods is by water, which does not lessen their real value more than the cost of one laundering. One-half the curtains in the case were not soaked at all, but every curtain in the lot goes at a reduced price. The sale commences tomorrow morning at 8:30 in the curtain department, second floor. We advise you to be here at that hour, for hundreds have been waiting for this sale and the quantity will not last long.

CANDIDATES

Named By State Prohibition Convention Held at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, March 27.—Rev. Charles Scanlon, of the House of Faith church, Minneapolis, was nominated for governor by the state prohibitionists in convention yesterday at Minneapolis.

C. M. Way, whose name was first placed in nomination, announced that he would be unable to accept the honor, and his name was withdrawn.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Scanlon stated that the fact that almost certain defeat awaited him in the face would not prevent him from making a hard campaign. To make any kind of a showing it would be necessary for every man who had the interests of the cause at heart to do all in his power for the success of the ticket. Other nominations were: Lieutenant governor, A. F. Heiberg, Norman county secretary of state, A. E. Hildner, Lyon county treasurer, A. J. Kanne, Le Sueur county.

The following platform was adopted: "We hereby renew our allegiance to the National Prohibition party in its mission to overthrow the liquor traffic in this country."

"We declare again our relentless opposition to the manufacture, sale, transportation, exportation or the transportation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes, and in favor of the complete and total destruction of this arch-enemy of the flag."

"We believe that intelligence rather than sex should determine the right of suffrage."

"We are opposed to the unjust and oppressive trusts and monopolies, and favor legislation which will prevent their existence."

"We believe in rigid national, state or municipal control of ownership of public utilities, which are natural monopolies."

"We favor proportional representation and the initiative and referendum."

"We favor the election of president, vice president and members of the senate by direct vote of the people."

"We arraign the Republican party for the repeal of the prohibition laws, the administration for the introduction of the liquor traffic and its consequent evils into the Philippine islands, which are under absolute military control, by which the native races have been degraded and the honor of this Christian nation disgraced."

Marine Matters

The Lake Fleet Will Be In Commission By April 10.

Attempt to Prevent an Early Opening of Navigation Fails.

Talk of Tug Men's Strike at Chicago--Other Matters.

The attempt to keep boats out of the lake trade until May 1, in spite of the removal of the natural obstacles to navigation a month earlier than that date, has failed, and it is now agreed that the full fleet will be in commission by April 10.

The desire of many vessel owners to keep the season back as long as possible was natural. A long season means lower freight rates and decreased season's earnings. A month added to the season increases the carrying capacity immensely, and naturally that decreases the freight rates. The gain in carrying capacity will not offset the loss in freight. But owing to the many men of many minds that own vessels, it was impossible to hold the season back, especially when the steel trust announced that its boats were to start as soon as might be.

There has been some talk for or against opening of navigation by tying up the boats which engage in the bulk commodity trade. Many have questioned the feasibility of this scheme, while others claim that such a scheme is impossible of accomplishment at this time. The large bulk of the tonnage of the lakes remains in the hands of the farmers, whose vessels are not equipped to make it impossible to perfect an absolutely ironclad gentlemen's agreement. It is true that many of the smaller fleets have been collected under one management, and that in freightage a few men seem to control the situation, yet these individual managers have a variety of stockholders and the pool complete it would be necessary to assure each of these backers of big enterprises that his apparent loss would be no greater than that of each of the other backers so situated, and that the movement was simply a postponement of operations that would not affect the season's earnings. This would be a most difficult thing to do, hence all questions of any delay of boats may be dismissed, if the views of the well informed are to be relied upon.

This possibility out of the way, the freight situation has taken on a new complexion. It is now agreed that 10 all boats on the lakes will be running. The full carrying capacity of the lakes will therefore be put into operation as soon as the Soo canal gate is repaired, and it is possible that the movement will therefore be made in the future before the month is out. It is apparent that this is giving a weak tone to the lake trade, but it is coming to be conceded that the shippers have reason to feel easy as to the season's rate being approximately 25 cents.

There is but one remaining possibility which may operate most powerfully in favor of the vessel owners. Despite everything that has been said to the contrary, it is evident that the blizzards of trouble between the Great Lakes towing company and the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association have not been removed. The tugmen assert that as yet there is no general understanding between the company, which might be considered as settling aside the possibility of a disagreement. In the event the tugmen do not start out with the opening of navigation it will be impossible for the big boats to move about the lakes. This may be as effective a block to navigation as any pool of vessel interests, and in fact more effective since it would strike the corporation boats and the independent fleet alike. The vessel man, therefore, has not given up the fight for a higher rate.

THE COAL OPERATORS
Meet at Cleveland But Make No Agreement.

The coal operators who ship coal to the Northwest by the lake route have held a meeting in Cleveland, but a long session failed to develop an agreement. All of the possible factors in the lake situation were invited to the conference, and all of these men will have to view their views as to prices before the season opens. The men have a general disposition to ask slightly better prices than were paid last season, but this matter has been settled here will be nothing done in the matter of fixing the lake rates, but they believe the same rate will be paid at the opening of navigation this year as was established last year. Vesselmen and shippers seem to be agreed upon that question, and when the shippers are ready to agree, there is no much delay will be experienced.

GLOOMY AT CHICAGO.
Tug Men and Towing Company Split Apart.

The Chicago Record-Herald takes a gloomy view of the lake tug situation, and finds a possibility of strike in the negotiations between the Great Lakes Towing company and the captains and engineers of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association.

If it is true the situation must be different elsewhere from the situation in Duluth, where the tugmen have not yet been settled between the local tug company and the members of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association.

There is no dispute whatever over wages, which are the same as last year, but there has been a little difficulty as to privileges, etc. The local association held a meeting tonight at which the matter may be fixed up at that time.

The tugmen are being moved, however, on account of the delayed settlement, but as soon as an agreement is reached, the tugmen will be started out. The Record-Herald's article on the situation is a general one, and it is not clear if it is in its attempt to reduce the cost of operating the Great Lakes Towing company finds itself in conflict with the tugmen, and there is a possibility that it may be involved in a strike by the captains and engineers, who are all members of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association. The scale of wages, etc., as agreed upon by the twenty-eight local boilers of their organization at as many ports all over the lakes is about the same as that of a year ago; in Chicago, however, the scale is a little higher, although practically all of the local bodies have submitted their annual demands and are waiting for the towing company's answer. In the event of a strike of the engineers and captains of tug there would be a general tying up of shipping all over the lakes. Out of some 300 tugmen employed on the entire chain 127 are used in the towing of vessels, and are controlled by the company. The remainder are used in fishing, dredge work or for passenger purposes, mainly short hauls. Practically all of the tugs are manned by union men. The twenty-eight locals have an aggregate membership of 200. All of the tugmen in Chicago are members of the union.

C. C. Nelson Admits That
He Has Married
Three Women.

Is Wanted at St. Paul,

Other Cities.

His Latest Wife in Texas Will Stand By Him.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 27.—"Two years ago I was a happy bachelor in Chicago. Today I am the husband of three wives. They say a dozen more to claim me, but I am willing to face the task to twelve. They will soon see their mistake."

This is the statement made by Christian C. Nelson, alias Nelson Foster, Capt. A. N. Freeland, John Anderson, Nelson Porter, J. A. Watson and John Madis, who is locked up here on the charge of bigamy. He was arrested in St. Antonio, Texas, on complaint of Mrs. Mary A. Nelson, who says she was married to Nelson in St. Louis last September. Nelson admits that he married the woman, whose name was Mary A. Parker, a widow, of Plattsmouth, Mo. She is expected to appear against him next Saturday.

When arrested, Nelson was living with his latest wife in St. Antonio, and, according to his own statement, was the happiest man in Texas. One of his devilishly wives was working in a florist's stand, where he went to buy flowers. She recognized him and caused his arrest.

Nelson admits that he has married three women, but denies marrying a dozen. When asked why he remarried without first securing a divorce, he said:

"I don't know. I cannot talk now. I could not live with either of those women, and I will leave it to the court to decide whether I did right or not."

After Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were married by Justice Burke in the court house they went to Kansas City on an evening train. The next day the Lothario secured $300 from his wife and disappeared, and was not seen again by his wife until she met him in the fruit stand in St. Antonio. After leaving Kansas City, Nelson says he went to Prescott, Kas., and there met another widow, Mrs. A. E. Milburn, who had $2000 in cash. He married her, and she was another victim.

Nelson "loves to distract" attention from his own troubles. "I will stand by you in this trouble," he was asked.

"Yes, sir," he told the police judge and the detective from St. Antonio. "I loved her and would love her to the last."

As already stated, Nelson is wanted at St. Paul, Des Moines and other cities, in most of which he is said to have wives, and an effort will be made to have them brought to St. Joseph as witnesses. Nelson is a native born German and served in the German army during the Franco-Prussian war.

LEFT SCHOOL.
When Professor Was Discharged.

Brazil, Ind., March 27.—The city school board ordered Rev. Emory Muncie, charged with hugging and kissing fifteen-year-old Ethel Muncie, one of his pupils, to leave the school. This morning the school was closed for a day.

This was made necessary on account of Mr. Muncie ignoring the demand to resign. When he left the school his scholars were greatly excited and a riot was inaugurated, a strike, leaving in a body with him the girls and boys. They say they will not return to school unless Professor Muncie is reinstated.

Mr. Muncie has engaged eminent lawyers and will at once bring suit against the school board for damages resulting from the strike.

Engineer Richard Gray missed Dussacker just before the train stopped, but thought the fireman was safe on another part of the engine. Chicago, March 28.—According to the Chicago Tribune, the Pitzsimmons Monday night fight at the Los Angeles Athletic club has been postponed to insure the bout when the bids are tendered, says the Chronicle's Los Angeles correspondent. Washington, March 28.—Representative Corliss, of Michigan, was given a hearing before the house committee on judiciary today, on the resolutions directing the attorney general to institute proceedings against the Commercial Cable company for alleged combination and conspiracy to effect was to advance the cost of cable messages on the Atlantic 12½ cents a word. Chairman Hay and members of the committee asked a number of questions which developed a number of questions on the resolution. Mr. Corliss said the matter had not been brought to the attention of the attorney general so far as the committee was concerned. The committee take cognizance of facts which would constitute an offense against the law and refer the matter to the attorney general for his investigation and action.

the subject had never been brought before the attorney general, he could not be remiss in not acting on it and, until he declined to act, congress was not warranted in giving him directions.

Considerable sparring was indulged in as to the amount of evidence Mr. Corliss could produce. The committee then went into executive session and unanimously reported against the resolution, on the ground that Mr. Corliss had not presented a case calling for the action proposed.

Washington, March 28.—Up to the present time, James R. Garfield has not indicated to the president his intention of accepting the place of civil service commissioner, which was tendered him to succeed William A. Rodenberg, resigned. "I think, however, that it will take at least eighteen months to get the police department back to the blackings of the police department of which you are immersed in the details of his department. They will find out when the time comes that you are not a man of the temperament, who will do his duty. He has hardly had time to arrange the simplest of things."

Asked about the expense of getting evidence, the attorney said that the common law allows a man to spend $2,000 any way, spending in some instances two or three times as much. He said that he was not against a single house. The defendants were not going to be put in jail, but were sent to the city prison for a few days, and he said that he was not discouraging he said.

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald)—There are semi-official reports that F. W. Wilsey, of St. Paul, assistant land commissioner of the Northern Pacific system, will be sent West to become assistant to the president at Tacoma, vice Thomas Cooper, the new general manager. Mr. Wilsey, previous to his connection with the land department, was divisional superintendent at Duluth.

The Englishmen at Rhodes. Even the leader writers here were constrained by memories of the parliamentary inquiry to admit his complexity of mind, and to point out his mistakes and estimate his blunders as commensurate with his services to the empire; but, now, that the world's press is full of the Cretan and the Boer empire builder, they are suggesting the substitution of Westminster Abbey for the Londoner's place of burial at Matopos Hills. LOGAN READY FOR SERVICE.
San Francisco, March 28.—The transport Logan, which has been lying at the Mare Island dock for months past, will be ready for service again by April 10. No repairs have been placed in her, and other improvements to the vessel have been made by the navy yard mechanics. Captain Stinson is still in command. The Egbert, arriving yesterday, will probably be the next transport to be transferred to the navy yard.

New York, March 28.—Carl Fischer-Hansen, of this city, who was attorney for Walter Christmas, the representative of the Danish government in the overland route for the mail to the West Indian islands in 1930, was indignant at the conduct of his client shown in his secret report to the Danish minister.

"Ordinarily, legal etiquette," said he, "would prevent my speaking. But this report is so defamatory and outrageous that I cannot be washing my hands of the whole affair."

Mr. Fischer-Hansen described the course of action of his representative as it appeared to him.

Christmas undertook, according to Mr. Fischer-Hansen, to take the mail to the islands for the Hørring ministry. As far back as 1928 the sale had been almost consummated, but at that time most of this government had drawn back. Thus, Denmark could not make overtures, or, if it did, they would be interpreted as a bribe to be accepted. This Christmas did not know, but the Danish minister at the American embassy in London to Count Bernstorff did.

"At that point," said Mr. Fischer-Hansen, "the Danish minister was informed from there on were carried forward by the American minister in Denmark and the Danish minister in London."

The Hørring ministry, going out of office last year, was replaced by the Sehested ministry, to which the latter had been transferred. Reporting this the alleged obligations he was under to the Danish minister.

"This report was evidently made," said the lawyer, "with the belief that it could be used to the advantage of the Hørring ministry in showing his ability. I am quite sure that the Hørring ministry was not in any position, and I believe the report was made for the purpose of personal gain."

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The veterans of the Fourth Minnesota will be asked to restore to the survivors of the Thirty-fifth Mississippi regiment the battle flag captured from the confederate regiment at the fierce battle of Vicksburg. The restoration of the flag is the next annual reunion of the Minnesota regiment.

The movement for the restoration of the flag was started by a Southern woman named Mrs. J. M. Smith, who, in 1863, over the captured battle flag, now in the rotunda of the capitol, she saw the flags of the Thirty-fifth and the Thirty-ninth Mississippi regiments. She was so impressed by the sight that she and her husband and her father served in the confederate army, decided to make a search for the flag.

New York, March 28.—The only live musk ox ever exhibited on the American continent has been added to the New York Zoological park, and will remain there as long as artificial ice to keep its health and life 5000 miles from home. The ox was captured in March, 1901, directly north of the Great Bear lake and a score of miles from the Arctic ocean. Four others were taken at the same time, but they fell a prey

Pretoria, Transvaal Colony, March 28.—About 1500 Boers, under Delarey, Liebenberg, Kemp and Wolmarans, were within the area of Lord Kitchener's latest movement, but though surprised by the rapidity displayed by the British troops, gaps in the latter's lines enabled most of the burghers to escape. The Boer prisoners totalled 79 men, including Commandant H. Kruger and ex-Landrost Neethling, of Klerksdorp.

New York, March 23.—The ancient ceremony of distributing Maundy money was observed in all its Old-World picturesqueness in Westminster abbey, says a London dispatch to the Tribune. In most details the function was identical with that established in the past and confirmed by unbroken custom: Sixty-one old men Woodward, with his wife, Bertha and brother Clarence, was arrested last November on the charge of stealing clothing and provisions from a ranch. It was alleged that Woodward's ranch was the headquarters of a band of cattle and horse thieves.

Near Casper he stole a horse and rode to his ranch, reaching there on the night of Jan. 12. He was in the act of finding friends ready to assist him, when he found Sheriff Tucker and two deputies at the house, waiting for him. He then fled, and the sheriff and his band of men rode and steal one from the sheriff's posse. He mounted one of the horses and was in the act of riding away when the posse came out of the house and ordered him to surrender. Woodward instantly shot and wounded him. Woodward then, it is said, went to the dying man and struck him with a knife, killing him. Woodward took $45 out of the sheriff's pocket and escaped. He was captured several days later and taken to Casper, where he was brought back to Casper. He admitted the killing and was convicted. Woodward was sentenced to the state penitentiary for a term of 10 years. The supreme court granted a stay of execution, which would have allowed Woodward at least three months more of life.

Buffalo, March 28.—The Express today publishes a story to the effect that Karl Dahlman, one of the three men sentenced to life imprisonment in the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary for attempting to blow up the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa on April 21, 1900, is no other than Luke Dillon, the Irish National leader and famous as a friend of Dr. Cronin, who was murdered in Chicago.

Three men were captured soon after the explosion in the Parliament Buildings, one of the Canadian canal locks. Two of the men were identified as Karl Dahlman and John J. Kelly, who were

They had quarrels about a division fence. This Pendleton shot the woman dead. Her husband, a one-armed man, ran to her rescue and Pendleton fired three shots ineffectually at him. Baker wrangled the revolver from him and would have shot him if there had been another load in the weapon. Neighbors held Pendleton until officers took him in arrest.

Passengers Are Considerably Shaken By Two Trains Coming Together on the Elevated were badly shaken up in a collision between trains of the South-Side and Metropolitan West-Side elevated roads on the Union loop today. The South-Side cars had stopped at the Langlie street station, where the Metropolitan train was slowing it because it was unmanageable. The crash sounded like an explosion, and was heard for several blocks. The runaway coaches, had to jump through a window to save himself from being crushed. The coaches were crushed at the station platform just before the cars came together. One of the rear coach of the South-Side train was demolished, and the passengers were hurled from the seats and covered with flying glass. Many were cut and bruised, but none seriously injured.

TO VISIT DULUTH

Sig. Mayor des Planches, Italian Ambassador, to Come Here.

Is Representative of His Government to the United States.

Will Spend Some Time Making a Tour of the Country.

Signor Mayor des Planches, Italian ambassador to the United States, is to visit Duluth in the near future.

It is probable that during his visit here he will be a guest of the city and be paid special honors by the Italian citizens.

He will be accompanied by Signora Mayor des Planches, who is said to be one of the most beautiful women in Washington society.

The Italian ambassador is a comparatively recent addition to the diplomatic circles of Washington and it is his purpose of knowing the United States thoroughly.

He intends spending all his leisure time traveling over this country and Duluth is on the itinerary of his first trip, though the exact date has not been set.

He and his wife propose starting at Buffalo and visiting all the cities of importance along the chain of great lakes. There will be no general special program for this trip and the ambassador and his wife will only be accompanied by a secretary and servant.

THE BANQUET.

Large Attendance at Garfield Club Affair Is Certain.

The attendance at the banquet of the Garfield club at the Spaulding bids fair to be very large. Tickets have been disposed to the utmost seating capacity of the dining hall, and it looks as if the "R. O." sign would have to be hung out before the evening is over.

Senator Clapp has wired that he is unable to attend, as the Chippewa land bill is on the tapis, and he and Congressman Morris are positively unable to leave Washington. Lieutenant Governor Smith has signified his intention of coming up this evening and Attorney General Douglas will be accompanied by Hon. W. B. Scott, of Washington, D. C., a noted speaker.

The decorations installed for the Scottish Rite banquet have been allowed to remain untouched in the Spaulding dining hall and the tables will be arranged precisely in the same manner.

NORMAL FIRE

Caused More Than Half of Deficiency, Says
Ankeny.

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—President A. T. Ankeny of the state normal board has issued a statement relative to the excess of $7500 expense over the appropriation for the Duluth normal school.

He says Director Phelps of Duluth had full charge of the matter. That since last July the normal bills have remained unpaid, and the shortage was only found when the board of control recently took the matter up. He says at least half of the deficiency is the direct result of extra expenses incurred because of the Duluth normal fire.

A detailed statement is to be laid before Governor Van Sant by the normal board to have him recommend to the legislature that the deficiency be paid.

MANY WOODSMEN COME.

Duluth & Iron Range Train Brings In Many.

The Duluth & Iron Range train that arrived at noon today brought a small army of woodsmen from the different camps along the line of the road. As viewed from the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street, the men seemed to form an unbroken line, marching three or four abreast, from the Union depot up to the corner above.
There was no mistaking the character of the men, as nearly every one had his "tussock" slung over his shoulder and his trousers tucked into his boots.
Fifteen minutes after the arrival of the train the bowery eating houses and thirst purloins were working overtime, and in half an hour the clothing stores began to reap a harvest.

Croup instantly relieved. Dr. Thomas'
Electric Oil. Perfectly safe. Never fails.

Going Up Rapidly.

Architect W. H. Brink, who has charge of the construction of the addition to the Hotel St. Louis, said today that the walls of one story were up and ready for the joists and the extra cotta facade. Material has been coming along very fairly, and he does not expect that any delay will be experienced.

Mr. Brink will also superintend the new Panton & White addition, but he says that it is too soon to say much about this work.

DUFFY GOES TO ENGLAND.

across the river from Canton, a terrible flood has broken out in the Orphan's hoped a spread of the disease will be prevented.

take over 20 miles to fence, and the orders for wire go in by car load lots.

Bismarck—The tie-up on the Northern Pacific at McKenzie is still complete, and there are no indications of relief. Water in McKenzie slough, which covers the track to a depth of several feet for a distance of two miles, rose several inches
Wednesday night, and with a high wind to transfer passengers from east to west bound trains were abandoned last night.
The mud being so deep about the slough that teams could make no progress. All country roads are almost impassable and many bridges over creeks and streams have gone out. The high water all through this section is unprecedented. Slugs live south of the city will have to be abandoned unless the water recedes within the next twenty-four hours.

SOUTH DAKOTA.
Canton—At Bolot, a small town in Iowa
across the river from Canton, a terrible flood has broken out in the Orphan's home. The home is accommodating about 100 children and there are twenty-five cases and two deaths reported. A strict quarantine was established and it is hoped a spread of the disease will be prevented.

Pierre.—The cashier of the Pierre National bank, Max B. Kehr, and wife, almost lost their lives Wednesday night by asphyxiation by coal gas. Mrs. Kehr managed to reach a door this morning and attract attention before falling in a faint, and assistance was secured. They are now recovering, but will recover.
Preparations are being made by those who have secured leases on the Cheyenne river Indian reservation to fence the tracts which they have leased. This will take over 20 miles to fence, and the orders for wire go in by car load lots.
One crew has gone out from Fort Pierre and expects to be employed for several weeks, while another crew for the upper part of the work has started from Evans.

The receipts of the state treasury yesterday were in excess of those for any day since the organization of the state.
The total amount received was $19,000.
Of this about $8,000 was school money, which will increase the amount already awaiting borrowers.

STIR WAS CAUSED

By the Report That Babcock Will Take a Trip.

Much Elation Among Those Opposed to Payne Bill.

Will Go To Atlantic City For Few Weeks' Stay.

Washington, March 28.—It was reported about the house of representatives today that Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, who has been in ill health of late, would go to Atlantic City for a stay of some time. This report caused quite a stir among the elements interested in Cuban reciprocity, as Mr. Babcock's vote was thought to be necessary to report the bill from the ways and means committee by Republican votes. Those opposing the Payne bill were much elated over the report.

At Mr. Babcock's committee room, it was stated that he probably would go to Atlantic City tomorrow for a few weeks' stay. It is understood that Chairman Payne will not call a special meeting of the ways and means committee this week until the plans of the committee are definite.

SOME CHANGE

In Policy of Three Merger Roads May Occur.

St. Paul, March 28.—The Dispatch today says: The continued presence in St. Paul of President George V. Harris, of the Burlington, and his conferences with Presidents Hill and Melan, have given rise to the belief that the three merger roads are contemplating some change in policy, or are forming some new sort of traffic arrangement. Mr. Harris has been in the city four days, a much longer period than he has spent in the city for the transaction of minor matters. Yesterday General Manager G. W. Hild, vice president of the Burlington & Missouri River, was summoned to St. Paul and arrived early today.

The Burlington & Missouri River is the extension of the Burlington & Missouri River, which runs the Northern Pacific at Duluth, Minn.

The arrival of Mr. Hild gave credence to the belief that the merger roads were about to put into effect some change of policy regarding the handling and division of traffic, but it is only likely that there will be a shifting around of some of the minor officials of the three roads.

One report is that Mr. Hild would be made assistant of President Melan of the Northern Pacific to succeed Thomas Cooper, made general manager. The office of assistant to the president is virtually that of western general manager, although it does not have the prestige of a Burlington man on the Northern Pacific would materially in carrying out Mr. Hill's plans, although the action in itself would not be revolutionary enough to attract much attention.

BLOCKADE BROKEN.

Northern Pacific Will Send Out Regular Train.

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight the Northern Pacific will send out the regular Pacific coast train which signifies the end of the second blockade in transcontinental traffic within two weeks. The water had so far receded early today as to permit the transfer of trains will be tonight the passage of passengers. By the transfer of trains will be tonight the passage of passengers. By the transfer of trains will be tonight the passage of passengers.

LARGE ITEMS

In Sundry Civil Bill Including $459,000 For Duluth Harbor.

Washington, March 28.—The public buildings items in the sundry civil bill of over $50,000 include the following: Aberdeen, S. D., $56,500; Chicago, $1,000,000; Cleveland, O., $150,000; Creston, Iowa, $50,000; Helena, Mont., $30,000; New York city, $150,000; St. Paul, Minn., $5,000.

The river and harbor contract items over $50,000 include: Buffalo harbor, N. Y., $200,000; Cleveland, Ohio, harbor, $107,000; Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., $455,000; Ashtabula harbor, Ohio, $752,000; Ashtabula harbor, Ohio, $230,000; channel in Cuyahoga bay, New York, $152,000; Black river, Ohio, $200,000; Calumet harbor, Ill., $215,000; Detroit river, $189,000; St. Mary's river, Mich., $14,000; St. Mary's river, Mich., $14,000; improving Mississippi river from mouth of the Ohio to Minneapolis, $250,000; New York harbor across Sandy Hook bar, $234,000; Toledo harbor, Ohio, $25,000.

The bill contains a provision against directing the secretary of war to report at the next session of congress a proposition for the consolidating of the military parks or substituting therefor a commission, consisting of one or more members, to have charge under the war department of all military parks. Another provision restricts officers and managers of the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers to persons whose military or naval service would render them eligible for admission to the home.

Pass to the Company.

The bills of sale were filed today at the local custom office for the E. T. Williams & Son's tug, scows and dredges, numbering forty in all. The transfer of the plant is made by E. T. Williams, who owned nine-tenths of the property, and J. E. Williams, who owned the other tenth, to the Lake Superior Contracting and Dredging company, of this city. The consideration was not available, as in many of the bills of sale it was made merely nominal. The new company was incorporated under the laws of Maine, and Thomas J. Davis, of the law firm of Davis, Hollister & Hicks, is its secretary.

Missionary Service.

A missionary council, open to the public, was held at the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon and evening, and both sessions were well attended. The afternoon session was opened with special music and devotional exercises. Addresses were made by Rev. J. W. Patton, pastor of the Cumming Avenue M. E. church, of West Superior; Mrs. J. W. Powell, pastor of Park; Rev. R. J. Taylor, of Eveleth; Rev. J. D. Scarce, pastor of the East End M. E. church at West Superior; Watson Moore, Dr. Robert Forbes and Rev. W. P. Oldham, D.D., of Chicago. The sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered in the evening, followed by an address by Dr. Oldham.

The Cuban Question.

What is known as the "Cuban question" occupied the entire session of the police court today.

The question is whether or not a Cuban named Samuel Matthews conducted a house that was lacking in high moral conduct. On trial with him were Senorita Helen Michael, Senorita Katarina Michael, and Senorita Maria Atkins. Being a strictly tropical trial, the testimony was mostly luriduous. Senorita Atkins incidentally testified that the blaze of Eastern millinery in which her peroxide blonde pedestal of intellect was rakishly mounted, was purchased by a clerk employed in the offices of a local mining company.

SONG OF CHEERFULNESS.

Let us be cheerful! What's the good of sighing?

(Oh lordy! Thursday next the rent is due!)
What's to be gained by all our coward
(Oh dear! Oh dear! And coal is needed, too!)

Let us look up! The sun is brightly shining
I feel that latest sketch is sure to miss,
So let us wake up, let us get up, let us
(Did ever mortal have such luck as this?)

Let us be cheerful! Nature smiles around us
(I cannot seem to make these poems good, Hemlock! what are the blessings that have found?)
(I wonder why misfortune haunts me now?)

The world is genial, after all, and kindly (Here comes an after-dinner to collect)
So let us trust it cheerfully and blindly
(Here! Where's my change? That's better! That's correct!)

Let us be cheerful! Facing what's before us,
Turn our souls to nature's hopeful chorus
(If this keeps up I'll have to move away)
Observe the birds, how cheerfully they twitter
(O, what a dreary grind this grows to be)
They do not make their existence bitter
(By my postage stamps are out, I see.)

Let us be cheerful! We, the poet-hearted
(I can't seem to get a cent for Sadie's hat, Let some care be from our souls this party)
(How can I have the cheek to tell her that?)

A mind at ease, a soul in perfect quiet—
(Great Caesar! I must chuck it, I can't stay)
With every nerve and fibre in a riot
To write a song of cheerfulness today!

SPREAD OF DIPHTHERIA.

Disease Carried By Cats to Other Animals.

That the microbe of the bubonic plague has been carried across seas by rats on board ship is a fact demonstrated by science. It is also said to be demonstrable that malarial fever is disseminated among the inhabitants of tropical lands by the mosquito, writes the Knowlton, Conn., correspondent of the New York Sun.

The cheerfully buzzing bluebottle fly has been accused of conveying blood poison from putrefying carcasses to human beings. But it is not so generally known that many of the diseases of humanity may be contracted by the favorite of all our domestic animals, the sleek and purring cat, and communicated through it to human beings.

In one locality in Canada where a quickly fatal type of diphtheria was prevalent, the spread of the disease was for a long time exceedingly puzzling to those who engaged in fighting it. As the community was widely scattered and the population of the disease was very great, it might appear to have been easy to avoid contagion.

But day after day new cases appeared in houses separated by long distances until a kind of panic set in, and most of the unfortunate families shut themselves up in their houses and refused all communication with friends, strangers or visitors.

Still the disease continued its ravages with deadly effect, until a crew was accidentally given by a young woman, who called across the front garden from the doorway of her home to a passing traveler to inquire about the

THE BANQUET.

Members of Scottish Rite
Have Fine Maundy
Thursday Feast.

The Scottish Rite Masons of Duluth held their annual Maundy Thursday banquet at the Spaulding last night.

The dining hall was specially prepared for the occasion and covers for 200 guests were laid. Three long tables occupied the center of the hall, and across the north end was a table for the officers of the lodge. In front of this was a small ornamental table that held the traditional seven branched candles and the "Rosy Cross." The banquet hall was entered about 7:30, and the ceremonies lasted until the small hours of the morning.

The guests began to gather about 7:30. The entire upper corridor of the hotel was utilized as a reception room, and Flaxton's full orchestra was in attendance. Special trains brought members of the order from the range towns and two hundred and many Masons from West Superior were also present.

The banquet hall was artistically decorated with great ropes of amaranth, potted plants in large variety, ferns and the national flag was very much in evidence. The decorations brought J. M. Giddings, chairman of the committee, many congratulations for his successful and artistic effort. But the crowning glory was the Rosy Cross. This beautiful emblem of the lodge's art was composed of American Beauty roses upon an elaborate base of ferns. The cross itself was about three feet high and was the handiwork of John K. Richter.

The piece de resistance upon the menu was, of course, the traditional spring lamb. This is symbolic of the feast of the Passover, which is commemorated by these observances of the Scottish Rite. Christ's death and resurrection are also symbolized by the extinction of the candles that stand before the Wise Master. This is the concluding ceremonial of the evening, and the candles remain unlighted until the afternoon of Easter Sunday, when they are relighted to signify the resurrection of Jesus from the dead. Maundy Thursday is observed by the Scottish Rite Masons in every part of the civilized world, and it is as a part of the ceremony in any place, they are bound to observe the day and it possible to eat the symbolic roast lamb.

The ceremony last night was possessed of an added interest from the fact that forty-six new members attended the yearly banquet for the first time. This was the new class that has been advanced this week to the 22d degree. Twenty-two of these were from out of town and twenty-four are citizens of Duluth. This is the largest class that ever took the degree in Duluth, if not in the state.

The following were the "sentiments" as the addresses of the evening are termed in the phraseology of the order:

"A general welcome from his grace Salutes ye all. This night he dedicates To fair content and you."

William Hugo, 33d degree, inspector general honorary W. M.
"The Supreme Council and the Grand Commander of the Valley"
William Eddy Richardson, 33d degree, inspector general honorary.
"The Government of the Country"
Israel C. McNeil, 33d degree.
Roll Call.
Jerome Eugene Cooley, 23d degree, inspector general honorary secretary.
"The Class of 1902"
Alexander C. Manson, 23d degree.
Rev. Dr. Forbes and Professor Denfeld were also among the speakers.
During the banquet appropriate music was furnished by the orchestra, and at the conclusion a chorus of singers rendered many numbers. Miss Anna Farrell was the soloist.

MINERS LOSE

In their Conference With the Iowa Operators.

Des Moines, March 28.—In accordance with an understanding reached at 7 o'clock last night, the joint conference of miners and operators ended in agreement and finally adjourned this forenoon. The miners were defeated in their main contention, securing neither an increase in the day wage scale nor the employment of shot firers by the operators. The only concession by the latter was the employment of shot examiners.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE.

Weavers In Two Pittsburg Mills Go Out.

Pittsburg, Mass., March 28.—The entire force of weavers in the Pittsburg worsted mills and the Beall mills of the American Woolen company, struck today in sympathy with the Rhode Island employees of the combine in the struggle against the two loom systems in that state.

The two mills employ about 400 weavers. They have not been shut down, but it is said that the various departments will gradually have to cease work, when about 1000 hands will be idle.

JOURNEY AVOIDED.

Poles Will Get Bishop Without Trip to Rome.

Ripon, Wis., March 28.—The Rev. J. Pitas, of Buffalo, N. Y., and the Rev. W. Kruska, of Ripon, Wis., who were chosen delegates by the Polish Catholic congress to go to Rome in order to seek the appointment of Polish speaking bishops for the Polish Catholic churches of the United States, have accomplished their purpose through correspondence. It will, therefore, not be necessary to make the long trip to Rome. It is stated authoritatively that the appointment of the Polish bishops is now sure, it being only a question of time.

THREE IN THE FIELD

Superior Will Have a Three-Cornered Mayoralty Fight.

James H. Agen Finally Decides Not to Enter the Race.

Chances of O'Hare, Democratic Candidate, Considered Good.

The certificates of those who will run for municipal offices in Superior were filed with the city clerk yesterday. There will be only three candidates in the field, Col. H. Agen withdrawing because of an agreement with the Dietrich interests to do so if Mayor Parker would not consent to compromise with Mr. Dietrich and leave the field open to a third candidate. The chances are believed to be excellent for Mr. O'Hare's election.

Mayor Parker and H. W. Dietrich have filed their nominations for mayor, independent Republicans, and Charles N. O'Hare as the Democratic nominee. At P. Schmidt, who was nominated for city treasurer in the Parker convention, has decided to leave an open field for R. L. Hunter, the nominee of the Dietrich convention, and did not file papers. For assessor A. J. Mills has the support of both factions of the Republican party.

In some of the wards there are two independent Republican running for office and in others but one.

At a campaign meeting, held in the Fourth and Fifth wards last evening, Mr. Dietrich said that he would make no attempt to crack the party lash, but asked that the Republican voters line up solidly for the men on the ticket with him, that he asked nothing for himself. He declared he could make a living without the office of mayor, and that if it was to be a handout, and the voters wished to give it to someone, then they were by all means to vote for Mr. Parker. Mr. Dietrich said that he would run on his own merits.

The Democrats held a meeting in the Fifth ward, at which Charles N. O'Hare, the Democratic nominee for mayor, declared that he would make no attempt to crack the party lash, but asked that the Republican voters line up solidly for the men on the ticket with him, that he asked nothing for himself. He declared he could make a living without the office of mayor, and that if it was to be a handout, and the voters wished to give it to someone, then they were by all means to vote for Mr. Parker. Mr. Dietrich said that he would run on his own merits.

"I was troubled for seven years with a stomach," said a man from Minneapolis, Ind. "I could get nothing to help me until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It has taken a few bottles and is entirely well. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. Max Wirth."

VEGETABLES.

Flood of Green Stuff Coming Into Michigan Street Market.

Down on Michigan street a flood of fresh vegetables is coming in. They are still high-priced, because they come a long way and the railway fare is high. Having traveled in style, in the first-class compartments for such a long time, they are perhaps justified in feeling their oats after their journey and putting a high value on themselves. They come from more sunny climes than this, for in spite of the fact that winter sunlight is not so abundant here, Duluth cannot compete with Florida and California in the raising of winter vegetables.

The list of fresh vegetables, as will be seen by a glance at the market report, is quite a long one. Some of them are from hot-houses in the North, but most of them are grown in the open.

air under Southern sun. Lettuce, green onions, radishes, cucumbers, tomatoes, beets, carrots, water cress, spinach, asparagus and parsley are now available in the Michigan street market. They are all very fine and most of them rather expensive, but that is a matter of only a short time longer. A little later, and as the sun creeps northward, he will send in advance of him an increasing supply of fresh vegetables, and as the increase comes prices will drop.

Winter is strong again. It has shown no signs of weakness in several weeks, but has hung within a couple of cents below the 30-cent mark all the time. Now it has climbed from 28 cents per pound to 29 cents. Eggs are a little stronger, too, but Lent is over next week and then they may be cheaper. They are not out of reach even now, however, for the increase is only from 14 to 15 cents.

Strawberries show no disposition to come down from their lofty perch. They have gone up instead of coming down, and are now 50 to 55 cents a box on Michigan street. On the other hand, if they may be mentioned in the same breath, green onions are down from 75 cents to 45 cents per dozen.

Potatoes are a little easier, having declined from 55 to 50 cents per bushel. New potatoes are rather scarce on the market, and scarcer still in the homes of the lowly, for they are bringing $2.75 to $3 per bushel.

It is on the meat list that the hope of the homes hangs just now. Prices are still tending strongly toward vegetarianism. Mutton is 8 cents, lamb is 12 cents, dressed beef is 12 to 9 cents, and pork loins are 11 cents. Veal has not yet reached the advance to any extent. Local agents of the packers say that they see no hope for immediate relief from this condition.

THE VICE OF NAGGING. Clouds of the home, but a nagging woman often needs help. She may be so nervous and run down in health that trifles annoy her. If she is inclined to be irritable, troubled with loss of appetite, headache, sleeplessness, constipation or fainting and dizzy spells, she needs Electric Bitters, the most wonderful remedy for ailing women. Thousands of sufferers from female troubles, nervous troubles, backache and weak kidneys have found healing and become healthy and happy. Try it. Only 50c. W. A. Abbott, druggist, guarantees satisfaction.

IRON LANDS

At Steep Rock Lake Where the Prospects Are Good.

The Border Budget, published at Koochiching, Minn., says:

"Considerable excitement has prevailed in local circles for the past month over the iron prospects on Steep Rock lake. The find was made last summer by prospectors in the employ of the Port Frances Hematite company, composed of prominent business men of Port Frances and Koochiching. The mine lies about eighty miles east of here and comprises 2500 acres, situated on the north shore of Steep Rock lake and about three and a half miles from the Canadian Northern railway.

The company interested is D. A. Ross, of Ironwood, Mich., who entered into negotiations and last Saturday secured an option on the property for a fifty-year lease, calling for a 20-cent royalty, provided he found ore of sufficient quantity and quality to pay for mining the same. He secured samples and sent in a report to the capitalists whom he represents, and received instructions to proceed with operations at once.

"Mr. Ross, in an interview, stated that he found all the different ingredients that comprise an iron formation, and the prospects warranted the expenditure of money to locate the body. What ore that is in sight, although of not large quantity is of first class quality. He will leave the latter part of this week with a crew of men to begin the preliminary work before starting a diamond drill.

"A Duluth mining company had a representative on the ground at the same time that Mr. Ross was there who was more than pleased with the prospect. They agreed as to the general formations and quality of the ore in sight, and he purchased two shares on the strength of his investigation. It is understood that he had second choice in securing the lease, and in the event of not securing the same he had an option on two-twenty-fifths of the fee, which he bought. The local men who have interest in the property feel confident that they have a good thing, and some of them have refused fancy prices for their shares."

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Hill of Harrisburg, Pa. "I would have lost her by cough had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is a sure cure for throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Max Wirth."

SECLUDED IN HOME

Mrs. Crandall Hid Her Face From World
Forty Years.

Deceived By Her Husband, Shot Herself
In the House.

She Vowed That She Would Never Leave
It Again.

Green, N. Y., March 25.—When Mrs. Sarah Ann Crandall died at her home in this town this week all the villagers gathered about the coffin to gaze upon a face which had been hidden from the world for forty years.

For almost half a century Mrs. Crandall had lived in her rambling old home, bearing the burden of a grief which had blighted her life, seeing nobody, talking to nobody, apparently caring for nobody.

Forty years ago this woman, then a bride, peered in at the window of her husband's office. What she saw there, a scene in which her husband and another woman figured as principals, was the cause of her renunciation of the world.

And yet for nearly three decades after this forlorn little life—she lived in the old house with her husband—lived with her and apart from him. Whether she spoke to him or not, it was known in the confines of their home the width of the world was between them. It was a seclusion life—without song, without hope, without happiness.

The husband went and came day by day. Year by year passed—the rugged slopes of time grew more and more steep, and still the woman lived on—voiceless, inscrutable and hidden from the world.

Through the closed window shades she could see her old friends pass along the street, as in a vision—happy wives, contented mothers, the skylarking grandchildren of her old intimates, now as gray-headed and feeble as she herself.

And so it was that when the doors of the old house swung open and the bearers came forth with the coffin, followed by the curious groups of villagers, the wrinkled old friends of her childhood remarked that only once before in forty years had she emerged from the house for a carriage ride. This was on the occasion of her husband's funeral, six years ago.

This awful isolation, the unutterable loneliness, the silence of un sympathetic walls, the feeling that she had been deceived in her husband, meant more to Sarah Crandall than to most people.

She was young, she was tall and well to do half a century ago. In fact, she was the village belle. She had a fine figure, a good face, and a good nature. She was a sensible, liberal-minded girl, and was the most popular young woman in the village of Green.

Her father was the leading business man of the village, and she had inherited wealth and social position. She had been a clerk in one of the village stores, and soon became a favorite among the social circles. She was regarded as a good-looking and a good fellow.

Between her father and father-in-law, she was married. They fell in love and were married. She was successful from the start. From a social favorite as a clerk he developed into a favorite as a physician.

A child was born to the Crandalls, and they named him Ralph. At first, Ralph Crandall being away from home a great deal of the time, the little boy became the sole companion of his mother.

When he was 7 years old, little Ralph was taken sick and died. Although she did not weep she seemed to be in a dazed condition from which she could not arouse her. Gradually, however, as she turned to her husband for sympathy she seemed to recover her former spirits.

Then her life appeared to center upon her husband. She was anxious when he was absent. Often she would seek him in his office. She tried to find solace for her loss in visiting among her friends. This manner of life went on without change until the blow came that altered her entire existence.

One day Mrs. Crandall arrived unexpectedly at her husband's office. She had not got in late door and went around to tap on the window, feeling sure that he was there. That she saw another woman with Dr. Crandall has been dimly learned. More than this she would never tell.

It was, however, enough to blight her life.

Light falls of rain or snow occurred also in South Dakota, Montana, Oregon and Northwest Canada. It is colder this morning in the Northwest, Rocky mountain and North Pacific districts with temperatures averaging close to the freezing point. A killing frost occurred this morning at Portland Ore. Moderately warm weather continues in states east of the Mississippi river.

(Wednesday) Forecast with rain tonight and south portions and cooler south portion. Saturday partly cloudy.

The Duluth Herald tonight and Saturday, March 28.

The Herald some time ago alluded to the fact that congress is attempting to perfect a design for currency intended especially for transmission through the mails, and the people of the country wish it a success.

The committees on postoffice and post-roads have before them a measure providing a post check in denominations of $5 and under, below the denominations of fractional currency. It is proposed to retire the $5 and $1 bills now issued by the government and substitute the post check and make the latter the regular paper money for those denominations.

The post check was devised by C. W. Post, a prominent and public spirited citizen of Battle Creek, Mich. It has been assisted in its perfection by a number of publishers, and the plan has been earnestly endorsed by the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The general appearance of the post check is that of the present one or two-dollar bill. On one side are blank lines upon which the holder may write the name and address of anyone to whom he desires to make a payment by mail. The payee, upon receipt of the money, attaches his signature and collects the money at the office named. To forge the signature of the payee is a penitentiary offense, same as counterfeiting. By this process one can carry about his person paper money in various denominations under $5, and it passes as good as gold. Should he desire to make remittance by mail he simply takes out a bill or piece of fractional currency, writes the name of his creditor, affixes and cancels a stamp, and it requires the signature of the latter to again make the money as good as gold at the office named.

As a cure for the roaming habits of the genus tramp, the reformatory is suggested as a most effective institution. Tramping in the United States has increased and it is now estimated that there are 25,000 tramps in this country, a gain since 1870 of 25, 4 per cent. They cost the people a large sum of money and do nothing. In dealing with the tramp problem, Professor John J. McCook asserts that we have scarcely got beyond an impatient "move on;" that our tramp laws in the several states have been so lax and lenient that after a year or two they have everywhere ceased to be enforced. Professor McCook suggests that, since reformatories are effective in seventy-five out of every hundred cases of ordinary felons, there is no reason why they should not be tried upon at least the younger among our tramp population. He offers a plan for the establishment of one such institution, which exhibits the following results in 206 cases: Twenty-four have kept straight for five years and over. Twenty-two have kept straight from four and a half to five years. Fifteen have kept straight from four to four and a half years. Twenty-two have kept straight from three and a half to four years. Eighteen have kept straight from two and a half to three years. Twenty-one have kept straight from two to two and a half years. Twenty-six have kept straight from one and a half to two years. Thirty-two have kept straight from one to one and a half years. "Here are tangible results," says Professor McCook, "and it is only necessary to multiply 256 by 250, the ascertained annual cost of those people for arrest and maintenance, to see how important they are in dollars and cents. A number of these men have found employment in the place and some of them have been trained by me with the following result: One establishment has had seven for permanent places as salesmen, porters, clerks, etc.—four of whom were what I should call downright 'bums'—and six more for temporary jobs. 'None have ever disappointed me,' the proprietor says; and he always sends them when he wants a man. Another establishment has found them part good and part bad. A third has had a number, and none of them have come back. On the other hand, two other employers have tried in all form eleven to twenty-seven of them, and found them thoroughly unsatisfactory. This testimony is, on the whole, corroborative of the modest claims of the institution—much failure, much uncertainty, but definite success sufficient to pay for the effort and cost."

THE CUBAN REPUBLIC.

The formal transfer of the island of Cuba to the Cubans on May 20 is likely to be somewhat of a spectacular event, even more so than when Spanish sovereignty yielded to the United States. The Cubans want to see their flag go up with pomp and they will be fully gratified as far as the American officials are concerned. There will be no shock when the administration of Cuban affairs falls from American hands. The momentum already acquired will be enough to carry forward the new government for months to come. While for the last two years the plan has been followed of putting the Cubans into responsible offices, subject only to supervision of the American authorities, within two or three months a definite program has been followed. This will enable the American officials to be released both from nominal and actual authority on a given day. Cubans have been named as disbursing officers and already are handling the funds. In the customs houses collectors have been designated from among those who have been designated as collectors. The postoffice is almost completely in Cuban hands. Of course, when the administration have been treated in the same manner, these designations will come under what might be called in the United States "hold-over" appointments. No tenure of office act is recognized, and no attempt has been made to forestall the Cuban government. It is simply provided with experienced officials, who are Cubans, and who can be entrusted with the administration of the duties called for by their positions in the interim which necessarily must follow the change in authority.

Of course, when he gets his own government fully organized President Palma will be absolutely free to treat the public service either on the basis of spoils or of civil service, as he may elect. Strong pressure has been made use of in behalf of favored individuals to secure appointments now, in the belief that they would be ratified by the government of President Palma.

This has come from persons not now holding office. Their applications in almost every case have been turned down, and turned down justly. Any Cuban now getting into office from the outside is pretty sure to secure the place, because it is known by the appointing power that the incoming president wants him to have the benefit of a few months' training in that particular position. All other designations or appointments are in the line of promotions.

With these advantages of experience on the part of the officials and with a good man, like Senor Palma, at the head of the government, Cuba has a good start in life.

SUPERIOR'S ELECTION.

An exciting municipal campaign is on in the city of Superior, and numerous meetings are being held nightly by the opposing candidates at which charges and counter-charges are being hurled back and forth. Owing to the decision of Judge Vinje, there is no regular Republican candidate in the field, the so-called Republican convention being declared illegal and void. For a time it looked as if there would be four or five candidates in the field for mayor, but the contest has finally narrowed down to three—Mayor Parker and ex-Mayor Dietrich, both Republicans, and Charles N. O'Hare, the Democratic candidate. This will make a very pretty three-cornered fight, in which it would appear that the Democratic nominee has the best show of winning out.

Superior is normally a Republican city, but with no regular party nominee for the Republicans to vote for and two Republicans in the field as independent candidates, the outlook should be extremely promising for the Democrats if they stand together and give united support to their nominee. This is especially true because Mr. O'Hare, the Democratic candidate, is a man of recognized ability and excellent qualities, and will undoubtedly receive many votes from Republicans who are disgusted with the factional fighting of the Parkers and Dietrichs and are anxious to see the office of mayor occupied by a business man who will place the interests of the city above all personal and party considerations. If all reports be true, Mr. O'Hare is just the sort of a mayor that Superior needs at this critical period in her history. A speech at a meeting the other night Mr. O'Hare said:

"I want to state that I will give you a straight, square, business administration, if elected to the office of mayor of this city next Tuesday. There will be no horse play. There will be no playing 'cat' with the voters. I will give you a business administration. I am a business man. I have never learned to make a speech, for I do not make my living by my mouth. I will cut off the 'purses' of the grafters. I will not make offices for people to hold and do nothing. I will cut out all of the offices where men do not earn their salary. I will not make any offices, but cut off some. I will give those that are necessary to men that will earn their salary in them. I will not make offices for my friends, but will have offices for business. The taxes in the city are abominably high. There are too many of these offices for graft which help to make the taxes high. I promise you that everything shall be done to keep down the expense and the taxes. The platform upon which I am running declares for municipal ownership. I am heartily in favor of municipal ownership, and I shall do what is in my power to bring it about. Then there is the matter of assessment. If the assessor does not do his duty in the matter, I have the appointment of a board of review, and I will see that the members are honest and that the poor man fares as well as the rich."

Those who know Mr. O'Hare say that he can be depended upon to keep his pledges, and this being true, the people of Superior should not neglect the opportunity to secure an honest, economical and efficient municipal administration, conducted on business principles and with due regard for the interests of the taxpayers and citizens generally.

It is announced that the agricultural department is about to make some experiments with a view of changing the nature of pigs. It is expected that by the adoption of improved sanitary measures they will be transformed into clean, self-respecting animals. If this be done, the phrase "dirty as a pig" will lose its meaning.

TO TAKE TIME

Nothing Rash Will Be Done By the Miners.

New York, March 28.—Mine workers and mine owners of the anthracite fields debated their differences for four hours yesterday in a conference arranged by the conciliation committee of the National Coal Federation, but the meeting was without result, save that the workers agreed not to strike on April 1, as decreed at the Shamokin convention.

There is to be further friendly discussion between the two interests, and Senator Hanna, as chairman of the industrial department of the federation, was empowered to call another conference at any favorable time within the next thirty days.

The workers asked for an increase in pay, a shortening of the working day to eight hours, and the adoption of a scale for the entire district. The operators offered to meet the employees with grievances at any time, but insisted that there be no distinction between union and non-union men. They also asserted that the present market conditions did not warrant any increase in wages or a decrease in working time.

Senator Hanna said yesterday afternoon: "The miners' representatives have pledged themselves to withdraw the threat of a partial strike on April 1. Both sides are to take time to consider the representations made today, and in thirty days, or at call, the committee is to meet and hear the results of this deliberation. An agreement seems likely."

HOWARD FAVORED.

A Goebel Murder Suspect Allowed Great Privileges.

Louisville, Ky., March 28.—The Courier-Journal says: Berry Howard, under an indictment as a principal in the murder of William Goebel, and whose trial is docketed for the April term of the Franklin circuit court, went to Frankfort "under a flag of truce," raised by the commonwealth and held a long conference with the attorneys for the state. He went when there were rewards aggregating $2000 outstanding for his capture and when men were searching the mountains for him.

Furthermore Howard's expenses to Frankfort were paid and he was allowed to get back home and prepare himself to resist arrest before the commonwealth made any further endeavors to arrest him.

T. C. Campbell, one of the attorneys for the commonwealth, is the authority for the foregoing statements.

A TRAGEDY.
Two Women Seriously Shot; Man Suicided, at Emporia.

Emporia, Kan., March 28.—Stephen G. Conkling, of the grocery firm of Emory & Conkling, yesterday shot and fatally wounded his divorced wife, shot and seriously wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Silvers, after which he discharged the two remaining bullets in the pistol into his own brain, dying instantly. The tragedy, which occurred at the home of Mrs. Silvers, was the outgrowth of matrimonial troubles which have existed for some time during the last term of court. Conkling has threatened to kill his wife a number of times since the divorce suit during the last term of court.

FUNERAL AT CLOQUET.

To Be Buried in State At Cape Town April 2.

He Grieved That He Left So Much Unaccomplished.

How Kruger Received the News of Rhodes' Death.

Cape Town, March 28.—The preparations for the state funeral of Cecil Rhodes, which will take place here April 2, are in progress. Plans are being made everywhere. Those who attended the sick bed say Mr. Rhodes continually sorrowed over the fact that he left so much unaccomplished. "So little done, so much to do," was an expression which he used more than once. During Mr. Rhodes' illness all kinds of novel means were utilized to counteract the trying heat. Boxes of ice were let into the roof of the seaside cottage at Maltzenberg, where he died, and extra windows were cut in the walls.

The body will lie in state in Parliament house for several days previous to the funeral.

London, March 28.—The Rhodesia section of the colonial exhibition at the Royal exchange has been draped in black. Numerous expressions of regret and condolence have been cable to members of the stock exchange and others interested in South Africa. After a slight hesitation at the opening of the stock exchange the tone of the market was distinctly firmer, showing that Mr. Rhodes' death had been conveyed to him.

A memorial service in honor of the late Cecil Rhodes will be held in St. Paul's cathedral April 19.

New York, March 28.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs, says a London dispatch to the Herald, that on the news of Cecil Rhodes' death being conveyed to him, Paul Kruger said: "The Lord giveth, the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

There is a report, says the World's London correspondent, that Cecil Rhodes left a political testament dealing with the war and the future of South Africa, but that, owing to its severe criticisms of the imperial government, its publication will be delayed. Mr. Rhodes' idea, it is reported, was to throw on the shoulders of the imperial authorities the responsibility for the tragic failure of the war policy.

CRUTCH-BOUND

The crutch is a poor substitute for legs, and affords a very inconvenient and tiresome mode of locomotion—there is no more pathetic sight than a person slowly and painfully moving along the street supported by these artificial limbs.

When Rheumatism settles in the bones and muscles of the legs, it is safe to predict that the victim will eventually become helpless and crutch-bound. The corrosive, irritating matter that is deposited in the joints and muscles causes the most intense pain, the knees and ankles swell, and when the natural oils and fluids that lubricate these parts are completely destroyed the joints become locked and the muscles drawn and stiff, and crutches are necessary.

The acid poisons that produce rheumatic pains form in the blood, and are distributed through the system, and lodged in the arms, shoulders, hands, back and feet, or other parts of the body—resulting often in total disability. A permanent cure of Rheumatism can be effected only by a complete cleansing of the blood, and no other remedy so surely accomplishes this as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acid effects, purifies and invigorates the stagnant blood, and the gritty particles are washed out or dissolved.

by the new rich blood, and relief comes to the pain-racked sufferer. S. S. S. leaves no morbid, irritating matter in the blood to reneite and produce another attack, but expels every atom of it from the system. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and does not impair the digestion or general health like alkali or potash remedies.

Write for our special free book on Rheumatism, and if any medical advice or other information is wanted our physicians will gladly furnish it without charge.

SIX PAIRS OF TWINS

Born to Six Successive Couples In Pennsylvania House.

Is Known as "The House of the Twelve Twins."

Seems to Be More Than Favored By the Stork.

York, Pa., March 28.—Midway between Stonybrook and Campbell's Station, in Hellam township, this county, there stands a comfortable farm dwelling, which is known as "The House of the Twelve Twins," because of six sets of twins having been born under its roof within the space of eleven years.

The house was originally known as the Rudy homestead, and it was to Mr. and Mrs. John Rudy that the first pair of the twelve little visitors responsible for the odd name was born. The Rudy's sold the homestead, and it became the abode of David Stiles and family. The Stiles were not long in their new home when twins arrived. This family moved out, and the family of A. L. Thomas moved in, when the Thomases were blessed with twins. "The Old Rudy House," as it was still known, began to acquire a peculiar reputation. Some Hellamites found in it an object for facetious comment, while others looked upon it with a degree of awe and superstition. Mr. Thomas, wishing to engage in farming in another part of the county, vacated the house one April day, and James Runkle became its tenant.

One dark and stormy night a doctor was summoned to the Runkle home. As he was leaving he was heard to remark to the astonished Mr. Runkle: "Two—a boy and a girl."

The Runkles, having heard of the previous twin arrivals, and being already being a large one, concluded not to run further risks of another double increase, and followed the example of the other families by moving.

Harry Farrington and family were the next to occupy the now much-talked-about home, and with the Farringtons it was in course of time the same old story—twins.

The house is now occupied by Milton Heindel, who with his family finds it a pleasant and comfortable home. Mr. and Mrs. Heindel are the parents of the sixth set of twins born in the house that seems to be more than favored by the stork. Mr. Heindel expects to move to York shortly, but he fears to advertise the fact, lest he be buried in a deluge of applications from prospective tenants.

Of the dozen twins born under the same roof ten are living.

MYSTERY

Concerning Tommy Han- non's Death as Deep as Ever.

St. Paul, March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The investigation into the cause of Tommy Hannon's death, has been completed by Dr. G. A. Benz, but the cause is still undiscovered.

The boy died Sunday, March 16, and Dr. Benz has been at work ever since, examining the contents of the stomach. Nothing has been found to substantiate the theory of poisoning. Almost all the known poisons have been tested, and no producing any reaction to prove their presence.

There are some suspicious circumstances about the intestines that would tend to show a chronic disease, but no thorough tests have been made as yet.

The police and other authorities are probing the subject so as to get at the facts. The peculiar fact that four children have died within the past eight months under almost identical circumstances in every case leaves much to be explained.

DEATH LIST.

HAVE NAMES OF LYNCHERS. La Junta, Colo., March 27.—The authorities claim to have the names of some of the leaders in the lynching of W. H. Wallace, the colored railroad porter, charged with assaulting Mrs. Hewetta Miller, and it is said prosecutions will be begun at the April term of court.

CONTINUE THE SCALE. Altoona, Pa., March 27.—The bituminous coal miners and operators got together today and agreed to continue the scale. Another year. It calls for a 60-cent pick mining rate and a ten-hour day. The ten-hour day is one of the important features as it practically eliminates the eight-hour day from the bituminous field. The settlement, it is said, has the approval of the national officers.

It is the world's greatest railroad center, and its manufacturing interests are being multiplied each year. About 500 railroad passenger trains arrive at and depart from Chicago every twenty-four hours—some of them marvels of solid splendor. before they returned to Jerusalem. Philip was guided by the Spirit to leave Samaria and go down toward Gaza. There on the road from Jerusalem he fell in with the Ethiopian Eunuch and preached unto him the gospel from a text in Isaiah, the fifty-third chapter. The Eunuch was converted and baptized and Philip was guided by the Spirit to go on toward the Mediterranean coast and evangelize that region. He did so and established at Caesarea a new center of Christian life, the third center in the progress of the cross reaching out to conquer new territory in the name of Him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life."

LEAVE

Taken By Man Who Got

Job Through Senator

Depew.

Montgomery, Ala., March 23.—Tom O. Burwell, a graduate of Yale, was lodged in Montgomery jail and promptly capitulated the jailer, who allowed him to stay in his own room. Later he walked out of the window into the street and no trace of him can be found.

Burwell was once a buggy and wagon merchant in Birmingham, later a drummer, and last summer was in New Orleans as Southern passenger agent for the Big Four, a place which he said Senator Depew had obtained for him through Senator Depew. He was arrested in Birmingham on a warrant charging him with passing a bogus draft for $2. He is also wanted in Mobile, New Orleans and Cincinnati.

He told the jailer that a woman was the cause of his ruin. He telegraphed to relatives in Birmingham for help. Getting no answer he took French leave.

"DON'T SHOOT!"

Cried Ghost as It Backed Into Space.

Pindley, Ohio, March 23.—The ghost that has rendered the YALP block on North Main street of this city almost untenable for the past six months, is laid up with a broken leg and a sprained foot as the result of a fall from a second floor.

No one has been more annoyed by the ghost than Mrs. Rose Stahlsmith, a widow living in rear apartments on the second floor, and the only reason she did not move was that she took advantage of the cheapened rent.

At an early hour Mrs. Stahlsmith was awakened by a rattling of her windows which had of the roof of the building. She stole to the window, taking the only revolver off her bureau as she passed. The window rattled again. She threw up the shade and raised the sash. There in the moonlight stood something in white that was unmistakably a man in a suit and a nightshirt, and a blanket wrapped around him.

"Long live God's sake," cried the ghost, beating a hasty retreat when it saw the flash of the revolver. And in its haste it backed too far and went off the roof. Fred Teffner, a carpenter, was called in to look after the ghost. It was found that the ghost was a man with a badly broken leg and a sprained foot.

Ten thousand demons gnawing away at one's vitals couldn't be much worse than the torture of being haunted. Yet there's a cure. Dean's Ointment never fails.

Lame Shoulders Omega Oil

A person with lame shoulders comes pretty near being helpless. A lameness in the arms or leg or back is just about as bad. Some men have to stop work while suffering in this way, but a woman usually has so much to do around the house that she just has to keep going as best she can. The best remedy for lameness is rest, and a cure is reached quicker when the lame spot is bathed and rubbed freely with Omega Oil. It is an oily liniment of a green color, and is so much better than other liniments, and so different in all ways, that you should never lose time fooling with something else. All good druggists sell Omega Oil, but if you happen to go where it is not on sale, please tell the druggist he ought to get a supply of his wholesaler. If you want any pain or ache to be quickly cured, Omega Oil is the remedy that will do the work. soc. a bottle.

Her rendition of "Fear Ye Not Oh Israel," by Dudley Buck, was especially well rendered and ably supported by the pianola. The American Lumberman Claims There Will Be One This Year.

Demand For Pine Increasing and the Supply Decreasing.

Northern Minnesota Lumbermen Disagree With Some Statements.

While the total lumber product of the United States for 1901 was probably the largest on record, says the American Lumberman, the white pine output was hardly equal to that of the previous year, was nearly 700,000,000 feet less than that of 1899, nearly 800,000,000 feet less than that of 1898 and 800,000,000 feet less than that of 1897. Continuing, it says that this small white pine product was in spite of a very heavy demand, which was not satisfied with anything but white pine. The Lumberman predicts that the country is entering on another year that will equal 1901 in point of demand, but that the market is confronted with a still further shortage in the Northern pine output. The argument advanced is that the lumbermen went into the woods last fall with the determination of making the log output as large as possible. If they had been as successful as they anticipated there is no doubt that the log output of Northern Minnesota would have been greatly increased this year, and the increased cut in some sections would have more than balanced the decreased cut in other sections where the timber is disappearing. The claim is made, however, that the premature breaking up of logging operations has made possible the prospect of a decreased output in Minnesota, and following out the argument, in the United States this year. There are some logs on hand from last year, and these can be got out with the usual early freshets and will help out the stocks of some of the Northern Minnesota mills. But the American Lumberman claims that on the whole the decrease in manufactured product will be marked.

It cannot be truthfully said that the predictions of the lumbermen are fully endorsed by Northern Minnesota lumbermen; in fact, there are a number who take an entirely opposite view of the situation. They say the Lumberman has not taken into consideration the immense amount of hauling done by rail to the mills in Northern Minnesota, but still seems to have the impression that the Northern mills are depending entirely on the railroad to swell the rivers and float out the logs cut in the white pine districts during the winter. Hauling by rail has become an important factor in the logging situation in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin; it has practically revolutionized the business in this part of the country, and logging no longer places dependence on the logging streams as they did formerly. Railroad hauling costs more, but it is more certain, and it is claimed that in the long run, if the season is a particularly dry one, the manufacturers can save money in not being compelled to close down their plants because of a shortage of logs.

The Lumberman says that lumber stocks in the United States Dec. 1, 1901, were 229,000,000 feet less than on the same date in 1900, and says that the shipments accountable for this decrease would probably have been larger still had the stocks been larger. It claims that any such reduction of stocks does not seem probable this year; that the stocks are and will continue to be at a low point to furnish anything like 500,000,000 feet in excess of the mill product, therefore shipments will not be in excess of the mill product.

As to the threat frequently made by Eastern buyers this last winter, that if prices continued high for American white pine, the Canadian product would be brought into competition, the Lumberman says it is not possible to reinforce the supply from Canada, that last year's brought in from Canada 586,800,000 feet of white pine, chiefly white pine. This was the full measure of the United States, our duty on lumber acting as no restriction to receipts. There is no prospect, says the Lumberman, that the Canadian product will be increased this year, and unless the English demand falls off heavily, British North America is not likely to supply this country with more than 600,000,000 feet during 1902. If, then, there is a shortage of white pine, it will have to be made good in other woods, particularly yellow pine and Pacific coast products.

Four or five years ago there was more lumber made than was wanted. Last year there was more lumber cut in this country than ever before, yet there was a scarcity. This is because the demand is abnormally large and the mill capacity has not increased in proportion. It takes time to establish lumber manufacturing operations of a size to appreciably affect the supply. With another year or two of the present demand, it is predicted that the mill capacity will overtake it. When this condition comes about, and only then, is the period of depression in the lumber business looked for.

Latest Award Made In the Famous Bishop Case.

Cleveland, March 28.—Little does Mrs. Kirke D. Bishop, who is stopping with her two boys at the Colonial hotel, realize that though allowed the freedom of the hotel and the city, she is virtually a prisoner.

While her divorced husband is seeking, through the courts, to get possession of his boys and hers two detectives haunt the corridors of the hotel if she remains indoors, or follow her at a distance if she goes out. Mrs. Bishop is herself well protected from annoyance.

The long conference between the lawyers and Judge Stone resulted in a decision to send for Edward F. Faxon, of Connecticut, a brother of Mrs. Bishop, at whose instigation Bishop began the action to get possession of the boys.

In the meantime Bishop and his wife rest a child apiece.

PETERSON TRIAL.

West End Druggist's Case Is Again Up.

Emile Peterson, the West End druggist who was indicted some time ago for making a mistake in a prescription that resulted in the death of Mrs. Kate Jones, was placed on trial in district court yesterday afternoon for the second time. On the former trial the jury disagreed.

Feb. 28, 1902, a prescription was filled for Mrs. Jones, calling for codine and sugar of milk. It is claimed that atropine, a deadly poison, was put in the powder by mistake, and that Mrs. Jones died from the effects of one of the poisons. Theodore Hollister is defending Peterson, and County Attorney McClinck is prosecuting the case. It was still on trial at noon today.

PRIVATE PENSIONS

Were Considered By the House of Representatives.

Attempt to Correct Military Record of Soldier Failed.

President's Veto on Klau-ser Referred to Military Committee.

Washington, March 28.—The house today devoted its time to the consideration of private pension bills. Some routine preceded the regular orders.

A resolution was adopted which called upon the secretary of war to ascertain information relative to the condition of the Missouri river improvements below St. Joseph.

Mr. Littlefield (Mo.) asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a bill to confer jurisdiction on the court of claims to adjust the claims for duties collected on goods going into the island of Porto Rico between April 11, 1890, to May 1, 1902. The bill provided that the claimant should bear interest at 6 per cent.

Mr. Payne (N. Y.) explained that the refund of these duties was made necessary by the decision of the supreme court. The claims for interest, he thought, were lost, because General Davis, the military governor of Porto Rico, subsequently upon appeal to the supreme court, had obtained on him. The bill was passed.

The first bill on the calendar was to correct the military record of Calvin A. Rice, and Mr. Talbot, South Carolina, made it the subject of a speech against this president, who referred to the veto of the president. He referred to his other vetoes of like bills, and said he "to see that the chief executive has come to my assistance in this matter."

He have protested against the passage of this desertion bill for ten years. He moved to lay aside the bill with an unfavorable report. Mr. Mondell declared that the bill did not seek to remove the charge of desertion. Rice, said he, was an officer and had been unjustly dismissed for being absent without leave. The bill was laid aside with a favorable recommendation, 54 to 2.

PHILIPPINES

Government Bill Under Discussion By Republican Committee.

Washington, March 28.—The Republican members of the senate committee on the Philippines met today and passed on the provision of the Philippines government bill. The currency question was the principal topic of conversation again today, and the provision for substituting the Philippine dollar for the United States dollar as the Mexican dollar and the British dollar. It is to be a bill of exchange, and the volume is to be limited only by the demands of business. The coin will carry an American device on one side, and the Oriental design on the other, and it is estimated that it will in time be a very popular coin throughout the Eastern world.

The amendment also provides for subsidiary coins sufficient to meet the wants of the Philippines. The committee also considered the question of authorizing a legislative assembly for the Philippines, but concluded to omit all legislation of that character and also to make no provision for delegates or commissioners in congress from the Philippines. Provision for a census of the islands is, however, to be included in the bill.

HEART FAILURE
Was Cause of Little Tommy Hannon's Death.

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Renz filed his report in the examination of Tommy Hannon's stomach today. He found no trace of any poison.

"We have concluded that the child died from natural causes," said Health Commissioner Oberg today. The cause of death will be entered as heart failure. The conclusion of this exhaustive examination of the stomach practically closes the case.

The Milwaukee's New Cars.
The eight new sleepers recently put into service by the Milwaukee road have been built several years ago.

In point of construction, size and beauty of finish nothing quite equal to them has been seen in this country since the now celebrated Pioneer Limited cars were built several years ago.

The sleepers are of the twelve-section drawing room and smoking room pattern, richly upholstered and most brilliantly lighted—each car containing eighty-seven electric globes.

The names selected by the Milwaukee management for the cars are of Indian origin and indigenous to the Northwest—"Nokomis," name of Hawa's grandmother; "Nepahwin," meaning sleep; "Ewaway," meaning lullaby; "Minnie-haha," laughing water; "Ojibway," Chippewa, a tribe of Indians; "Marquette," after Pere Marquette; "Calumet," and "Omaha," the famous Indian chiefs.

The new sleepers are run every day on the early evening Chicago and St. Paul (from Minneapolis 5:25 and St. Paul 6 o'clock) and on the Pioneer Limited.

MUCH MAIL

Delayed In St. Paul Sent to the Coast.

St. Paul, March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The railway mail department of the St. Paul postoffice today sent West over the Great Northern road 44,000 pounds of mail, which has been held here for the past three days in hopes that the Northern Pacific tie up would terminate.

For three days, the flood at the McKinnon Mills in Dakota, has held up all trains, and the mails to and from the Pacific coast have been delayed. Mail matter coming from the coast has been started eastward over the Great Northern, and will arrive in a short time. It is the information of the officials, that the flood was still rising up to this morning.

UNWORTHY

Of Attention Are the Charges of Alleged Bribery.

Washington, March 28.—The state department will take no steps to bring to the attention of the Danish government the charges against the integrity of American statesmen preferred by Captain Christmas and yesterday brought to the attention of the house of representatives. The department regards the charges as unworthy of its attention by reason of insufficient evidence and obvious error in statements of the company's affairs. The department is perfectly aware also that the Danish government does not intend to pay one cent of the $200,000 claimed by Christmas as his commission, so that, of course, none of the money could be used to corrupt American statesmen and newspapers.

The United States government has begun another timber trespass case in this city. The defendants are Frank C. Bolin and William Wood, a well-known contracting firm of Brainerd, Minn., that is at the present time handling a big logging contract for the Brooks timber company at Seaton.

The complaint alleges that during the months of January, February and March, 1901, the defendants unlawfully entered government lands in 29-140-20 section, and cut and sold pine, spruce, fir, and Norway pine and Jack-pine trees, and thirty white pine trees, containing about 86,576 feet of lumber, board measure, and conveyed the logs to the city of Duluth, near Hackensack, Cass county, where they were either sold or used in the city of Duluth.

The government demands judgment for the logs in the sum of $21.85, which would be placing the value of the logs at $8 per thousand feet.

CONFESSIONS

Signed By Well Known Young Men Are Found.

Emporia, Kan., March 28.—Cora Silvers, who was shot yesterday by Stephen J. Conkling, her divorced husband, who also wounded his mother-in-law and then committed suicide, is still alive today, and the physicians now say she may recover.

The city is greatly agitated over the affair, as three confessions signed by well-known young men were found today in the dead man's pocket. These, it is stated, he secured at the point of a revolver. Conkling's brother has arrived in Emporia to take care of the funeral arrangements. It is alleged that other threats of shooting have been made.

HARD FIGHT
Being Made to Save Life of King.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 28.—The state supreme court today handed down an opinion affirming the decision of the lower court in the Lynch-King murder case. Lynch or King, whose real name is Pagini, was convicted of the murder of Col. Prowse, a well-known sporting character, in a Salt Lake gambling house in September, 1900. About two months ago a convict in the Colorado prison at Canon City, named Strange, made a statement about today in the case of Lynch or King, who did the shooting, and a hard fight to save King's life has been made by the Italian consul. A second application for a new trial will now be made to the lower court, and unless this is granted, the condemned man will probably be shot in May.

COLOR LINE.

Discussion. Crops Out Among Club Women at Chicago.

Chicago, March 25.—If my skin were only a few shades lighter I would say something on this color question that ought to be said," remarked Mrs. J. A. Wells, president of the National Federation of Colored Women, at a meeting of the National Federation of Colored Women, at the Hotel Hamilton, Chicago, last night.

"Why don't you do it?" asked Dr. Dickson. "Because if I said it other women would believe it represented only the point of view of colored women, whereas it represents a common sense and justice," replied Mrs. Wells. "If I were a white woman, my words would be unprejudiced, but as it is every one would say even my motives were colored."

"There was laughter and applause at this," Mrs. Wells insisted on making her point. The Social Economics club had come together to discuss the question of reorganization in the National Federation of Clubs. After several hours of discussion, in which reference to the color question was carefully avoided, Mrs. Wells arose and brought the discussion to a head by asking who wanted reorganization and what was the motive.

Some one answered, "To help," and brought out the fact that it was the Georgia women who petitioned the federation for a change of organization, and that their real motive was to settle the color question. Some of the speakers after this went so far as to say that only the color question could bring up reorganization. Others said that the color question had been brought up to revive the reorganization question, which otherwise had been killed at the annual meeting last year.

"I asked a lawyer his opinion about the possibility of this color line in our constitution without violating the constitution of the United States," said Mrs. J. L. Looze.

"What did he say?" asked a woman with auburn hair in a front seat. "He suggested that we propose a rule of membership admitting only women with red hair," said Mrs. Looze. "What's the difference between red hair and the color of a woman's face or hair?"

The state of affairs was getting exciting. Dr. Dickson looked around the room and wished aloud there was some one present who was in favor of the color line. "I am in favor of it," said Mrs. H. H. Lebach, "but I have a different plan from any other. I want like to remember the National Federation of Clubs by disbanding it. What is the goal of a national federation?"

"It doesn't benefit the ordinary club woman," she said. "It is the women with time and money to go and another. The same women who attend the state federation go there, and it is largely a repetition of the state meeting. I don't know of any woman who can tell me the national federation is worth it. I don't know anything."

The Social Economics club has enjoyed the reputation in circles where English is not strictly adhered to, of being a "sawtooth" club, but this sudden onslaught on the National Federation of Clubs quite took the members by surprise. They have been hiring halls to talk over national issues and dreamers, and put their views really, and this proposal to do away with the federation looked fairly anarchic.

Mrs. Margaret Wiley, who will represent the teachers of Chicago at the federation meeting, wanted to know whether there was anything fundamentally wrong with the Federation of Women's Clubs. Some abuse in the organization that could be remedied, Mrs. Lebach replied that in her opinion, the federation was a useless folly, since it had been in existence for a meeting once in two years, which meant nothing to the ordinary club woman but a seven-cent tax.

The color question was given such a boom at the social conference, meeting that Mrs. Charles Schmitt and those who have planned a national convention at the First district for Saturday at the hotel association rooms, are alarmed. They sent out announcements calling this meeting for the purpose of discussing the reorganization question in the coming week. The members of the club are entitled to their views. "Color question" had been the topic of the social conference, however, practically decided that the reorganization question is the color question, and the First district federation has concluded that it is in the difficult position of trying to swim a river without going near the water.

PHONOGRAPH

Being Used By Chicago Candidates For Campaign Speeches.

Chicago, March 28.—Horrid aldermanic candidates who call a ham sandwich a supper and four hours' sleep a night's rest, and who are trying to speak in sixteen different parts of their ward at once, can get a hint in the thirty-first ward. Put fifteen phonographs at work and go to the sixteenth place yourself.

Consists O. Smith, Republican candidate for alderman in the thirty-first ward, says this is the best way to use an alderman's chatterbox advice for difficult candidates.

"I don't use a phonograph exactly because I am too bashful to make a speech myself, but it is a useful thing, to have at the meetings you can't attend."

As an adjunct a speechmaking phonograph with some hand music and some singing on the side can spare the overworked candidate many efforts and considerable shoe leather. In his use of the phonograph Mr. Smith does not want to relieve himself of the embarrassment of talking, but says he desires to multiply his powers.

With a half dozen "home" meetings or mass meetings to attend every evening, the candidate feels the need of some supplementary device.

Here is one of Mr. Smith's phonographic talks with some new ideas on the traction question, as presented by the candidate last night:

—The men who own stock and who form the companies—should receive a fair compensation for the money they have invested. The balance belongs to the people. The people have the right and should insist upon the examination of the books

PLANS OF GEN. MILES

Which He Submitted to End Philippine War. Were Designed to Save Further Bloodshed.

Washington, March 29.—Immediately after the house met today, Maj. Pruden, the assistant secretary to the president, appeared and transmitted from the president the Miles correspondence called for by the Burleson resolution, which was adopted several days ago. It is as follows:

To the House of Representatives: In response to the following resolution of the house of representatives of March 26, 1902, "Resolved, that the president of the United States be, and he is hereby, respectively requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to transmit to the house copies of all correspondence relating to and papers bearing on the matter of the reported request of Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., to be assigned to duty in the Philippine archipelago, and to be allowed to put into effect there a plan outlined by him to bring about a cessation of hostilities," I transmit herewith copies of all the papers upon which final action in the matter was taken. Since such final action, and since the introduction of said resolution, a further memorandum has been added to the papers by Gen. Miles, and I transmit also a copy thereof, together with the action thereon.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
White House, March 29, 1902.

Headquarters of the Army, Washington, Feb. 17, 1902.—The Hon. the Secretary of War, Sir: I have the honor to invite attention to a subject that I have had under consideration for several months, and to request that this letter be laid before the president.

It is now three years since the opening of hostilities between the United States forces and those in the Philippine islands, and this warfare has been conducted with marked severity. More than 120,000 United States troops have been at different times sent or are now under orders to go to the Philippines, and more than 40,000 still remain on duty there, which service, with the assistance of the naval forces, involves an enormous expenditure of public money as well as the loss of many valuable lives.

During the past century thousands of millions have been called to the capital for consultation and counsel, and I have, under authority, sent to Washington many red-handed representatives of different tribes of Indians, the result of which has been a reconciliation, a restoration of confidence, the prevention of war and establishment and continuance of peace within the states and territories.

Out from the jeweled east aglow
Comes now to end the days forlorn,
Past ebbing fields of ice and snow,
The never failing Easter morn.

The sky is filled with portents dear,
And carols of the birds are meet;
The blackened fringes of yesterday
By lily cups and blossoms sweet

Is brushed aside: the north wind flees,
And over hill and dale and glen
The rosy boughs of bourgeoning trees
In the spring sunshine gleam again.

The sparrow pipes his fluted song
To call the pink anemone,
The loosed rattle leaps along
With joy to greet the sounding sea.

So to a world of weary care
The Master's crown of lilies white
Comes to eliminate despair
And put the promised life in sight.

With hints of that far Syrian sky
Where blue blue life was born,
Fast as the circling ages fly
Returns the wondrous Easter morn.

Bring lilies wreaths and garlands fair!
May faith abound and love increase
And the transfigured earth decree
Millennial joys and endless peace!

STARTLING STATEMENT

Boy Says He Was Forced to Murder Johnson.

Several Prominent Farmers Are Implicated.

St. Paul, March 29.—A St. Cloud, Minn., special says: Developments in the Magnus Johnson murder case make it appear that the old man was the victim of a gigantic conspiracy. Gustave Larson, a Finlander boy, who was arrested at Barnesville, is said to have made a complete confession to the Alexandria authorities, in which he implicated several prominent farmers, all neighbors of Johnson. Andrew Jacobson, a well-to-do farmer, was arrested on the strength of Larson's confession and is held as an accessory to the crime. It is said that several other arrests will be made today. The motive for killing Johnson is not made clear in Larson's statement to the police. He alleges that he was forced to commit the crime by the men who were anxious to get rid of Johnson. Larson claims to have been provided with the revolver from which the shots were fired, and also with money to get away from Alexandria. The police are convinced that Larson did not act independently, and that he was made the tool of other parties.

WHAT CHRISTMAS SAYS

Danish Agent Does Not Deny the Secret Report Sent to the Government Concerning Purchase of the Islands.

New York, March 29.—The Daily Mail's correspondent in Copenhagen has had a talk with Capt. Christmas, who is not the least astonished by the American scandal, says the London correspondent to the Herald. "The Danish 'no sale party,'" he said, "hopes to break off the sale by the help of a scandal. For that purpose somebody stole my confidential report to the government and engaged a certain person, an American citizen, to go to Washington to start the scandal by delivering the report to Representative Richardson and to the newspapers." "Capt. Christmas gave out here, on Feb. 19, a declaration, under pressure of an oath, that no member of the American congress was either directly or indirectly interested in the sale of the Danish islands. He says he sent this declaration to the foreign office with a demand that it be forwarded to the Danish ambassador, Mr. Brun, in Washington. It was also published in all the Danish newspapers without a denial. "I never had any arrangement about a provision with any American authority," he said. "I have no claim whatever on America, but only on the Danish government for my work and expenses. The present government has nothing to do with any possible scandal, as all the arrangements regarding me and my work were made with Premier Hørring three years ago, when I, by an order from the American state department, had brought Secretary Henry White into communication with the Danish foreign minister, M. Havn. "The existing government has accepted the present situation from their predecessors, M. Ahlested and Hørring, and has never been blamed with a word for anything. "It seems to me that the 'no sale' party is not acting for the benefit of their country in trying to disturb the entente cordiale between America and Denmark, an understanding which our premier, M. Deuntzer, officially stated the other day has been remarkably good."

TOURS THE TENDERLOIN

Attorney Jerome Makes a Night Trip In the Gambling District and Looks at Houses From the Outside.

New York, March 29.—Following the publicity given through the newspapers as to alleged wide open gambling in this city, District Attorney Jerome has made a personal tour of the Tenderloin, accompanied only by one of his assistants. He refused to make any statement as to the purposes of his tour, which lasted until long after midnight, and was productive, from an outside point of view, of evidence that the gamblers are plying their vocation with old-time vigor. Mr. Jerome called first at the West Third street police station, in which district there are said to be more than a score of gambling houses, and pool rooms. He asked for the station book of suspected houses, and after looking it over, remarked that it did not appear up to date. The sergeant, upon a second request, produced a newer edition, with which the attorney checked off entries in a book of his own. He then set out on his tour, but did not enter any place. At the lending rooms he observed outward evidence of activity, but in many cases it was quite apparent that a "tip" of his coming had preceded him, and extreme caution was a suspension of business had followed.

RACE HORSES BURNED

Seventeen Valuable Animals Lost Their Lives By the Burning of Frank Colby's Training Stables Near Detroit.

Detroit, March 29.—Seventeen race horses and promising colts were burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed the training stable of Frank H. Colby, a well known driver and trainer in Highland park. The fire started just before daybreak from some unknown cause and completely destroyed the stable. Sixteen of the horses were burned to death in their stalls. One broke loose and escaped from the burning barn, but the valuable animal was so badly burned that it was necessary to shoot it. Among the horses destroyed were the following: Red Royal, 2:24 1/4, a 5-year-old trotting stallion, valued at $5000; Harry P. Trotter, 2:22 1/4, $2500; The King, trotter, 2:26 1/4, $2000; Maiden Queen, pacer, 2:15 1/2, $2000; Monoc, 2:32 1/2, trotting stallion, $2000. The total loss is about $30,000. Mr. Colby had intended to buy nominations in the Merchants and Manufacturers $10,000 stake for 2:24 class trotters at the Blue Ribbon meeting of the Detroit Driving club in July for Harry P. and The King.

CROKER IS NOW A DAIRYMAN

New York, March 29.—Richard Croker, who has gone into the dairy business on a large scale, called a meeting of the farmers of the Waukegan district and offered them London prices for all milk delivered at the Moat House creamery, says a dispatch to the World from Waukegan, England. It was explained to the farmers that Mr. Croker will require at least 2000 gallons of milk daily, beginning June 1, he having secured the contract to supply milk, cream and butter to an American line of steamers.

FIVE YEAR OLD FRATRICIDE

Portsmouth, Ohio, March 29.—While two sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Shockette, of Friendship, aged 5 and 2 years, were playing in the garden, the elder boy, in a fit of anger, struck the younger a vicious blow upon the head with a brick, which the little child was rendered unconscious, and the injury resulted in lockjaw, from which the boy died in great agony.

GREAT FLOODS IN THE SOUTH

Towns Washed Away, Several Lives Lost and Much Property Damaged.

Middlesboro, Ky., March 29.—The worst flood since 1890 swept over Eastern Kentucky and Eastern Tennessee last night. It rained for three days and nights, swelling the Cumberland and Powell rivers beyond their banks, as well as all other streams and before the farmers were aware of the danger the flood was on them. Many were compelled to flee for their lives as a result of the flood which took place. No loss of life has been reported but it is believed before night fall many lives, as a result of the flood will be taken. The losses of the sufferers will amount to thousands. The Middlesboro valley was inundated and every store in the city except three had from eight to fifteen inches of water on their floors. Chattanooga, Tenn., March 29.—A special to the News from Harrison, says: Harrison was destroyed by the flood, on account of overflow of the Emory river. The damage is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. It is reported that two lives were lost and many more are supposed to have been taken. The great anxiety for life and property. "No day there are on evidences of the storm in this city, the skies are clear. Reports received from points on the Tennessee river and tributaries indicate that at the points above here, the rain was badly damaged; the planing mill is wrecked and the tannery suffered heavily. The floating lumber, houses and debris knocked down a part of the bridge. SUICIDE STORY A MYTH Former State Architect of Montana, Who Was Supposed to Have Died, Is Living High In Germany.

Butte, Mont., March 29.—A sensation has been caused here by the declaration in court of attorneys and a former associate and business partner of John C. Paulsen, former state architect, that the latter had not committed suicide five years ago, as reported and generally believed, but that he was still alive and probably residing with his family in Germany. Mr. Paulsen was charged with having collected nearly $10,000 in bribe money from contractors, who built state educational buildings and subsequently promised to make restitution. He went to his home in Arkansas City, Kas., March 29.—Rev. Granville Lowther, on trial here for heresy before the Methodist Episcopal conference, has flatly refused a proposition from the trial committee to sign an agreement to quit making his alleged heretical teachings. "I hold convictions," said he firmly, "and I will remain true to them."

In making his defense at the close of the trial, Rev. Lowther said:

REDFIELD, S. D., MAN MAY DIE

St. Paul, March 29.—A Redfield, S. D., special to the Dispatch says: Bert Lawrence and Mark Christenson, two well-known citizens in the southeastern part of Spink county, became engaged in an altercation. Lawrence struck

If I Succeed

You Pay But $5.50

If I Fail, I Will Pay For Your Treatment Myself.

Send No Money, But Ask for MY Book.

If you consider that fair, please tell me the name of a sick one; state which book to send. That is all I ask—just a postal card. I will do just as I say. I will offer a treatment which I spent a lifetime in learning, and the sick one may take it entirely at my risk. If it fails it is free.

With the book I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I will authorize the druggist to let you take it for a month. If it does what I claim, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I will trust to your honor, and leave the decision to you.

I don't claim that the treatment is certain. There are conditions, like cancer, which medicine cannot cure. And other diseases sometimes reach a stage past help. But where medicine can cure I never fail. My records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay for them. Yet not a penny accepted if I cannot cure.

I claim that any sick one who neglects such an offer wrongs himself. If I needed help, I would test any remedy which any good physician offered on a plan like that. If that physician had faith enough to pay for the treatment if it failed, I would have faith enough to take it.

I succeed because I have discovered a way to strengthen the inside nerves. I don't doctor the organs that are weak; but I bring back the nerve power which makes that organ act. This nerve power alone operates the vital organs, and weakness anywhere means only the lack of it.

You cannot be well until those nerves are strong. Don't you want to know of a treatment which cures 39 out of 40 who take it?

Simply state which book you want, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 653, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

MAGNIFICENT.
A Veritable Work of Art on Exhibition.

The Board of Trade Livery company should certainly be commended for its enterprise in making Duluth the equal of any metropolitan city in its line. Within the last week it has added to its carriage equipment what is undoubtedly the handsomest hearse in the state, if not indeed in the country. It was built by the Hildreth Coach and Carriage company, and is the finest and most finished product as yet turned out by this noted firm. It was on exhibition at the Buffalo exposition, where it easily outranked all other exhibits in its line, and latterly at the state fair, St. Paul. The firm was so impressed with its beauty of workmanship and design that they secured it at an immense figure.

The whole exterior of the funeral car is finished in hand carved ebony, the design being rosebuds on the vine, and the seat is magnificently draped with the finest hammer cloth. An electric bell connected with a button underneath the hearse, notifies the driver when to start and the doors work automatically, being adjusted with a set screw which prevents their being blown shut by the wind. The wheels are rubber tired.

The firm has also ordered in connection with this hearse a new and complete outfit of funeral robes.

Knotty Problems Are Broached in Mayoralty Contest.

Each Side Has Produced Some Very Interesting Questions.

The Court Has Not Yet Passed on Any Ballots.

The judges who are trying the mayoralty contest case are acquiring an accumulation of interesting questions of law, none of which have yet been decided.

The attorneys this morning handed back and forth a few knotty ones, which the court has under advisement to be determined with the others that have been submitted.

Mr. Mitchell, for Mayor Hugo, introduced a witness to show that in the Fourth precinct of the Second ward, thirty-seven ballots were found in the box after the polls had closed, lacking the initials of the judges. The judges then went ahead and signed the ballots. The idea in introducing this was to get a reduction in Truelsen's vote in that precinct, where he had a majority.

Mr. Richards, for Mr. Truelsen, came back with a couple of interesting points. He objected to the testimony on the ground that the point touched by it was not included in the pleadings, and could not, therefore, be taken up. Another strong point he made against the evidence was that Mr. Mitchell yesterday entered into a stipulation accepting the return of the canvassers as a statement of fact. As that report simply held out 129 ballots and accepted the return of the rest, Mr. Richards claimed that Mr. Mitchell could not go into anything back of those 129 ballots.

These were very interesting points, but there was another, Andrew Hunter, who was a judge of election in the First precinct of the Third ward, testified to the fact that in that precinct not a single voter who registered was sworn before giving evidence as to his qualifications. This precinct gave Truelsen a majority, and it is Mr. Mitchell's idea to throw it out on the ground of this evidence.

Mr. Richards made the same objection to this testimony. Both bits of evidence were received by the court and the decision will be withheld. All of these questions, including the main question of whether the ballots should be counted, will be decided together.

At the opening of the special term of district court this morning, with the three judges sitting en banc, J. L. Washburn moved that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions upon the death of the late Judge Dickinson. The court appointed the following committee to draw up the resolutions: J. L. Washburn, W. W. Billson, John G. Williams, J. J. Davis, S. P. White, William B. Phelps and S. D. Allen. The resolutions, if they are prepared in time, will be acted upon at the opening of the next term of court, when there will be a large attendance of the members of the Bar association.

Fire Among Tugs and Scows In a Slip.

What might have been a very serious fire among the fleet of tugs and scows, laid up in Commerce slip, opposite the Stone-Ordean-Wells warehouse, was luckily averted by the prompt action of the firemen about noon today.

Charles Staples is engaged in converting the stern wheel excursion steamer Henrietta into a tow barge, and had just completed the upperworks. In some manner fire started in the forward part of the deck house, and it was not long before the entire superstructure was in flames.

The Henrietta lay between Capt. Maples' tug the Lulu M. Ray and the excursion steamer E. T. Corrington, both of which were in danger. The Ray was slightly damaged along her rail, but the Corrington escaped with a little blistered paint.

When the firemen reached the dock they found that, to do effective work, they must get aboard the burning steamer. So a small boat was lowered, and the firemen built a temporary bridge across the "ocean" deck and crossed the steamer, dragging a line of hose with them. It was a perilous undertaking. Once the hose was on the deck, the fire was quenched, but not before damages to the amount of $250 had been done to the hull of the steamer. The damage to the Ray was trifling.

The damage to the barge is mostly a large amount of equipment that was burned in the deck house. This included valuable tool lines, and the loss is $700. The damage to the upperworks will amount to $125. Capt. Maples had no insurance.

Neither of the Indians professed to recognize Dahlberg as the person that sold them the booze.

Anti-Cigaret Campaign Is Steadily Awakening More Interest.

Five Hundred Boys at First Methodist Church Meeting.

The Officers at Different Schools Tell What It Is Doing.

Five hundred boys and girls gathered in the First Methodist church last evening and listened to an address by Willis Brown who is conducting the anti-cigaret campaign in the city. Dr. Long, pastor of the church, and J. G. Hamaker, of the Young Men's Christian association, conducted the meeting for the first half hour until the arrival of Mr. Brown from Woodland, where a meeting of boys was held, followed by a banquet at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church. Rev. K. A. Montgomery, pastor of that church, and a number of the boys accompanied Mr. Brown to the meeting at the First M. E. church.

Mr. Brown's address was on the subject of "Personal Purity." For an hour he held the attention of the boys and made a strong appeal to the good and manly side of the boys' nature. Tomorrow afternoon a mass meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian church, at which the anti-cigaret league, composed of the boys and girls in the different schools, will speak. Bert Eversed, president of the league, will take the lead in the presentation of the anti-cigaret pledge, which is a pledge to abstain from the use of tobacco.

Interest in this anti-cigaret movement is steadily growing. It is not an unusual sight to find a group of boys on the street corner earnestly discussing the question of clear smoking. The campaign against the cigaret that has been waged in Duluth for the past two weeks is the all-absorbing question among the boys and girls.

The presentation of the matter by Willis Brown in the public school and parochial schools, thus reaching directly over 6000 young people, the majority of whom have signed the anti-cigaret pledge, has resulted in arousing public sentiment against the habit. A number of the boys and girls of the public schools who have been chosen as officers of the league have been asked to express their opinions of the good and bad effects of the cigaret.

William Ehrhof of the Irving school, says: "Many boys have been nearly dead, have signed, and one boy who was quite stupid told me that he has been getting better marks in all his studies since he has stopped the habit, and he has published his lucky stars that he was in school the day Mr. Brown visited us and told us about the evils of tobacco."

Neil Buckley of the Longfellow school: "The Anti-Cigaret league is very popular in our school. I have signed the pledge and one boy in our school who is a confirmed smoker and says he will stop. There is a boy in our school who signed the pledge at first and then falling into line. I think the Anti-Cigaret league is a fine thing. I know of a number of boys who have signed the pledge and I think it is going to accomplish a great deal of good. I think the girls can do a great deal of good by signing the pledge."

Bert Eversed of the Adams school: "The Anti-Cigaret league is a good thing and it is not a league that will do a great deal of good. It has accomplished much in our school and I will do all in my power to push it."

Marion Vigness of the Lester Park school: "I think the Anti-Cigaret league is a fine thing. I know of a number of boys who have signed the pledge and I think it is going to accomplish a great deal of good. I think the girls can do a great deal of good by signing the pledge."

habitual smokers, have not signed but they may later on. Others object to the claim, "or tobacco in any form, but willingly give up cigarettes. Others feel that they may not be able to keep the pledge, so do not sign. They are mostly the weaker ones, who are easily led by companions who make no better. One girl that I know does not like the clause "or tobacco" and does not sign. I do not think much of this as she is a good girl who is usually on the opposite side. A few will not sign simply to be funny, but when it becomes the "go" they will join the A. C. L. and we expect to make it go."

Leona Emmons, of the Webster school: "I think the Anti-Cigaret league will do a lot of good. All the boys say they will never smoke again and they all say they are glad Mr. Brown visited our school. The girls say that if they see a boy smoking they will take his badge away from him. Every boy and girl in our school has signed the pledge."

Joseph La Page Gets One In the Municipal Court.

Wanted Bail Lowered but the Court Doubled It Instead.

Police Capture Two Men Suspected of Bowery Robbery.

Joseph LaPage was given his preliminary examination in police court this morning.

He is charged with encouraging diminutive Mary Dodd in her strenuous opposition to leading a righteous life.

LaPage's attorney sought to have his bail reduced from $500 to $300, but the court after listening to a half hour of the most shocking evidence on the local police record, raised the bail to $1000 and bound the young man over to the May term of the grand jury.

Immediately after the examination Mary Dodd was taken into the blue room and sentenced to the state industrial school at Red Wing.

She is one of the girls prominent in a sensational case that agitated the city two years ago.

Her testimony is such that it may lead to the closing of a certain place on Superior street.

Although they had very little to work on, the police today arrested two men suspected of breaking down a door in the North Star lodging house and robbing John Carlson.

The victim of this robbery immediately identified the two men arrested as the thieves that robbed him so openly.

The robbery occurred on Thursday night, Carlson had considerable money, but he lost most of it in Peterson's saloon for safe keeping. He took a room in the North Star hotel.

Shortly afterward three men entered in the door and assaulted him and stole $10 from a purse under his pillow. The thieves escaped without being disturbed.

The police concluded that thieves could not make that amount of noise in perpetrating a robbery and escape unmolested without having some sort of protection from the lodging house keeper. This theory was strengthened by the fact that Carlson said one of the thieves had a marked eye.

The officers were then notified to arrest Thomas McCoy, uncle of the proprietor of the North Star and John McCoy, a brother, who had been in the eye.

Carlson says that he is positive that the McCoy's were two of the three men implicated in the robbery.

Samuel Matthews, applicant for the position of military commander of a fort in the new republic of Cuba, is making funny cracks about the rocks in the county jail stockade.

He was convicted yesterday of interfering with the officers of the culture and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or go to jail for thirty days. He was fined $100.

A Simple Internal Remedy Makes Remarkable Cures of Catarrh.

People who have used sprays, inhalers, salves and washes for catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs, and who have found how useless and inconvenient they are, will be greatly interested in the results following the use of a pleasant, internal remedy in tablet form, druggists everywhere admit that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which they sell at 50 cents for full size treatment is the safest, most effective and popular of all catarrh remedies.

Nearly all cheap cough mixtures and throat lozenges contain opiates, and these opiates cause a temporary relief, especially with small children by destroying nerve sensation; the irritation in throat, which causes coughing is temporarily removed, not by removing the cause, but by deadening the nerves of feeling the irritation is not felt although it is still there and will promptly return.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is the best remedy to remove catarrhal secretion, whether in the nose, throat or stomach because they are composed of wholesome antiseptic blood purifiers, Red gum, from Eucalyptus tree, etc., when you use these tablets you know what you are putting into your system and not taking chances with cocaine, opiates or other poisons found in so many catarrh cures and cough medicines.

Ramsell in commenting on catarrh cures says: "I can heartily recommend Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because they contain no cocaine nor other dangerous drug found in so many cases of long standing catarrh of the head and throat completely cured by the direct use of these tablets for several weeks. One case in particular, which I could not reach with an inhaler or spray, and where the catarrh caused daily headaches and a noticeable loss of brain power, was cured by this harmless but effective remedy."

Dr. Walnwright says: "I never hesitate to prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for catarrhal conditions and catarrhal deafness because I know them to be perfectly safe for child or adult and have seen many remarkable cures resulting from their use. They are advertised and sold in drug stores, but no one who has a good physical should use them because we can should use upon the means of cure wherever found."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially valuable for the reason that they are pleasant to the taste and may be used by the most delicate and cold and croup at the very beginning.

Mamie Atkins were convicted with Matthews and each compelled to pay a fine of $25.

Eighteen men were arrested last night for being indecorously "intoxicated." When arraigned in court this morning they presented a ludicrous sight.

A Democrat entered the court room, and seeing the mob of drunks, remarked: "Gee! But that Republican banquet last night must have been fierce."

Whereupon William Wilson, one of the prisoners, threw a "whisky fit" and created great excitement.

One of the court officers grabbed up a glass of water to dash in his face, and at the sight of the strange looking fluid several other rounders nearly fainted.

Carrie Halverson, wearing a tremendous desperate looking basket hat, went merrily when sent to Pine station till Sept. 1. Mudge Wood forfeited $15 and presumably went. All subterfuges do under those circumstances.

For forging a $5 check and endeavoring to pass it on a flowery saloon man Robert W. Johnson and Fred Brooks must answer to the grand jury.

IRON RIVER.

Red Hot Election Contest at the Wisconsin Town.

Judge N. W. Barker, of Iron River, Wis., the lively lumbering town midway between Duluth and Ashland, is in the city today.

"Iron River is booming," said Judge Barker. General business is exceptionally good, and our town is improving at a great rate. Just now our interest is centered in the approaching township election. There is considerable strife between the lumbering interests and the citizens of smaller property interests.

Differences of sentiment over taxation is the cause of the contest. The ticket that is supposed to represent the view of the Alexander Edgar Lumber company is as follows: For chairman, John Brady; for supervisors, Fred Moore, clerk, Frank Moore; assessor, O. O. Peterson; for judges, J. H. Hoover; constables, Tom Devine, James Sullivan and B. Peterson.

The citizens' ticket is as follows: Chairman, E. Sauve; supervisors, A. Johnson and C. Broke; assessor, Fred Moore; clerk, A. E. Daniels; assessor, Joe Peterson; constables, Tom Devine, James Sullivan and Gus Orr; justices, J. H. Hoover and M. Hopkins.

There has been so much feeling over the controversy about that struggle for the township election that the feeling is aroused much bitterness, and much excitement will prevail until the election day. Judge Barker is here to have tickets printed for the election.

CHAMP CLARK COMING.

Missouri Congressman to Lecture Here Wednesday.

Champ Clark, one of the quaintest wits the lower house of congress has ever boasted, will speak at the First Methodist church next Wednesday evening.

As the next number of the Star lecture course, this Missouri statesman is the most quoted of the famous statesmen of congress. His aphorisms are the pearls of the famous statesmen of congress. Unlike most speakers whose first apparent charm is their unique style of speaking, Mr. Clark's quaint sentences are crowded with meat. He puts old truths in new words, and his ideas are that they are driven home with a strong, ringing in the old way. But, what is worthy as an orator along established lines of thought, he expresses his ideas in such characteristically and intellectual manner that the audience is as well as the matter attracts and holds his listeners.

OPENING OF NAVIGATION.

White Line Boats Will Go Out Monday.

Navigation will be formally opened on Monday and the White Line steamers will inaugurate the season of 1902.

The Bon Ami will leave for the South Shore and go as far as Port Wing and the Mabel Bradshaw will leave for Grand Marais and other north shore points. Both steamers have been thoroughly overhauled and refitted and are prepared for a long season's work.

The refitting of the Duluth-Superior ferry boats is being rushed as fast as possible. Capt. Maio admits that the opening of navigation has been rather sudden for him, but he hopes to have some of his boats ready in a day or two.

EASTER CEREMONIES.

Knights Templar and Scottish Rite Services.

Tomorrow being Easter Sunday two ceremonies will be performed by the various Masonic bodies.

At 2 p. m. the Knights Templar will march in full regalia to the Pilgrim Congregational church, where a special service will be held. Rev. Dr. Forbes, officiating prelate, will preach the sermon.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the Sir Knights will return to the Masonic Temple and will take part in the Scottish Rite ceremony of re-lighting the symbolical tapers that were extinguished on Maundy Thursday.

This interesting proceeding is not a part of the secret ritual and any one may invite a friend to witness it.

Setting of Court Cases.

A setting of court cases has been made in district court for next week, beginning Tuesday. Monday Judge Ensign and Cant will be tied up in the mayoralty contest, while Judge Diboll will begin the criminal cases. Tuesday Judge Cant will start a term of court in Carlton county, leaving Judge Ensign to begin the criminal cases. Tuesday alone. The call is as follows: Tuesday—6, 14, 22, 30, 35. Wednesday—42, 43, 45, 46, 54.

NEW YORK VAPORINGS

Dished Up For the Benefit of the English Aristocracy.

Letters In William Waldorf Astor's Pall Mall Gazette.

Say Whitelaw Reid May Not Attend the Coronation.

New York, March 29.—William Waldorf Astor's Pall Mall Gazette publishes a letter from its New York correspondent, which in its way is quite entertaining, says the London correspondent of the Herald. The correspondent says: "At the present moment it is by no means a foregone conclusion that Whitelaw Reid will be accredited as special ambassador from this country. The outcry against his official representation of the country is so great that I would not be surprised to find the president eventually backing down on this point."

"The truth is, Mr. Roosevelt is expecting re-election and the voters have to be considered. In this view the president even cannot always obey the innate promptings of a gentleman in extending the courtesy of the post to a man who is not a gentleman. It is to be neither praised nor blamed, but to be understood. Editors here suggest, and they ought to know, there is no need of a gentleman in this country, and they are certainly not interested to the public as a lot of embroiled, dancing, aimless fops, who have no necessary place in a land where every one is expected to work for his living. That is more or less true, for politics is closed to a man who does not speak in the Irish shump; and it is not easy to see why people of independent means remain here."

"America is intensely interesting, and as an industrial and inventive center its advancement is doubtless a great asset in the general improvement of the world."

"It is a great country for a man who has to make a living. I would be the last to say a word against it in any way, though why traveling people who are independent means should remain more than a week in the country is not to be comprehended."

GREAT TRIP.

Capt. Shea Describes His Trip to Old Country.

Capt. John Shea has returned to Duluth after an extended trip abroad, covering four months in Europe. He sailed in the Dominion liner Commonwealth, one of the new steamers of that line. He says the steamer is one of the finest he has ever been on, and is very steady. When nearing the Azores a terrible hurricane came up, the wind blowing in a full gale, but the steamer held in an excellent manner and was very steady notwithstanding the terrible high seas.

Reaching Gibraltar the passengers were given the day to visit the city and, if they so desired, to make a tour of the galleries of the famous fortress.

Genoa, Italy, was the next stopping place, and here the passengers disembarked for a tour of the city of Columbus' birth. The chief object of interest to tourists in this city is the wonderful cemetery, known as Campo Santo. Some of the very finest work of the sculptor is to be seen in this cemetery, every piece of work being done in white marble. It is a sight that once seen is never forgotten.

After spending a few days in Genoa he sailed for Naples, and he was very much impressed with the city and its beautiful bay. He also made the ascent of Mount Vesuvius, and says it is a grand sight, and a high up of the mouth of the crater.

While in Naples he met F. L. Gilbert and wife, of Duluth, who are in the streets. They are also making the Mediterranean trip.

Pompeii, the buried city of centuries gone by, was the most wonderful sight he ever saw. He walked through the ancient streets and visited many of the temples, residences and buildings of that city that have been uncovered, and says they are most interesting. An army of workmen are busy all the time excavating and making new discoveries. They expect to reach the harbor of the city very soon, and if they do they think most important discoveries of great interest to the whole world will be made. Pompeii is worth seeing.

Leaving Italy, he sailed for Egypt, and arrived at Alexandria. From there he went to Cairo, the city of mosques and minarets. It is a city of 600,000 people, and while there he saw the most interesting and wonderful sight. The city of Cairo, with its many bazars, is a quaint city in many respects, and still an interesting one to the tourist, who is always looking for strange sights. The captain spent two weeks here, and returned again to Egypt, from which he sailed for New York in the Hohenzollern.

It was a most enjoyable trip throughout and the captain is well pleased with it and says it is well worth making, and will never be forgotten by anyone who has the good fortune to do so.

A NOTED MISSIONARY.

Dr. Oldham Who Is Visiting Duluth Now.

Rev. William F. Oldham, D.D., who is to speak in the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning, has had an interesting history. He was born in Bangalore, India, of English parents, receiving what education was possible

A PIONEER PASTOR

Tells Of a Time That Tried His Nerves.

The Rev. Henry J. Huston, of the Rock River Conference, Has Carried Rifle as Well as the Bible.

For twenty-two years the Rev. Henry J. Huston has worked in the Rock River conference of the Methodist church. Now a man of peace his life story is a thrilling one. At least from the time he entered the Union army as a member of Company F, Fifteenth Illinois Volunteers, Colorado in the early seventies was not the well-governed commonwealth that it is today, but it is his military life that this pioneer clergyman recalls most vividly.

He consented to tell a reporter something about himself recently, and in the course of the interview, said: "When I entered the army in Co. F, Fifteenth Illinois regiment, I was in perfect health, but the exposure and hardships endured in the service brought on a chronic diarrhoea. This caused great weakness, but in addition to this I had neuralgia of the lower jaw, and the suffering produced extreme nervousness."

"After the neuralgia had left me, my nerves were still suffering from the shock. I had severe pains in my heart, so acute that I could not rest at night. I was also subject to fainting spells and sometimes would remain unconscious for more than an hour. My strength and nerve power were at a low ebb, my blood like water, my complexion white and waxen looking, my ears colorless and almost transparent, and, whenever I undertook the least exertion, I became short of breath."

"My wife and her sister had both been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally I determined to try this medicine myself. I cannot say just how long I discovered I was being helped, but it was not long. I soon found the pain in my heart had left me, and I could sleep at night. I have had no more fainting spells, and my color is better. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have done wonders for me and I take pleasure in recommending them. They helped me when other remedies failed."

"The Rev. Mr. Huston is now pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Elizabeth, Elbert County, Colorado. His endorsement as given above means that he has given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a thorough test and found them worthy of recommendation."

"Not only have many cases similar to his been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but equally wonderful results have been accomplished by them in a large number of diseases of the blood, such as: Rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, nervousness, two fruitful causes of almost every ill to which flesh is heir. They are a positive success in such cases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuritis, rheumatism, heart disease, the effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion and all forms of weakness of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at fifty cents or six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents, and may be had of all druggists. Write for a free copy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Be sure to get the genuine; substitutes never cured anybody."

In the schools of his native town. He found employment as a stenographer in the English government in India. It was while holding this position that he met the late Mrs. J. P. Sundstrom in Poona, India, was converted and started for America to prepare himself for missionary work.

He returned to America and the university, returned to India and was sent to Singapore to do a four-year mission, reads like a romance. Sickeningly compelling his return to America, he was sent to the United States to be a pastor in the country, and for some time professor in Ohio Wesleyan university. He returned to the United States Sunday at 10:30 and made an address at the Sunday school rally at 2:30.

LUMBER ON THE COAST.

J. W. Comstock Discusses the Situation There.

John W. Comstock, who went out to the North Pacific coast some weeks ago, has returned home. Mr. Comstock went out in company with a number of Ashland lumbermen, with whom he is interested in the lumber trade. He says that the activity in trade there is as it is here. In spite of the large quantities of lumber still on the stump, the demand for lumber is so great that it is difficult to get enough of manufactured stock to meet their demands. The demand for lumber is so great that it is difficult to get enough of manufactured stock to meet their demands. The demand for lumber is so great that it is difficult to get enough of manufactured stock to meet their demands.

"I was told that as a general thing the price of lumber had advanced on the coast $5 a thousand during the last two years. How the prices compare there with our market would be a difficult thing for me to say. The timber is so different from ours, and an not well enough posted on the coast market to make a comparison under such difficult conditions. However, it is clear to see that the activity in trade there is due to the same legitimate conditions that exist here and further East. I don't think business is overdone or ahead of the situation."

"Seattle seemed to me to be the best town that I visited. Business is good there, and I believe it is going to continue."

Train Abandoned.

The Northern Pacific westbound train No. 11, leaving the Union depot at 8:40 a. m., was cancelled this morning and is intended for the coast. The train was abandoned because of the Great Northern road. Bad washouts along the line, and the fact that the Mississippi valley, caused this, but the officials hope that traffic will be resumed during the day.

WIRELESS

Telegraph Companies' Feud Has Become International Controversy.

New York, March 29.—The feud between the Marconi and Slaby-Arco wireless telegraph companies has become the subject of international diplomatic controversy according to the Berlin correspondent of the Herald. The German government has, it is stated, sent an official protest to the British government, against the methods of the Marconi company and the boycott instituted against SHIPS EQUIPPED WITH THE SLABY-ARCO APPARATUS.

The refusal of the Marconi operators to receive or transmit messages from the Slaby-Arco transmitters and especially the manner in which the great line of the Deutschland with Prince Henry on board was ignored at the Narvik, Iceland and Copenhagen, has caused the navy department to frame a bill which will be presented to parliament immediately after Easter. The purpose of which is to give the government authority to make uniform rates. The emperor is taking a hand in the fight. There is no intention here of infringing on the rights of the Marconi company, but it is asserted that the various departments must take control of wireless telegraph traffic and be able to grant conditional licenses to the Slaby-Arco companies to exchange each others' messages without discrimination.

ARBITRATION

Court In Sidney Expected to Prove Highly Effective.

Sidney, N. S. W., March 28.—The compulsory industrial arbitration court, whose membership includes representatives of employers and employees, which was recently established here, will open in April. Speaking today at a picnic which the government tendered to the delegates of the industrial unions, Justice Cohen, a member of the arbitration court, expressed the opinion that the courts establishment would prove to be a message of peace to the industrial world. Labor leaders spoke in a similar strain. The attorney general, Bernard Ringrose, urged the employers not to put the arbitration act to a full strain immediately, but to be content for the court to deal with the most important cases, such as the disputes of the hours of labor and child labor.

THE WHIRL OF POLITICS

St. Louis county was the storm center of the inept campaign of 1902 the latter part of the week, owing to the annual banquet of the Garfield Republican club, which took place at the Spaulding last night. The Garfield banquet has come to be looked upon as quite a political event in the state, and this was no exception, though the exigencies of the hour in congress kept Senator Clapp and Congressman Morris away.

Governor Van Sant was here, however, and so was J. Adam Bede, both of whom are very lively candidates, and one for the place he now holds and the other for a place that he has held for other men to have and to hold. The Garfield Republican club is the main Republican organization of the city, and it is strongly inclined toward the element of the Republican party of this county that has taken no part in the fevered antagonism to Governor Van Sant that has brought Duluth forward somewhat conspicuously as a hotbed of anti-Van Sant sentiment. A good deal of noise has been made by the people that are opposed to Van Sant, so much that it is small wonder that Duluth has acquired that reputation abroad through the state. As a matter of fact, the Duluth opposition to the governor dates back of the merger, back of the extra session, back of the tax code, back of the tax commission, back of everything that has been brought up by his opponents and argued noisily. It is not necessary now to go back and rehearse the history that created this opposition, though it may come in handy later.

From appearances elsewhere in the state, the Duluth band of insurgents may find itself wandering all alone pretty soon, with the rest of the band back on the reservation. Van Sant stuck is looking up. Newspapers were saying sly things about the governor not very long ago are very tame, and politicians that had been showing fight have taken cognizance of the change and have pulled in their horns. There is a prospect that if the Duluth braves do not do likewise they will find themselves disastrously overwhelmed by superior forces and brought into camp.

Odin Halden's candidacy for state auditor is looking up every day. Favorable newspaper comment is becoming frequent, and evidence of earnest support in important Republican strongholds in the state are growing. The Minneapolis Tribune, in Tuesday's issue, had this to say:

"Odin Halden, of Duluth, now an open and avowed candidate for state auditor, was in the city yesterday visiting relatives. Mr. Halden reports an encouraging outlook for his position, although he appreciates some of the objections which are raised to a candidate on the state ticket from his own home state. He deprecates the prejudice which is exhibited in some localities against Duluth and its political position. He says it is a mistake to accuse the people of that locality of being tied up to the steel trust. He says they are the interests of the whole state at heart as sincerely as residents in other localities. He says that the people of Duluth are securing full and fair taxation of the iron mines and other properties peculiar to that locality. He says that on Mr. Iverson at the state house during the day, and on comparing notes neither was the state of mind of the representative Johnson's possible candidacy for the auditorship."

And J. C. Vanderveer, of St. Peter, Journal, makes these remarks on the same subject: "Most of the political developments of the past two or three weeks point to favorable consideration of the name of Odin Halden, of Duluth, as the Republican candidate for state auditor. Mr. Halden's personal equipment fully meets all the requirements of the position, and political expediency seems to do the rest for him. The great empire in the center which he holds in his hands is a place that can not be expected to furnish the Republican vote it does without occasionally furnishing a candidate."

The Grand Rapids Magnet this week accuses the "Whitney gang" of having Mayor Hugo up its sleeve for Congressman Morris' place, and it also talks largely about the invincibility of an Itasca county candidate, as follows: "Some of the politicians of this congressional district are of the opinion that Page Morris will not be a candidate for re-election this year, and that the politicians of Duluth are laying plans to put Mayor Hugo of that city into his shoes. The Whitney gang, of course, is at the head of the scheme. But they should not get so soon. Itasca county is doing so, Duluth would have to cast a much larger Republican vote than they have in the past to defeat him."

It has been reported that George H. Spear, formerly a Twin City newspaper man but now of Grand Rapids, would be a candidate for the legislature. The Grand Rapids Magnet is authority for the statement that this report is untrue, and that at the end of the line where which Mr. Spear is being steadily fastidiously the office of county attorney of Itasca county.

After the defeat of the tax code many of the country members of the house that had voted against it were threatened with retaliation from their constituents when they got back home. For the result has been the other way. For instance, Representatives Harden and Nolan, of Mower county, who voted for the bill, come in for a broadside from the Austin Herald for their vote. They are accused of playing poor ball by opposing the interests of the farmers, which the Austin paper thinks would have been greatly damaged by a law that would have raised the assessments on farming lands from four to six times. This was the kind of reasoning that prevailed in the defeat of the tax code, yet when it was brought up the "friends of the bill" sneered at it and alleged that it came from the corporations.

The prohibition convention was held this week in Minneapolis, and a state ticket nominated, but it does not seem probable that any great stir in political circles, even though the successful candidates for nomination threaten to put in a hard season of work.

The county campaign has shown little sign of life as yet, and it is likely to warm up for some little time yet, though candidates may be heard of from time to time. There is a long list of offices to be tried for this year, more than ever before. The increase is due to the fact that the offices of clerk of the district court, state senator and court commissioner, which come up only every four years, are to be tried this year; that there are two judges of the district court to be elected; and that there is a long list of county commissioners than there were last four. Here is the list, with present incumbents, so that prospective candidates may cast their eyes down its length and pick out the office for which they will make a dash: Legislature—Forty-ninth district: E. B. Hawkins, senator; George J. Mallory and E. F. Alford, representatives. Legislature—Fiftieth district: F. B. Daugherty, senator; T. M. Pugh and Andrew Miller, representatives. Legislature—Fifty-first district: C. O. Baldwin, senator; George R. Laybourn and T. A. Perry, representatives. Judges of the district court, Hon. J. D. Ensign and Hon. W. A. Cant. of the corporations and leaves municipal operation as the final remedy. The doctrine of vested rights carried to its logical conclusion is subversive of human liberty. Courts recognizing the innate love of freedom of the Anglo-Saxons, have tempered the doctrine of vested rights or exclusive contractual privileges with the doctrine of "police powers." When special privileges and the corporations operating them too much endanger municipal development, threaten freedom of action and stifle growth, the courts doubtless will further extend the police powers, even at the expense of vested rights.

Municipal grants should be more by way of license and less by way of contract. This would enable the city to actually control the corporations until such time as municipal operation and control have never been questioned, particularly in the disposal of sewerage, probably because private enterprise as yet has found no means to profitably enter this field of municipal activity. Those municipalities that permitted private companies to secure control of their water supply have generally regretted the grant and have found, to their sorrow, that municipal control and ownership must be secured at any price.

To a lesser degree all municipalities have felt the demand for the ownership of lighting plants in their community.

In large cities probably the most pressing problem is that of transportation—rapid and excellent services absolutely necessary to provide for the marvelous growth of the cities of our country.

Perhaps the harvest is not yet ripe for municipal ownership. Probably a change from exclusive contractual grants to licenses under police powers in the terms of the ordinance will suffice for our present street railway needs, alike fair to the corporations and the people. Charter provisions should contemplate these tendencies and provide for their development. Let us not disregard the things near at hand. Let us not seek too much from state legislatures. Laws were ever costly and uncertain. Let us work out as far as possible our own salvation under home rule.

An Easter Message.

By Rev. F. W. Farrar, Dean of Westminster.

Easter is the queen of festivals. It is the commemoration of a supreme historic fact; the revelation of a supreme religious truth, the inspiration of a supreme spiritual consolation, the force of a supreme moral motive. Of Christ's resurrection the apostles, the early disciples, were witnesses. His death upon the cross had filled them with anguish and despair. But when the news on that first bright Easter morning spread from lip to lip, "The Lord hath risen indeed, and hath appeared unto Peter," then was their sorrow turned into a rapture of joy. The tumultuous notes of that great Easter chorale have rolled through all after ages their unspeakable gladness. That resurrection, that triumph over death, has changed all the destinies, has brightened all the life of mankind throughout the world during the nineteen centuries which since have passed.

Why? Because the supreme historic fact was also a supreme religious truth. It meant for us and for all mankind, that Christ was to be, not a mere vanished memory, but a perpetual presence. His work for man was not only a short human life, but he ever liveth to make intercession for us. He may be nearer to us, he may be more truly with us, than if, like St. John, we could lean our heads upon his breast. That is the first message of Easter. "It is Christ that died—yea, rather, that is risen again."

Christ is risen! Christ is risen! He hath left his rocky prison. And the white-robed angels glimmer 'mid the ceremonies of his grave; He hath burst the iron fetters—irresistible to save.

And this supreme historic fact that Christ is risen, and this supreme religious truth that he ever liveth to make intercession for us, has not mourned for the loved and lost? Which of us has not stood weeping by the grave of father, or mother, or brother, or wife, or dear dead child? Well, the message of Easter is the message of infinitely blessed hope. The message is, Your beloved dead are not dead; they are not lost, but gone before. What Christ's resurrection reveals to us is that life may be the real death and death the true life. So that we may take comfort as we think of our dead friends, and say with the poet:

Peace, peace! they are not dead; they do sleep;
They have awakened from their dream of life.
'Tis we who, lost in stormy visions, keep
With phantoms an unprofitable strife.

They have outlived the shadow of our night;
Envy, and Calumny, and Hate, and Pain.
And that Unrest which men mislead and grieve,
Can touch them not, nor torture them again;
From the contagion of the world's slow stain
They are secure, and now can never mourn.

A heart grown cold, a head grown gray in vain.
First, then, we recall a supreme historic fact—Christ is risen. Secondly, we realize a supreme religious truth—we have a living intercessor. Thirdly, we feel a supreme spiritual consolation—our dead shall live. Fourthly, we receive a supreme moral motive: We shall live for evermore. Though we feel the darkness falling on our eyes, and the touch of death's icy finger, yet death shall be to us the birth-thrill of immortality. This is a message of unbounded hope. We picture death as coming to destroy; let us rather picture Christ as coming to save. We think of death as ending; let us rather think of life as beginning, and that more abundantly. We think of losing all we possess; let us rather think of gaining infinitely more than we deserve or can ever desire. We think of sad partings—let us think of partings that end no more; and as the voice of death whispers to us, "You are departing from earth," let us hear the voice of Christ saying, "You are but coming home to me; and, lo! I fling open to you the gates of everlasting life."

Frenchmen Are Not Latins.

By M. Hughes Le Roux.

The people of France are not a Latinized people as some have declared. In traveling through Normandy, Brittany and various other provinces of France, I find no striking characteristics or customs which would indicate Latin origin, with the possible exception of Aveugle, where the women wear the same kind of bonnets as the Romans did. France is similar to America or any other nation in its origin. Just as in chemistry various elements are mixed and heated together in a crucible until a residue of a shining golden amalgamation is precipitated, so France and other nations are amalgamated from various foreign elements and peoples. Along with its similarities to America in origin there can be noticed a striking difference in the character of the two peoples. Americans have more strength of will, Frenchmen more sensibility and refinement.

The Embryological Proof of Evolution.

By Prof. T. H. Montgomery, University of Pennsylvania.

The zoological investigators towards the close of the eighteenth century were laying bare facts which indicated that species are evolved and not separate creations. The first writer who may be called with right the founder of the doctrine of descent by modification, today generally called evolution, was Lamarck in his famous "Philosophie Zoologique." His argument for the doctrine was that the continual changes to be observed in the surrounding of the environment of organisms are the factors which produce modification in the latter.

The greatest of comparative anatomists, Cuvier, contemporaneously was describing in detail the various groups of animals, but did not accept the view that species form other and separate creations. Not until after the year 1859, with the publication of Darwin's "Origin of the Species" did this theory come to be generally accepted by naturalists. There are three main lines of argument for evolution from the standpoint of animal structure, first that of comparative anatomy, which, from a comparison in detail of the structure of different organisms concludes that those organisms are closely related which agree in the essential points of structure, and assumes that close likeness of structure denotes similarity of descent. The second is that of paleontology, the examination of the successive fossil remains of organisms. Thirdly, that of the facts of embryological development. This embryological proof for evolution is as follows: The development of the individual (ontogeny) shows certain similarities to the development of the race (phylogeny). The process of evolution is seen through successive stages from the less complex and differentiated to the more complex and differentiated. The individual starts as a single cell; this divides into a large number of cells—the latter becomes arranged into tissues and these by degrees into organs, so that by degrees the whole complex adult structure is reached, and the development for evolution of the race, that is, the development of species, is by a gradual change from a species with a simpler and more generalized structure to one that is more highly organized. This similarity in the process of the development of the individual and of the race was first noticed by Weismann and Huxley. By the former and his followers, it was considered that the successive stages of the individual are repetitions of the stages of the race. Therefore, that all the ancestral stages are inherited and repeated in the life of the individual.

Van Baer and others, on the contrary, hold that the stages of the individual are parallels of the stages of the race and are not repetitions of them. The embryo of Van Baer is probably the correct one. The resemblance of the history of the race and of the individual has furnished many valuable working hypotheses for understanding genealogy of animal groups, and a study of the embryology of the individual when cautiously made gives an explanation for the genealogy of the race.

INTO A CULVERT.

Canadian Pacific Train Meets With an Accident.

Winnipeg, March 28.—The first section of the Canadian Pacific transcontinental train which was bound for Western points, dashed through a culvert which had been undermined by the floods at Elm creek, forty miles west of this city, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The train was loaded with 120 English and American emigrants. Although the dining car and sleeper were wrecked no one was injured seriously. Conductor Fahey was thrown from the platform of the second coach into the creek and narrowly escaped drowning. The passengers were badly shaken, and a number of the emigrants were last night. All trains from the East and South are delayed by floods.

GARFIELD BANQUET

Republican Club's Event a Brilliant Success. Governor Van Sant Gets Handsome Reception.

The Garfield Republican club held its third annual banquet at the Spaulding last night, and it was in some respects the most enthusiastic, successful and enjoyable of the three. Governor Van Sant was there, and the hearty reception that was given to him went a long way toward disposing of the assertion that St. Louis county is "the enemy's country" for the governor.

J. Adam Bede was there, too, and his ovation was only second to the governor's. Nearly 300 guests were present, and the dining room of the Spaulding was comfortably filled. The hall was handsomely decorated. Postions of green made a tasteful touch, and the room was draped with the national colors. Back of the table reserved for the speakers a large picture of Governor Van Sant appeared above pictures of James A. Garfield, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Governor Van Sant occupied a central seat, with W. B. Henderson, president of the Garfield Republican club, on one side, and Toastmaster F. W. Hugo on the other. Among the guests from out of town besides the governor were the following: S. T. Johnson, of Minneapolis, public examiner; M. D. Purdy, of Minneapolis; present, the governor was there to represent the capital and it was a source of regret that the Hon. Mr. Jacobson was not present.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DOUGLASS.

GOVERNOR VAN SANT SPEAKS. When the governor arose to reply to his toast the dining room rang with applause. The ovation was magnificent, and the governor plainly showed his surprise and pleasure. When at last the applause died away the governor said: "Duluth to be the guest of the Garfield Republican club, I am an enemy to the club, and I shall never cease to be grateful and appreciative.
